HEAD OF GREAT FIRM PASSES AWAY

JACOB KAUFMANN.

PROHIBITIONISTS SUPPORT THEIR OWN TICKET

They Refuse to Take Part in the Ohio Anti-Saloon League's Fight on Herrick.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM E. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—Through all this noise and confusion of the gubernatorial campaign, the Prohibition party of Ohio is standing firm for its own platform and its own candidates. It has no part in the fight made by the Anti-Saloon league on Herrick and the Republican ticket, and it is doing all in its power to hold the 15,000 or 20,000 loyal Prohibition votes of this state in line this fall. Speakers are stumping the state, literature is being circulated and the campaign is being carried forward with all the enthusiasm possible with the limited funds at the command of the party managers.

"We will probably lose some votes this fall," said Frank M. Mecartney, chairman of the Prohibition state committee, today. "Some of our people will doubtless be carried away by this attack upon Herrick and will vote for Pattison. Especially do I expect this among the preachers. They are the muddlest-headed men in politics. But the number of votes we lose will be small in the aggregate.

"The Anti-Saloon league tried to get the Prohibitionists to join in their Pattison campaign this fall, but we refused. Why should we be for Pattison? He is a Democrat and stands for nothing but Democracy. If he doesn't stand for that he has no business on the Democratic ticket. He has not said anything definite on the liquor question, except that he stands on his record. I wrote him a letter recently and asked him to explain his vote, while a member of the legislature in 1877, against a bill to abolish the peddling of whisky by itinerant saloons. He doesn't remember the incident. But it is on the records. He voted to permit boot-legging.

No Republican Annex.

"They call us the Republican annex this fall, but we are not for the Republican ticket any more than we are for the Democratic ticket. We represent a principle of government and we could not join in this Pattison movement without sacrificing that principle. There were about 400 delegates in our state convention and not more than 25 of them favored indorsing Pattison.

"The Anti-Saloon league is responsible for injecting these personalities into this campaign. It is unfortunate this has been done. They should understand the personality of a man is not the important fact. It is a question of principles. What could the Prohibitionists hope for from Pattison if he should be elected? Nothing, of course.

"From present indications I rather think Pattison will win, but I would not like to predict that result. I would not be at all surprised if Herrick should be elected and his majority should run up to 50,000 or 60,000. It is a hard situation to size up.

"Our candidate for governor is Aaron S. Watkins of Hardin county, professor of English language and literature in Ohio Northwestern university at Ada. He is making some speeches, but the president of the university is for Pattison and he will not give Prof. Hardin leave of absence very often because he doesn't want him to hurt Pattison's cause. But while the head of our ticket will be scratched some, I think we will make a good showing on the rest of it. Two years ago our candidate for governor polled 15,532 votes, and last year we had about 20,000."

More Democratic Woe.

The woes of the Democrats were made heavier today by the publication in the Cincinnati Enquirer of an editorial on the candidates for governor. That paper has been lukewarm in support of Pattison from the start, but today's editorial caps the climax. In condemning in no mincing language the socialistic-populistic platform adopted by the Democratic state convention, and says many old-time Democrats, if they vote the ticket this year, will have to hold their noses. It praises

JACOB KAUFMANN ANSWERS CALL OF REAPER

Great Merchant Passes Away in Philadelphia Hospital After Short Illness.

Jacob Kaufmann, founder of the firm of Kaufmann Brothers, died shortly after noon yesterday at the University hospital, Philadelphia, following an operation for appendicitis. News of his death was received in this city about 2 o'clock, and came as a shock to his many friends who, although apprised of the seriousness of his condition, had continued to hope that he would recover. Mr. Kaufmann was stricken with appendicitis while at his desk in the store about a week ago. He was at once hurried to Philadelphia, members of his family accompanying him. The operation was performed last Friday, Drs. Keen, Martin, Deaver and Musser, all eminent surgeons, participating.

Soon after the operation his friends were apprised that it had been successful, and the general impression prevailed that he would soon be restored to complete health. Within the last couple of days, however, he took a decided turn for the worse.

Mr. Kaufmann's business career in Pittsburgh has been a series of successes, although achieved only by persistent effort and rare business acumen. Starting in an unpretentious way on the South Side he and his brothers, his business associates, were in a short time enabled to cross the river into the heart of the business district of the city and eventually to establish the great mercantile house so familiar to all in the Pittsburgh district.

Made a Modest Beginning.

Mr. Kaufmann was born near Mannheim, Germany, 56 years ago, and came to the United States in 1870, settling in Pittsburgh. The little store on the South Side was started a year later. His fairness in his mercantile pursuits was characterized at that and all subsequent times, for the patrons who went to him in the early days followed the larger and more pretentious firm to all of its new locations. The brothers, Henry, Isaac and Morris, came over from Germany at intervals and associated themselves with the older brother, and each bears a conspicuous part in the successes which came to the firm.

The firm became a real factor in the

CASHIER CLARK LEAVES NOTE TELLING OF TROUBLE

Acquaints Family With the Cause of His Terrible Dilemma.

PLANS FOR SUICIDE

Receiver Cunningham, Expecting to Meet Clark, Finds Laudanum and Revolver.

ANDREWS SELLS OIL LANDS

Cashier Clark's Last Words to Wife

Dearest Wife and Children—In 10 hours or less I will be in the other world. You have been a dear, good wife to me. Andrews has worked my ruin. Dear wife, keep all the insurance for yourself and babies. How hard it is to leave you all. I have made a desperate effort to keep things going until I could get the road financed, but it has been too slow. The examiner is here and I am ruined. Do forgive me. It is not my fault; I have been shamefully robbed. The bank will get everything but the life insurance. Your husband.

LEE.

The foregoing statement, or confession, as it has been termed, was written by Cashier Clark of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny at 8:45 o'clock, October 17, the night before he shot himself. The paper was found in the pocket of his coat and has remained in possession of Clark's family ever since. Its surrender last night was brought about by the reflections that have been made within the past few days on the character of the dead cashier.

Another paper containing even less information that would throw light on the difficulties in which Clark found himself was discovered in the bank the day Clark shot himself, and is in possession of Receiver Cunningham. The latter has not been shown the above confession. It was shown to Judge F. F. Oldham several days ago, and his only comment was:

"That is a very pathetic note."

Staked All on Santa Fe Central.

Brief as is the writing, it confirms the report that Clark had staked everything on the successful operation or sale of the Santa Fe Central railway. The road referred to in the Clark statement is the New Mexican transportation venture of former State Senator W. H. Andrews, Arthur Kennedy, Francis J. Torrance and W. C. Hagan. Undoubtedly Clark was sanguine that he could finance the scheme and eventually extricate himself from the position into which he plunged himself. The coming of Bank Examiner Cunningham changed the entire situation and the conference Clark had with Cunningham on the afternoon of October 17 proved to the cashier that the game was up and that he had lost.

Another sensational feature of the tragedy became public yesterday. When Receiver Cunningham arrived at the Enterprise National bank the morning of October 18 he expected to meet Cashier Clark.

What the Receiver Found.

The latter had, the day before, admitted to Cunningham that through his financial operations the bank had been wrecked, and Clark was to assist Cunningham in commencing the investigation into the bank's condition. What Cunningham did find was a bottle of laudanum and a cocked revolver lying in the lavatory in the rear of the bank. Shortly after making this discovery he received word of Clark's suicide.

During the previous afternoon Clark left the bank shortly after Cunningham

SENATOR KNOX WILL AGAIN SPEAK FOR THE PRESIDENT

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Senator Philander C. Knox will make another administration policy speech at the annual dinner of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, to be held Friday night. This time his subject will be railway rate legislation, and his purpose in making the address will be to make a definite statement of the policy of the administration upon this important legislation, which will be pending before the next session of congress.

This is the second time President Roosevelt has called on Senator Knox to state his views before the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, and this address will be of even more importance than his former effort. On October 18, 1902, at the chamber of commerce banquet, Senator Knox, who was then attorney general, spoke on the "Commerce Clause of the Constitution and Trusts."

This was a semi-official utterance of the administration, and out of the policy set forth in this address grew the Northern Securities merger suit. The Northern Securities merger decision is recognized as the greatest achievement of the administration in the past, and even greater results are expected from the effort of the President to carry out his railway rate legislation ideas.

Senator Knox some time ago received an invitation from the chamber of commerce to deliver an address at the banquet. Owing to press of other business, he did not decide he would attend the dinner until today. The significant circumstance of his acceptance is that he did not advise the chamber of commerce of his determination until after he had seen the President today. He was detained for some time at the White House by the President to discuss the general character of the address.

It is understood the President made it plain to Senator Knox that he had not changed his views on the question since he wrote his last message. The President still insists there should be a federal body empowered to supervise railway rates and declare them illegal when they have been proven to be unreasonable and discriminating in their character.

Senator Knox's speech will not be a long one. In his telegram today to the secretary of the chamber of commerce he said he did not care to take up more than 15 minutes of the time allowed for speeches. On this account, it is thought that after writing his speech the senator will submit it to the President, which will make it virtually an official utterance. Senator Knox will leave for Pittsburgh tomorrow.

BODIES OF TWO THOUSAND DEAD IN ODESSA STREETS

THE HUNGER OF CENTURIES.

DIRECTOR BIGELOW KEEPS HIS PROMISE TO THE LAUNDRYMEN

Committee Calls at City Hall and Finds Water Tax Assessments Cut Down to Its Satisfaction—To Repay With Votes.

Director Bigelow is keeping his promise to reduce the delinquent water taxes of the steam laundrymen of the city, made to a committee of the Laundrymen's Exchange which called upon the director in his office on Tuesday. Director Bigelow told the laundrymen to call again yesterday and the matter would be fixed up for them.

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the committee, headed by President A. C. Canfield of the Laundrymen's Exchange, went to the city hall and took the elevator to the bureau of water assessments on the fifth floor, where they were handed to revised tax bills for 1904 and 1905, which they will present to the delinquent tax collector. The clerks in the water assessor's office were busy yesterday preparing the laundrymen's accounts. When approached by reporters yesterday the laundrymen's committee gruffly said: "We are not talking."

It is said the reduction in the water assessments will amount to a great deal more than the amount estimated by Director Bigelow, who said the loss to the city would amount to about $2,000 a year, or $4,000 for 1904 and 1905, the assessments for the two years being the same. Not only were the laundrymen assessed $50 for each washing machine, but they were assessed for their engines, hose, horses and wagons. Many of the laundrymen were assessed each as high as $1,200 or $1,500 and by the reduction granted by Director Bigelow, without authority of councils, their taxes are cut almost half of these amounts.

The water assessor, who refused to allow the exonerations unless instructed by Director Bigelow, assessed the laundrymen on the same basis as brewers, who have to pay for their engines, horses, hose, etc. If the brewers feel inclined to object they can also demand from Director Bigelow equal favors with the laundrymen. Director Bigelow's action is notice to all taxpayers, whether laundrymen, brewers or what not, that they may have their taxes reduced if they will throw their support to the Citizens ticket, which is in desperate need of votes next Tuesday.

In return for the favors shown them by Director Bigelow the laundrymen are expected to throw their own votes, the votes of their employes and as many of their customers as they can command, to the Citizens party ticket.

The practice of trading taxes for votes is common under the present city administration. The usual procedure in whining votes by the tax method is to observe the form of law and secure authority from councils. This could not be done in the case of the laundrymen because they demanded a settlement before the election and a meeting of councils could not be held before the election. So Director Bigelow resolved to proceed without authority of councils.

LOOSE TIRE CAUSES DEATH AND INJURIES

Philadelphian Is Killed, His Partner Crushed and Their Wives Hurt in Auto Wreck.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—James H. A. Brooks, a well-known manufacturer of this city, was killed; Michael G. Price, a business associate, was severely injured, and their wives were painfully hurt in an automobile accident today near Absecon, about 50 miles from here. The accident was caused by a tire slipping off one of the rear wheels of their automobile while they were riding at high speed.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. Price were members of the firm of Accoely, Price & Brooks, this city. They left here in the forenoon, accompanied by their wives. About three miles north of Absecon, on a good stretch of road, Mr. Brooks increased the speed of the automobile. Suddenly the machine was seen to turn over.

Farm hands who saw the accident went to the rescue. Mr. Brooks was buried under the wreckage and Mr. and Mrs. Price were held fast by a part of the broken machine. Mrs. Brooks was hurled to the side of the road, unconscious. Examination showed Mr. Brooks was dead. Mr. Price is internally hurt, but the two women are only slightly injured.

JUSTICES ARE GUESTS AT UNIQUE BANQUET

Prominent Local Attorneys Entertain Dignitaries of State Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Mitchell and the associate justices of the Pennsylvania supreme court were entertained by Pittsburgh attorneys at the Union club last night at one of the most unique banquets ever held in Pittsburgh. Covers were laid for 60, every guest made a speech, and there was neither guest table nor toastmaster. The speeches were made simultaneously, and only the very close neighbors of the speakers constituted the audiences.

Manager C. J. Scott of the Union club arranged the table in a shape that no geometrician could describe. It was a long, round board like a boarding house table, except that it had a bulge in the center, where the chief justice sat with D. T. Watson, T. C. Lazear, Judge John M. Kennedy, Judge S. A. McClung, Justice J. Hay Brown, J. H. White and James McCrea. The other justices, D. Newlin Fell, S. Leslie Mestrezat, William P. Potter, John P. Elkin and John Stewart, were scattered about the table so that there should be no signs of partiality of position. The attorneys who had the banquet in charge were D. T. Watson, William Scott, George B. Gordon, Joseph M. Sweringen and J. H. White.

The guests assembled at 7 o'clock and enjoyed a buffet luncheon, which was served at either end of the big dining room. An hour later the dinner was served and the speechmaking began immediately. Each guest was obliged to tell three stories or make three speeches and comply with the rule of not addressing more than eight people. There was no infraction of the rule.

PEOPLE REFUSE THE CZAR'S OFFER OF LIBERTY

Cossacks and Police Stir Up Trouble in the Provinces. Blood Flows Everywhere.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa describes that city as having experienced a dreadful day, the defenceless populace being at the mercy of a howling rabble of 50,000 men, "calling themselves loyalists and led by disguised policemen and their wretched dupes." The dispatch says:

The Jews made a stout resistance and their successful bravery entailed lamentable sacrifices. It is impossible to ascertain the casualties, but rumor puts the number of killed and wounded as high as 2,000, many by bombs, which the mobs used by wholesale. Not until late at night, when the murderous work had gone unchecked for hours, were the troops brought, cordons placed around the Jewish quarter and quiet somewhat restored.

The law-abiding citizens are incensed with Governor General Kaulbars, who is held to be solely responsible, since the civil governor was deposed yesterday. The only hope is that the worst has passed, as in all probability the mobs have nearly exhausted their stock of cartridges.

According to the Odessa correspondent of the Standard a general who was leading a loyalist procession in the Alexander Prospect was shot dead. Half a company of Cossacks, forming a personal guard for the town residence of their commander, attempted to barricade the street, but were scattered by a bomb, and the Cossack commander fled from the vengeance of the crowd.

Martial Law a Farce.

The absence of street lighting and an overcast sky added to the horrors. In the streets after nightfall were ever-recurring savage cries from near and far, mingled with the rattle of small arms. It was supposed martial law would be reimposed at noon but I have seen only a couple of military patrols. Martial law without troops to enforce its execution is a grim farce and heavy responsibility lies on the shoulders of Governor General Kaulbars. An official note was issued tonight that persons found on the streets without authority after 8 o'clock were liable to be shot at sight by the patrols.

It is reported that the casualties will reach one thousand, but it is impossible to verify this report. The last bomb thrown in Deribasse street killed 15 and wounded 40. Within 10 minutes eight others were killed nearly on the same spot.

The Jews are said to be the only persons who have resorted to the throwing of bombs, but the extremity of their peril must be remembered. Our only salvation is the complete military occupation of the city.

The Odessa correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says the day's casualties prob-

Czar Still Holds Strings

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—An imperial ukase dated November 1, reorganizing the council of ministers states that the president of the council will be chosen by the emperor and reports of chiefs of the various departments to the emperor will be communicated beforehand to the president of the council, who also will receive communications regarding all measures taken by the heads of departments. All legislative bills presented by the ministers to the douma for the state council must first be submitted to the council of ministers.

ably will reach some hundreds. He adds it is reported the soldiers refused to fire on the people when ordered and fired on the Cossacks, who came to quell the disturbance, killing or wounding many of them.

Optimist Sees Light.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph takes a more hopeful view of the situation than that taken by any of the other correspondents. He admits that determined efforts have been made to keep up the popular excitement, but thinks that the peaceful elements are awakening to a sense of their duty to their families and to the country, and that the bulk of the population is beginning to realize the potentialities of the enormous boons that have been granted. He expresses the opinion that the outbreaks and disorders in the provinces arise from the resentment of men who are eager to return to work and who attack the strikers who are trying to persuade them to continue the strike. This correspondent adds that no change is contemplated in the Russian foreign ministry or in the foreign policy of the government which is actuated by a desire for friendly relations with all powers and for a formal alliance with none but France.

Special dispatches to this morning's newspapers represent the condition of affairs in Russia as being extremely grave especially in the provinces. St. Petersburg, the dispatches say, remains comparatively quiet.

According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail the revolutionaries demand the establishment of a republic and, as the result of this demand, the strong arm of Gen. Trepoff has again been involved. Thus brute force and popular sedition are again facing each other. Even the appointment of Grand Duke Michael as military dictator, with Gen. Trepoff as his right hand man, is discussed in official circles. Late last night the revolutionary leaders advised the populace to refrain at present from precipitating a conflict.

Mob Rule in Kieff.

The Daily Mail correspondent at Kieff, in a dispatch dated November 1, says: "The governor general has resigned because he was not permitted to take strong measures to prevent riots. Indescribable scenes occurred last night, when the mob invaded the town hall and tore down the portrait of the emperor.

"The troops fired 10 volleys into the mob, killing 40 persons. Three hundred of the rioters were arrested. During the conflict the troopers were dismounted, thrown to the ground and many of them shot.

"It was a lawyer named Rattner who cut the emperor's portrait from its frame, hacked out the face, put his head through the opening and harangued the mob from the balcony of the town hall. Today a band of workmen invaded Rattner's house and tore him to pieces.

"Jew baiting started at midnight. Strong patrols passed frequently, but they looked smilingly on and gave no help. Some hours later Cossacks arrived here but they did nothing to protect the property of the shopkeepers. I saw some police and Cossacks pocketing part of the plunder. Some of the soldiers were arrested for stealing. People were seen everywhere carrying bundles of looted silks and velvets without hindrance. Later on vigilance committees were formed, the members of which stopped suspected persons and made them disgorge their plunder.

"At 6 o'clock tonight, notwithstanding a deluge of rain, the looting was resumed. The Jews fired from the balconies of their houses on the troops and on the processions of loyalists, the soldiers returning the fire. The residences and offices of many wealthy Jews were wrecked. The Jews now threaten to massacre the Christians tomorrow."

WARSAW, Nov. 1.—(Midnight.)—At the demand of a mob the governor released several hundred political prisoners, but refused to surrender a number who had been arrested by order of the council of state. The mob attacked the prison, battering down the doors. Troops and artillery were summoned and 40 of the mob killed and many wounded.

CHORUS GIRLS GROW EXCITED

Rumor Concerning Ethel Durrell Creates Consternation Among Old Associates.

NATHAN IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

"Has Miss Durrell been here tonight?" This was the question that Stage Manager Walter Brown propounded to Detective Philip Demmel in the Central police station at midnight. It was a startling development in the Boston suit case mystery to Detective Demmel, and he stood up and took notice with an alacrity that surprised everybody present. The veteran detective had heard that Morris Nathan's attorney had declared his belief that the missing girl was still alive, but to be asked if he had seen her lifted him clear into the sky.

"I wouldn't know the young lady if I should see her," replied Detective Demmel. "I'm afraid you're mistaken."

Brown went out very much disappointed. At the same time two score of chorus girls in the Nixon theater were breathless to meet their former associate, Ethel Durrell. When the final curtain was rung down they dressed quickly and made a rush to the "back door man's" office. Electrician John Barnhart, who manipulates the lights at the theater during the afternoon, had misconstrued the words of a newspaper bulletin board and thus the news got abroad in the company that Ethel Durrell was alive and in Pittsburgh. Detective Demmel told the actors that in his opinion she was dead. This ended the romance.

Inspector James E. McCarr of the Boston detectives, finished his inquisition yesterday and will return to Boston this morning. Miss Rita Marie, Miss Eleanor Barron and other members of the company were examined by him yesterday. When he had concluded his work he telegraphed the Boston authorities to withdraw the murder charge against young Nathan, and instead to enter one of accessory in criminal malpractice.

"The friends of Nathan in the 'Shepherd King' company have probably made an effort to shield their former associate," said Inspector McCarr last night, "but as a result of the examination I found that their stories and those of the accused man are strongly contradictory and additional incriminating evidence has been obtained against him."

Nathan arrived in Boston at 4:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Several police officials met the train at Providence and at Back Bay station his brother, Mark Nathan, boarded the train. A big crowd was at the station when the prisoner arrived, but made no demonstration beyond a curiosity to see him. The young man collapsed immediately after being locked up. Later his condition became so serious that he was removed to the City hospital. Two inspectors will remain at the hospital until he gains sufficient strength to leave the institution.

CLARK LEAVES A NOTE

arrived. He was not gone long and the presumption is he went on the errand that was to accomplish his death. At Clark's suggestion the conference was brought to a close shortly before 6 o'clock in the evening and was to have been continued the following morning. The finding of the poison and the revolver led to the belief that Clark intended returning to the bank that night, after Cunningham left, and then and there end his life. He spent nearly all that night at his home walking the floor, and in the morning he sent a bullet into his brain.

Andrews Sells Oil Land.

Andrews yesterday disposed of oil lands in Venango county with the consent of Receiver Cunningham. On Tuesday the receiver wired J. H. Osmer & Sons, attorneys, to secure a foreign attachment on all Andrews' real and personal property in Venango county. Mr. Andrews and his attorney, Eugene Mackey, went to Franklin yesterday to sell the property. When the court house opened Mr. Andrews learned an attachment had been issued on his property, including his oil production. The prospective purchaser, Dr. S. N. Burchfield of Titusville, was in the city. The parties agreed upon $20,000 as the price for the land, and Receiver Cunningham, through his attorney, consented to the sale. This amount, less $2,500, will be turned over to Receiver Cunningham.

At Meadville yesterday Receiver Cunningham caused to be served a writ of foreign attachment against Andrews' property in Crawford county. The real estate is in Steuben, Rome and Oil Creek townships and is valuable land. Bail in $50,000 is required to dissolve the attachment.

Not In Enterprise Bank.

John Massics yesterday filed a bill in equity against Nicholas Stoffen and the Bank of Secured Savings of Allegheny, asking that the bank be restrained from paying to Stoffen $1,500 on deposit there and to restrain Stoffen from withdrawing the money. The plaintiff alleges he boarded with Stoffen and gave the latter his earnings to save for him. This money, he says, was placed to Stoffen's account in the Bank of Secured Savings. Stoffen, it is alleged, told Massics his money had been deposited in the Enterprise National bank.

Judge Kennedy yesterday granted the injunction against Lenert S. Cook and the Guarantee Title and Trust Company restraining them from disposing of or encumbering the 15-share certificate of Duquesne National bank stock pledged with the Enterprise bank by D. L. Patterson, and the plaintiff was instructed to give the trust company a bond for $2,000 to insure against depreciation of the stock before the case is finally decided.

BRIDGE OF FLAME CROSSES CHASM ON THE SUN'S SURFACE

Fig 1—Great Sun Spot Sketched As It Appeared on the Eastern Limb of the Sun October 26.

Editor Gazette—The great solar storm which has been raging on the sun's surface and has been visible to the naked eye for more than ten days, is now nearing the western limb of our luminary. Observations made at the Allegheny observatory showed a most beautiful filamentary structure of the penumbra, but strange to say, no great change was noted in the dark umbra of the spot, although on Monday, through a break in the clouds, a bridge of flame was seen to cross entirely over the dark chasm. Observations made today, Wednesday, indicate a considerable shifting of the western end of the dark umbra, and a peculiar whorl in the umbra has made its appearance to the south of the western end of the spot. The penumbral fringe seems to have extended several thousand miles farther north and south, so that the area covered by this solar disturbance is really greater than when it was first observed. It will likely disappear late on Friday. Two quite large spots may be seen to the east of the great spot, which in themselves are quite interesting to the student of solar phenomena. The great spot of a cyclonic character, as shown in your issue of October 17, is about due to reappear on the eastern limb of the sun. Such, however, was the activity in that disturbance and so great were the changes during its passage across the solar disc that it may have dissipated the greater part of its energy and come to us again with few of the characteristics of its last appearance. The spot just passing off the sun's limb is more of the nature of a quiescent one, as Langley calls such spots. If perchance anything can be quiescent on the surface of our great luminary, the temperature being so much higher than any temperature ever produced upon earth that Langley found it impossible to measure it, having been guessed at all the way from 6,000 to 30,000 degree Fahrenheit. The sketches shown in figures 1 and 2 were drawn by the aid of an inverting telescope, so that cardinal points are all reversed.

JACOB KAUFMANN DEAD

business life of Pittsburgh when the corner at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street was purchased. Previous to that time the firm had been doing business on Smithfield street a short distance south and across the street from the new home of the Kaufmanns. Additions have been made to the new store building until it now occupies almost the entire block bounded by Fifth avenue, Smithfield street, Diamond and Cherry alleys.

Mr. Kaufmann was married many years ago to Miss Katz of Braddock, who, with five sons, Alfred, Raymond, Chester, Edwin and Karl, survives him. In addition to the three remaining brothers in the firm he is also survived by another brother, Nathan, who is still living in Germany.

Mr. Kaufmann was a member of Reformed congregation, Rodeph Shalom. Also he was connected with the Heptasophs, Royal Arcanum and Bnai-Brith, and was a director of the Enterprise Coal Company. The store closed soon after the news of Mr. Kaufmann's death was received, and will not reopen until Saturday morning.

The death of Mr. Kaufmann removes one of the most aggressive realty investors in Pittsburgh. For ten years he had been an active figure in the list of local realty buyers and his purchases during that time would probably amount to nearly $5,000,000. He was a part owner with his brothers in several large downtown properties, among them the Griswold hotel, Smithfield street and Third avenue, two properties in the rear in Second avenue, the Diamond street lot occupied by Goettmann's restaurant, the lot at Diamond street and Cherry alley occupied by the new Kaufmann store building, warehouses in Liberty avenue near Eleventh street and the big Forbes street warehouses of the Kaufmanns. Whether he was interested to any extent in the last two purchases announced by his brothers, that of the Eberhardt property in Wood street, secured by Isaac Kaufmann, and the holdings of the Pittsburgh Valve Foundry & Construction Company in Second avenue, which Morris Kaufmann acquired, is not known.

Mr. Kaufmann's new $100,000 residence at Wightman and Beacon streets is one of the finest homes on Squirrel Hill. He also owned considerable frontage at Shady and Wilkins avenues and more at Bartlett and Wightman streets. He was the owner of the Lennox apartments in Mathilda street and of a five-story warehouse at Liberty avenue near Fifteenth street. He also owned valuable vacant property in Bunker Hill street, opposite the Flinn holdings near Highland park. Mr. Kaufmann was known as a very shrewd and careful buyer and a quick dealer, and will be much missed from the ranks of big investors.

CHARGES COUPLE WITH THEFT.

Dr. Dunlap and Young Wife Are Taken Into Custody on the Street.

Doctor Harry Dunlap, aged 28, and his wife, Elsie, aged 17, who say they live at 207 Grandview avenue, Mt. Washington, were stopped while walking along Wood street, near Diamond yesterday afternoon by Mrs. T. J. Kane, of Arch street, Allegheny, who summoned Officer John Boyd to arrest the couple, telling him they had robbed her house six weeks ago of a lot of jewelry. Boyd took the accuser and accused to Central police station, where Mrs. Kane repeated her charge, and to which Dr. Dunlap made no denial. He and his young wife were locked up and word telephoned to the Allegheny police. Detectives Johnson and England later removed the couple to the Allegheny police station.

Mrs. Kane said the couple rented a second-story front room at her house last September and two days later disappeared, taking with them several pieces of jewelry. Dunlap claims to be a physician, but says his diploma was lost and he only practices chiropody.

SUPPORT THEIR TICKET

both the candidates for governor as men of the highest type, and says that whether Herrick or Pattison is elected, a gentleman will be the next governor of Ohio. The editorial is not calculated to please the Democratic workers.

It will be interesting to hear what remarks Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland will make on this utterance. When The Gazette interviewed him recently he spoke very bitterly of the course of the Enquirer in this campaign and charged that John R. McLean, the proprietor of the paper, is controlled by George B. Cox, the Republican boss of Cincinnati. Mayor Tom's opinion will doubtless now be confirmed by the editorial published today.

Another incident of the campaign that may have some influence is the publication of a letter by O. C. Barber of Akron, president of the Diamond Match Company, in which he tells of his experience in securing a loan on a $50,000 policy in the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, of which John M. Pattison, the Democratic candidate, is president. Mr. Barber says that when he applied for a loan the insurance company demanded 8 per cent interest, although the policy, being full paid up, was the very best security that could be offered. Mr. Barber refused to pay 8 per cent and threatened to go into court, when the company compromised by giving him the loan at 6 per cent. Mr. Barber says small policy holders, who are unable to put up as strong a protest as he, are obliged to pay 8 per cent on all money borrowed on their policies.

Republicans are not pleased with the action of Congressman Webber of Elyria, who has deserted the party and has publicly announced his intention to scratch Herrick this fall. They don't fear the effect of his action, but they consider it a case of rank ingratitude in view of the fact that, after the party had kept him on the bench for a long term of years, it last fall sent him to congress. They argue that if his conscience would not permit him to vote for Herrick, he need not have given aid and comfort to the enemy by publicly proclaiming his intention. Congressman Webber, from present indications, will not serve more than one term in the house of representatives.

ASKS HUMANE OFFICERS TO CUT OFF DOG'S TAIL

Unusual Request Is Made by Two 10-Year-Old Boys—Director Lectures Them.

"Say, mister, is this where they cut dogs' tails off?"

This query was propounded by a 10-year-old lad, carrying a small bull pup in his arms, and accompanied by a companion of about the same age. His interrogation was directed to Superintendent James S. Bell of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society, who was sitting in his office in Sixth avenue, yesterday.

Superintendent Bell was astonished, but asked the boys questions and found they had been sent there by a Dr. Pierce of the free dispensary. They said the dog belonged to another boy in Federal street, who sent them to Dr. Pierce to have the operation performed. The doctor evidently referred them to the Humane society for a sound lecture. This they were given by the directors of the society, who were holding their weekly session. After a lesson upon cruelty to animals and the punishment of the law, the boys were allowed to depart with their bull pup.

FRAUD CHARGES NOW REVERSED

Stalwart Republican of Beaver County Upset Eleventh Hour Fusion Trick.

SAYS AFFIDAVIT IS FORGED

Special Telegram From
JEROME NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

ROCHESTER, PA., Nov. 1.—Sensation followed sensation and charges of fraud were not only exploded, but met by more serious and more substantial charges at a meeting held in the Grand Opera house here tonight by the Republican party which is supporting J. Rankin Martin for judge against Richard S. Holt, the Democratic-Prohibition-Citizen candidate. Not only did the audience test the seating capacity of the playhouse, but enthusiasm reached such a height that speakers were compelled to pause time and again.

The greatest sensation of the night was presented by the last speaker, Attorney Winfield S. Moore of Beaver, who not only met the charges of fraud at the primaries, presented by Candidate Holt, but offered a boomerang. Holt, who violated his pledge as a Republican to abide by the decision of the primaries in which he was defeated, has set forth the claim, the primaries were conducted fraudulently and particularized the primary election in Colonia, where he claimed 78 votes were cast for him and only 38 were counted. This was his reason for seeking the sheltering wings of the Democratic, Prohibition and Citizen parties any any others which might offer him succor.

For several months the county newspapers and the bill boards have been bearing a copy of an affidavit alleging that certain voters in Colonia had voted for Holt at the Republican primaries and this affidavit bore the postscript that "6 men have signed and have been sworn to this affidavit." No names were given and Republican speakers have been demanding names.

Showed Many Forgeries.

To counteract any effect the closing meeting of the Republican campaign tonight might have, the fusion organization this evening distributed literature giving the names, for the first time, of the 78 alleged signers and oath-takers to the affidavit, although the document was dated May 31, 1905. However, the move was forestalled and while excitement was at its height Mr. Moore read affidavits to the audience which had been handed up to the speakers' platform during the meeting, which showed that 17 reported signers of the affidavit presented by Holt did not sign that document and their signatures were forgeries.

The affidavit as presented by the Holt fusion ticket was drawn and sworn to before Squire Frederick J. Stevens and in releasing the names of the alleged signers last night, after six months' silence, it was believed that an eleventh hour political stroke had successfully been accomplished. However, the statement was made last night by Frank Judd, clerk of the state senate, that before another day had passed evidence would be procured and publicly announced showing that at least 42 signatures to the alleged Holt affidavit were forgeries and that the possibilities were that none of the alleged signers had really been sworn.

Swoope Principal Orator.

The principal speaker at the meeting here tonight was District Attorney William I. Swoope of Clearfield county, son of the late H. B. Swoope, former United States district attorney in Pittsburgh and the first editor of the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph. Mr. Swoope, who has been one of the Republican national committee speakers during the two past national campaigns, delivered an eloquent address and fearlessly met all state issues. He said in part:

"I believe we should speak nothing but good of the dead and hence I will treat the Democratic party charitably. It has made no charge that honest Republicans are afraid to answer. I believe the people of Philadelphia are able to attend to their own affairs. Whatever the faults might be in that city government, the state organization cannot be held to blame any more than the national Democratic party can be held for the conviction of the Democratic city treasurer of Chicago, the Democratic boodlers of St. Louis or the Tammany grafters of New York.

"If the Democracy knows of a Republican official who has committed crime in office it is its duty to criminally prosecute to the fullest extent of the law. It is my wish and the wish of every good Republican that those who misbehave in public office should be vigorously punished, but that no man shall be libeled.

Calls the Democrats.

"Why doesn't Democracy make reference to its two terms which it enjoyed in this state in the last 30 years? In 1897 the Republican party passed legislation making it compulsory for state depositories to pay interest and to supply bonds for state deposits. Previously Democratic rule had placed these deposits to its best personal advantage. It is an actual fact that I challenge any man to deny, that there has never been a cent lost by the state which has been placed there in the trust of the Republican party.

Attorney Arthur E. Barnett of Beaver spoke on the local judgeship issue. He told of his previous affiliation with Candidate Holt and how he left him when that candidate had broken his pledge to abide by the decision of the primaries, and had not sought relief by the means provided by Republican rule, even though he was unsubstantially informed that fraud had been committed.

Attorney Moore, aside from presenting affidavits showing the Holt affidavit to be apparently fraudulent, also showed by figures that in the districts carried by Holt, larger votes had been cast in the primaries than had been polled in the last presidential campaign.

STEEL CORPORATION IS TO BUY THE LABELLE

Stockholders Are Offered $200 Per Share for Holdings in Big Concern.

As the result of a conference held yesterday at the Fort Pitt hotel between representatives of the LaBelle Iron works of Wheeling and people who are stated to represent the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel Corporation, a deal was arranged by which the largest independent iron and steel concern of the Wheeling district and Upper Ohio valley will shortly pass into the control of the corporation. The consideration will be in round figures $14,000,000 and of this sum it is estimated that at least $10,000,000 will go to Wheeling.

For several days it has been known that a deal was on foot and the LaBelle stock was run up to 142 and even higher in some sales. Yesterday leading directors and some of the largest stockholders of the company came to Pittsburgh for a conference with representatives of the interests desiring to acquire the LaBelle, the deal practically was closed, the directors of the company agreeing to issue a circular to the stockholders, requesting them to give options on their stock at $200 per share, to be good from December 1 to March 1, all dividends during that period to be paid to the present owners of the stock unless the option is taken up in the meantime; the stockholders giving the option also to receive one per cent per month from December 1 to March 1, or until the option is exercised.

The total stock issue of LaBelle is in round figures $7,000,000 and at $200 per share the deal means that the plants bring $14,000,000. The plants are in Wheeling and Steubenville, and nearly all classes of iron and steel are produced. Between 2,500 and 3,000 men are employed in the two plants. The LaBelle is the largest independent plant in this valley and its acquisition by the Steel Corporation will leave the Wheeling steel and iron, and the Whitaker-Glessner as the only remaining independent concerns of any importance in the Wheeling district.

FIFTEEN SUICIDES DURING PAST MONTH

Coroner's Books for October Show a Ghastly Array of Deaths from Violence.

Fifteen persons committed suicide in the county during October. According to the coroner's report for that month there were 177 violent deaths. Of that number four were murdered, 14 burned, four drowned, two electrocuted, 36 killed on railroads, seven by street cars, 14 by falls and three by accidental shooting.

Mamie Russell Grimm, aged 23, of 312 Balkan street, Allegheny, died at the Allegheny General hospital last night from burns received Monday night. Declaring she would end her life the girl deliberately sat on a stove, her clothing igniting.

George Parker, an inmate of the insane department at Marshalsea, died there yesterday from consumption. Parker was sent to the penitentiary two years ago to serve a term of five years for robbery. He held up a man in Squirrel Hill. On July 22 last he was transferred from the prison to Marshalsea on an order of court, because of insanity.

James Miller, aged 24, of 2337 California avenue, Allegheny, died at the Suburban hospital, Bellevue, yesterday, from injuries received several weeks ago at the Merrill dam. He was crushed about the body by a wicket falling on him.

John Merrison, aged 38, of Link street, Columbus, was killed by a train on the Allegheny Valley railroad at Sandy Creek yesterday.

CONTROL BUYING TALK SENDS UP THE SHARES

Philadelphia Company's Common Stock Reaches High Point of Years—Various Rumors Are Afloat.

A well-defined report was abroad yesterday that representatives of a New York banking house, representing Ladenberg, Thalman & Co., were looking over the properties of the Philadelphia Company with a view to acquiring control of the big corporation. Chiefly under buying orders from Philadelphia, the common stock rose from 48¾, the low point of the day, to 50¾, the highest point of the year.

James H. Reed, president of the Philadelphia Company, and J. D. Callery, president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, were out of town, and W. B. Carson, secretary of the Philadelphia Company, said he knew nothing about any negotiations were going on, he would not be surprised if somebody who wanted to invest in the securities the company purposes to issue were making an investigation of the company's holdings.

George H. Earle, Jr., one of the syndicate that controls the company, said in Philadelphia yesterday:

"During the past six weeks there has been large buying of Philadelphia Company stock by the firm of Charles H. Bean & Co. of this city. Whom Bean is buying for I do not know, but his firm has dealt heavily in the stock in Pittsburgh, also, there has been considerable buying. What interests are behind the movement I am unable to state. It would require much heavier transactions to wrest the control from the present holders."

JOHN DALZELL TELLS WHY REPUBLICAN TICKET SHOULD WIN CAMPAIGN

Congressman Discusses Local Issues Before a Big Audience in Braddock.

MAJOR M'DOWELL SPEAKS

There was a monster Republican mass meeting last night in Braddock Carnegie hall. Voters from all through the valley were in attendance. The speakers were Congressman John Dalzell, Major Alexander McDowell, chief clerk of the national house of representatives, and Charles B. Price, candidate for commissioner. District Attorney Robert E. Stewart was on the stage.

Braddock is the home of Fred W. Edwards and he had charge of the arrangements for the meeting. There was a big parade, led by the Carnegie Library band. The hall was decorated with flags and pictures of Roosevelt, McKinley, Pennypacker and Dalzell.

Congressman Dalzell confined himself entirely to local matters and gave many good reasons why the Republican ticket should be elected. Among other things Major McDowell said:

"Thirty-eight years ago I cast my only vote in Allegheny county. I was over at the West Penn hospital at the time, a wounded soldier, and as a soldier was allowed the privilege of voting wherever I might be living at the time of election.

Followed The Gazette.

"I did not know a man on either ticket, but I got hold of a copy of the old Pittsburgh Gazette, then published by Josiah Kane. I found the list of Republican candidates in the paper and voted the straight Republican ticket and I have been voting it ever since.

"My mother used to read to me about Braddock's defeat and I believed then that he was defeated, but when I came here today and saw the big mills, the vast business interests, and found that one of the most distinguished congressmen lives in this valley, I decided that Braddock had never been defeated at all.

"We are going to carry the state next Tuesday and we count on an old-fashioned majority in Allegheny county."

Congressman Dalzell spoke in part as follows:

I want to state to you tonight in a plain, straightforward and frank way, without any attempt at rhetoric, why I think it is the duty of every good citizen to vote for the regular Republican county ticket at the coming election. I do not say every Republican, I say every good citizen without regard to his previous party affiliation. There seems to me to be principles involved and consequences to follow that are of the most vital interest to the entire community. Nothing can be of greater moment to any community than the maintenance of civic virtue, and that depends on fair elections, clean candidates and honest administration. We all know that nothing in our country presents more serious and embarrassing problems than the governments of municipalities. We all know that in every community the well meaning men are in a majority, and if the means are provided whereby they can declare themselves, and if they possess sufficient patriotism to avail themselves of the means, the nearest possible approach to good government will result.

What influenced the honest Republicans to whom I have referred to vote for the Citizens party? Having ascertained these reasons we shall be able to judge whether they will be justified in repeating their act. Men desirous of reform voted against their party because they believed that its organization in the county instead of working for the public was exercising its power for its own aggrandizement. They believed that entrance to public life was barred by the machine to every one save those of its own choice and dictation. They believed that nominations for office were given in many cases without regard to merit or capacity, but as a reward for party services. They believed that men selected to office under such circumstances felt no responsibility to the people or their interests, but, on the other hand, felt a sense of loyalty to those who had secured them nomination. They believed that there was a debasing and demoralizing effect upon the voters themselves in that they got interest in public affairs when their choice was necessarily confined to one of two candidates, neither of whom they had any voice in naming. They believed that the remedy for these evils was to vote for candidates not named by the machine, and they believed also in the new party's promises of reform. No blame attaches to them for their votes when they so believed. He is not less a good party man who sometimes in a local election exercises his right of private judgment as against his party organization. But all these things being equal, a man owes loyalty to his party in local affairs as well as in national. And the reason for that is that this is a government by party, and party success depends on party organization, not on organization in the nation or state alone, but in every election district, and party organization depends on the loyalty of the individual. It is not party organization that is the legitimate subject of general condemnation, but its abuse. Organization is necessary to self-government. There must always be a "machine," using that term in its best sense.

Having analyzed the reasons which brought votes to the Citizens ticket when it was successful, I now ask the question: Will not the same reason that influenced the Republicans who voted for the Citizens party before influence him to vote the Republican ticket now? Does he not believe that the Citizens party has a machine and that that machine instead of working for the public good is exercising its power for its own aggrandizement? Does he believe that anyman can be a Citizens party candidate for public office save at the dictation of the machine? Does he not believe that the Citizens party candidates, if elected, will feel themselves bound to loyalty to the machine and not to the people? Does he place any confidence in the declarations of the Citizens party for civil service reform, for economy in administration, against the wasteful granting of public franchises, against the levying of assessments upon employes for political purposes? Surely not, unless his credulity is infinite and he is blind and deaf to what surrounds him. No sooner was the Citizens party in control than it forgot its promises as to the merit system and discharged employes right and left, confessedly for political reasons. Equally notorious was its desertion of the cause of economy. Public moneys were loaned at a rate of interest below that which could have been had. Public franchises were shamefully granted, not in the public interest, but for private gain. There is no reason why the Citizens ticket should be voted for. On the contrary there is every reason why every good citizen interested in the welfare of the county should vote the Republican county ticket at the next election and no reason why he should not. No man stands higher among his fellows than our candidate for common pleas judge, James S. Young. A man of irreproachable character, learned in the law, one of the most accomplished gentlemen, he will bring to the bench administrative faculties of a high order and a rare courtesy.

To serve as first officer in the common pleas courts our candidate is William B. Kirker. A lawyer himself, he will bring to the administration of his office a professional appreciation of its duties and responsibilities as well as a carefulness and method that can only be gained by long experience. He has risen in the prothonotary's office from paper boy to the chief clerkship, and by his attainment of the governor to the prothonotaryship itself. I [illegible] the people will fail to give their indorsement to his commendable career and to the conscientious judgment of the governor.

For another office connected with the administration of justice, that of register of wills, Robert D. Stone of McKeesport is a candidate. A mechanic by trade but a business man by experience, he has long been identified with modern, progressive methods. A bank director and a public-spirited citizen interested in all that pertains to the city of his residence, he has never before sought public office. He is deserving of every good citizen's vote. For another court house office, recorder of deeds, John A. Fairman is a candidate. He is no stranger to his fellow citizens of Allegheny county. For a lifetime he has been [illegible] with its interests. He is an old soldier of the civil war. His record [illegible] ears of honorable service in the field and a term in Libby prison. In my judgment no stronger or more meritorious claim can be made on the voter than such a record presents, and I feel sure that when election day comes round the claim will be met and Comrade Fairman will be welcomed to the only public office that he has ever sought, save that of councilman. William Dodds, candidate for clerk of courts, has peculiar claims for indorsement. Born abroad, he was possessed of that pioneer spirit which brings to our shores so many worthy men in search of freedom and opportunity. He began as a mine worker and by his industry, integrity and intelligence, so established himself that he gained the confidence of his fellowworkmen and became a leader among them. For six years he has been secretary-treasurer of the miners of Western Pennsylvania. With John Mitchell, the friend of President Roosevelt, he was elected a delegate from the national convention of United Mine Workers to the International mining congress at Paris, 1904. His voice has been potent in the maintenance of peace between employer and employe. He is the representative of that great army of men whose labors in one of our leading industries contributes so much to our wealth, and he will receive, I doubt not, a renewal of their confidence in the shape of their votes.

George Z. Hosack, candidate for county treasurer, is president of the Bridgeville Coal Company. A business man for a business office. He is no office seeker as that term is understood; has never held a salaried office, but has served his neighbors by acting in positions of public trust, such as that of school director and burgess.

Charles B. Price I have known during almost all of my business life. He started life early as a drummer boy in the state militia during Lee's invasion and has made himself a success. Clerk in a Pennsylvania railroad office, then chief clerk, then general superintendent, where would you find a more capable man for the executive duties of a county commissioner's office? His training is in the line to make of him a useful and efficient public servant, and the common pleas judges never exercised judgment more judiciously than when they appointed him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. Carson Mercer, a death that I deplore for J. Carson Mercer was my friend. From the time when I first entered public life to the day of his death he never failed to do me a kindness when it was in his power. He was a good man, loyal and true and here are tears to his memory. Mr. Price's colleague upon the ticket for county commissioner, Irving King Campbell, is a business man of long experience as a manufacturer of iron and steel. He belongs to the remnant of that great army whose patriotism and heroic devotion to the cause of their country saved the union of states and preserved us as one people, with one flag and one destiny. For four years he served in the field; on his garments is the smoke of battle; in his memory the terrible experience of service in confederate prisons, in Libby, Belle Isle and Salisbury. He needs no words of commendation from me.

Our candidate for county controller, Franklin P. Booth, is a young business man, honored by all who know him for his integrity and business capacity, a boy of the public schools, a candidate for the first time for public office outside of a school directorship. William H. Guy, candidate for director of the poor, was an old-time Whig and is a Republican as old as the party itself. He has filled the office for which he is now a candidate for many years with satisfaction to all and deserves to be retained therein.

Before I proceed further I want to say a word upon the subject of the erection of a hall in commemoration of the valor of the veterans of the civil war. The legislature has authorized it, the grand jury has indorsed it and nothing remains toward its accomplishment but the favorable vote of the people.

Not only are our candidates men of integrity and capacity, but they were honestly nominated. Neither fraud nor bossism entered into their nomination! They were nominated by popular vote at a primary election at which all who chose to enter might have been candidates. Pretense is made by the opposition that these primaries were not honestly conducted, but there is no evidence of that. The number of votes cast in the county shows that the people were interested in making the choice. Taking into consideration the novelty of the proceeding it seems to me that the activity manifested by the voters was remarkable. Having eliminated the personality of the Republican machine and having candidates not named by it, but by the people, every reason or excuse that existed or seemed to exist, for voting for the Citizens party has been taken away.

How were the Citizens party candidates nominated? A few bosses of the revolting Republicans got together and dictated the candidates for certain offices. A few Democratic bosses got together and named candidates for certain offices. The nominations thus made constitute a fusion ticket, one-half of it Democratic. What does it stand for? For anything of principle? Why certainly not. It stands for nothing in the world but office and its spoils, and for other spoils more important in the future. It certainly does not stand for anti-bossism. It certainly does not stand for an open field and a popular vote. Why, any man, unprejudiced, and with an eye to the public weal, should vote for that ticket, boss-chosen, in preference to the Republican ticket, chosen by the people. I cannot imagine.

I am aware of the claim made that only those acceptable to the Republican organization were permitted to be candidates, but the answer to that is that under the rules it was impossible to exclude any who were willing to take their chances with the people, and that if any were induced to refrain from entering the lists they must have been those only who were subject to boss control. The assertion that the primaries only served to nominate selected candidates comes with a poor grace from a machine that dictated its candidates. Furthermore, it is obviously made for political purposes and rests upon no evidence. Whether our candidates were acceptable to the so-called bosses or not, it is evident from the result that they were acceptable to the people. It will not do for any conscientious voter to say that he will not like this man or that man or men who have prominent places in the party councils. The candidates chosen by the people have a right to be considered on their merits and when elected will be under obligation and responsibility only to their constituents.

A vote for the Republican ticket at this time is a vote in indorsement of the methods by which the candidates were nominated. It is a vote for an open field and for popular against machine methods.

MONSTER MASS MEETING IN FOURTEENTH WARD

About 1,000 Voters Gather in Holmes School to Hear the Issues Discussed.

Nearly 1,000 voters of the Fourteenth ward attended the Republican rally in the Holmes school last night. In the audience were many who voted the Citizens ticket in the past.

Alexander McKnight, ward chairman, introduced A. S. Wilson as the presiding officer of the meeting. Speeches were made by P. A. Shaner, I. K. Campbell, candidate for county commissioner, Daniel Ashworth and Congressman J. F. Burke. W. A. Magee was an interested auditor on the stage, and his presence elicited much applause. Mr. Burke said in part:

It was 12 years ago when I had the honor of presiding to the organization of the Fourteenth ward one of the banners behind me as the result of your labors with the compliments of the city Republican committee for being the banner ward of the city. Oddly enough that was on the seventh day of November. I feel sure that the next seventh of November the Fourteenth ward will roll up a majority that will entitle it to a repetition of the title of "banner ward."

The Ninth Ward Hebrew Political club last night elected the following officers: Chairman, I. L. Wolfe; vice chairman, John Rome; treasurer, P. Levine; secretary, M. Levine.

Rules were granted in common pleas court No. 3 yesterday directing the registry assessors of the Second, Third and Fourth districts of the Seventh ward; of the Third district, Eighth ward; of the Third district, Fifth ward, and of the First district, Tenth ward, to appear in court at 1:30 p. m. today and show cause why a number of names should not be stricken from the registry lists. The action was taken at the instance of the Republican city committee. It is alleged that names of people who do not live in the districts have been put on the lists.

The Orphans party will hold a meeting in the Margaretta school, Nineteenth ward, tonight, and in the Belmar school, Twenty-first ward, tomorrow night.

STILL WANT PHIPPS TO PAY HIS MOIETY

It's a Question of $11,000 for a Bathhouse, Which the Millionaire Won't Talk About.

The women who compose the board of managers of the public washhouse and bath at Thirty-fifth and Butler streets are still determined to compel Henry Phipps to pay $11,000, his alleged share of the balance of the cost of the building. Mr. Phipps is in Pittsburgh, but what he intends to do could not be learned. He declined to see reporters, sending out word that he had nothing to say on the bathhouse issue. Thomas D. Chantler, his attorney, refused to say anything on the subject and H. B. Naylor, Mr. Phipps' local business manager, said he knew nothing about the bathhouse, as it was a phase of Mr. Phipps' affairs that he had nothing to do with. Mr. Phipps managing such affairs himself. The board of managers has placed the bill for $11,000 in the hands of Attorney D. T. Watson and will be guided by his advice.

D. C. Clapp, treasurer of the building committee of the baths, whose wife is chairman of the board of managers, said yesterday that it was not a subscription which the board was trying to collect from Mr. Phipps; that Mr. Phipps himself had suggested the building of the bathhouse and had promised to pay half of the cost. The board had bought the bathhouse site for $6,000, and Mr. Phipps had paid half. The board engaged to draw plans for the bathhouse the same architect whom Mr. Phipps had engaged to design his Allegheny baths. The women raised half of the $56,000 the baths and wash house cost, and Mr. Phipps, Mr. Clapp said, agreed in writing to pay the balance, the other half. Some checks were received but suddenly stopped coming.

Mr. Phipps has been assessed the taxes for the Allegheny school children's playground. Director McIlvaine of the Allegheny department of public works, says he will have an ordinance introduced refunding the taxes to Mr. Phipps as soon as the playground is turned over to the city. Director McIlvaine says the taxes will not be refunded until the city has the deed for the ground, despite the fact that Mr. Naylor, according to Mr. McIlvain, has notified the city the land will be taken back by Mr. Phipps if the taxes are not refunded.

ADDITIONAL CHURCH IS SECURED FOR REVIVALS

Three Meetings Next Sunday in Sixth Avenue—Crowds at Noon Services Increase.

The interest in the revivals being conducted under the auspices of the Christian church is so widespread, and the attendance so large that an additional church has been secured for the Sunday afternoon meetings. Besides the Nixon theater and the old Third Presbyterian church opposite the theater, overflow services will be held in the United Evangelical Protestant church, Smithfield street and Sixth avenue, next Sunday. The same programs will be provided at the theater and the two churches. If the accommodations are not sufficient next Sunday an additional theater will be secured for the following Sunday. The noon meeting yesterday in the Third Presbyterian church was the largest yet held. The Rev. J. O. Shelburn of Toledo will conduct today's meeting. The Netz sisters sing at all the meetings.

The Rev. W. R. Warren, who desires to take gospel into the downtown streets by the aid of the phonograph, called at the offices of Mayors Hays and Wyman yesterday to secure permission for the sacred concerts in the streets, but did not find either official. He will call again today.

Women as Inventors.

WOMEN may be denied the right of suffrage—they are in nearly all the states—but no power can deny them the right of invention. The Patent Office at Washington is as wide open to women as it is to men. Some of the most famous articles of all around utility were invented by women. Here's a trio to which attention is asked—

The Stillman One-Piece Waist Pattern.

A woman invented it.
On sale only in this store.
A waist pattern by which women who know anything at all of cutting and fitting, can cut out a waist from any sort of cloth and make it up without the waist having any seam in it.
This waist pattern is being demonstrated now in our West Store, eighth aisle. The inventor, Miss Stillman, began demonstrating yesterday, and will give daily demonstrations until further notice.

Mothers' Delight, Baby Bunting Blanket.

A woman invented it.
On sale only in this store.
A blanket-garment into which baby can be as snugly folded as any little Indian pappoose.
Once baby is inside this Baby Bunting Blanket, cold winds cannot reach him, as it folds and fastens closely around the child, leaving hands and head out only.
The inventor in this case is a Pittsburg woman. See it in the Infants' Department, second floor, East.

Darning On a Sewing Machine.

A woman invented it.
On sale only in this store.
This darner's best work is done on silk stockings and lisle stockings.
No one would believe, from reading, that such a thing as darning stockings on a sewing machine could be accomplished. If you will call at our West Store you will there see the demonstrator operating this darner, and we haven't the least doubt that you will be so interested that you will order one right away.

Luxurious Velvet and Velveteen Dresses and Wraps for Women.

No other garment fabric approaches velvet or velour in richness, beauty and elegance. Their popularity is perennial. This year promises a greater demand than ever, and the superb garments that have been produced both here and abroad well deserve exceptional favor.
We have purchased lavishly both at home and abroad. We have hundreds of styles in velour wraps, hundreds of styles in chiffon velvet and velvet dresses. Not hundreds of one style, made of the smallest and the poorest quality of fabric to make a big show for a little price, but carefully selected and satisfactory fabrics, each dress carefully copied from a rich imported model, by the best manufacturing tailors in this country. Each dress represents the very best taste.
Prices of the dresses range from an attractive Eton Jacket Suit at $42.00 to the elegant chiffon velvet costume at $175.00.
Wraps range from $50.00 up to the richest imported velour confections at $400.00.
While stocks are comprehensive from one end of the line to the other, we are especially proud of the superb velvet and velveteen skirts and coats marked with our most popular prices. Here most emphatically is shown the decisive superiority of fabric in garments, and every woman well knows how important that is to the beauty and the durability of the garment.

Attorney Hunter appeared in court yesterday requesting a rule on certain registry assessors to show cause why their lists should not be purged of many fraudulent names. This illegal padding has been attempted every year since the Democratic-Citizens obtained control of the lists. Republicans have have been obliged, annually, to have the lists purged. It is simply an attempt by means of fraudulent voting lists to bolster graft and franchise plundering.

Sweden indulged in national rejoicings yesterday over the hoisting of the original flag of the country for the first time in nearly a century. Whether or not the separation of the nations will prove to have been a wise move, each seems to be entering upon the new national life with keenest anticipations. Former friends proverbially make bitterest foes, but there is no reason why Norway and Sweden should not dwell in neighborly accord, even though old ties are severed.

The bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church have done a graceful thing in presenting their congratulations to President Roosevelt on his stand for civic righteousness, his exaltation of the home and his part in ending the Russo-Japanese war. Their action is entirely without political significance, and is the more gratifying as the spontaneous expression of a great denomination's admiration and approval presented by its official authorities.

For the 10 months of this year, ended Tuesday, the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad's transported tonnage of iron ore exceeded any previous full year's record. The figures are, for 10 months this year, 4,400,000 tons; for all of 1904 the total was 4,087,000 tons. During the remainder of this year the total should be brought up to a round 5,000,000 tons. When it is considered that other railroads have been equally active in breaking tonnage records the significance of the thing is plain.

Influential friends of Elliott F. Shepard, sentenced in Paris to three months' imprisonment, as well as to pay a fine and damages for the accidental killing of a girl by his automobile, are reported as "cabling for the purpose of securing the intervention of American officials in his behalf." It is difficult to see why any special clemency should be extended to Mr. Shepard simply on account of his wealth and social position. The punishment is not severe, but even if it were, there is no reason why rich Americans who break laws abroad should expect their government to intervene.

It is not probable the laundrymen of the city, as a body, will be influenced in their political action by Director Bigelow's remission of water rents, just before election, whatever the director may expect. In their view it is a tardy correction of injustice under pressure and, if it affects their political views in any way, it will naturally impress them with the danger of continuing a political control that first imposes an injustice and then, in the midst of a desperate campaign, abates it on the eve of an important election. That sort of administration is a menace to the laundrymen, as it is to other good citizens.

There appeared yesterday a comical discussion on the "Orphans Without Larkin." This naturally revives recollection of the organization of the Orphans by 13 anti-graft councilmen, who, at his request, permitted Larkin to sign their manifesto. Mr. Larkin declared the Citizens party had "stolen goods in its pockets," that it had been faithless to every pledge. The Orphans stand now right where they did then. They represent precisely what they did at that time, an organized protest against perfidy, graft and plunder. If Mr. Larkin is no longer in sympathy with the Orphans, so much the worse for Larkin—and for the grafters.

Yesterday the report of the viewers in the Hamilton avenue extension was filed. It assesses damages in the amount of $316,000 and benefits to the amount of about $41,000, leaving the city to pay $275,075, or about 88 per cent of the total. Recently City Controller Larkin denounced this award as an "outrage" and promised repeal of the ordinance providing for the improvement. Republican councilmen endeavored to have it repealed, but were outvoted by the Democratic-Citizens members. Now the scheme is to go through. This is one specimen instance of how the taxpayers are plundered under the present regime.

This Is the Issue.

It is pretty well understood by all intelligent citizens this present county campaign is an engagement merely preliminary to the municipal elections of next February. If the Bigelow-Verner-Hays combination is indorsed at the polls next Tuesday, it will regard its control of Pittsburgh and Allegheny for another three years as practically assured. It is a plea in "confession and avoidance" when the Democratic-Citizens orators tell their hearers the county campaign should be separated from the disgraceful record of the GRAFT AND PLUNDER REGIME.

On one side this struggle is typified by such men as William H. Stevenson and Oliver McClintock; on the other by Wyman, Hays, Wallace and Scandrett. On one side are the forces that have fought consistently for better government; on the other are PLEDGE BREAKERS, FRANCHISE GRABBERS AND GRAFTERS. On one side is the law and order loving element; on the other are the thieves and thugs and gamblers. The Republican ticket, nominated by orderly methods and the votes of the people, represents the law-abiding sentiment of the community; the Democratic-Citizens candidates, named by bosses and in devious ways, are supported by law-breakers and public property plunderers, in return for special privileges, enjoyed and expected.

It will not be a difficult task for any honest citizen to decide whether he should support the Republican nominees who stand for a better order of things, or for the mongrel ticket named by and from the violators of solemn obligations—named by and for the men who promised everything to obtain political power, and who have NOT REDEEMED A SINGLE PROMISE.

Never in the history of this community has there been such shameless traffic in stolen franchises, such abandon of protected vice, such open graft, as during the existing regime. These things are RENDERED DOUBLY INFAMOUS because they have been perpetrated in the name of reform, under the auspices of men who have broken their given word. The leaders of this mongrel association are TRAITORS TO THE CAUSE they espoused; they have betrayed their fellows who are now carrying on their fight for good government in the Republican ranks.

No man can mistake the issue in this election. The ballots will be cast and counted next Tuesday for repudiation of, or for indorsement of the shameless record of profligate and corrupt conduct of the affairs of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

Decency's Demand.

If a play is really too indecent for public performance, there is but one course of action worth taking: suppress it. As has often been pointed out, criticism by press and pulpit, while the play is permitted to continue, is much worse than useless. The public purveyors of indecency ask for no better and cheaper advertising. The specious argument that if the people are warned in advance of the character of the play they have only themselves to blame if they attend, and that such a play will attract only those who are insusceptible to further harm since they have already lost the sense of decency, deceives nobody. It is time the idea were changed that ordinary standards of conduct cannot be employed in judging "art." As was to be expected, the question is raised: What does a police commissioner know about the drama? The question is not pertinent. The artistic value of the performance which has been found so objectionable did not enter into the discussion at all. A police commissioner who had never been inside a theater before would be as competent to judge whether a performance transcends the bounds of common decency as the most accomplished dramatic critic.

Mr. George Bernard Shaw, of course, is growling. He has been hit in that tenderest spot: the pocketbook. Shaw is a quibbler. For instance: "Mr. Daly offered to abide by the verdict of the New York press. He must have forgotten the press does not go to the theater. It only sends critics." This evasion is characteristically Shawesque. We are also told "the American conscience is unintelligent." If it were a little more intelligent, of course, it would be helping to fill Mr. Shaw's pockets. Mr. Shaw is sore.

Wives Wanted.

A delegation of farmers from the Dakotas is to visit New York and New England next month for the frankly honest purpose of obtaining wives. They have heard of the preponderance of women in certain sections of the east and knowing from experience how few there are in the west, comparatively, are coming, like young Lochinvar, out of that region to one more propitious for matrimonial ventures. The responsibility for the large number of bachelors in this country has been charged to geographical conditions. It is said there are 2,200,000 more unmarried men over 20 years of age than there are unmarried women, so a vast host of Americans must inevitably remain bachelors. Taking the country as a whole, there are more men than women, and the disparity is especially marked in the region west of the Mississippi, where men have been the pioneers.

The mission of the western farmers will be the subject, doubtless, of many jokes by the paragraphers of the press, but it is really a serious and sensible move, deserving of the warmest commendation. Pennsylvania is not to be favored, apparently, and this is just as well. We have no girls to spare, and anyway, we don't want to have them go so far away from home. But we can view with equanimity the parting of New York and New England with their young women. The east and west should be better acquainted with each other. The sectional spirit should be abolished. Marriage ties will help to bring this about. The "effete east" is an expression often met with in the west. The "wild and woolly west" is a favorite phrase in the east. Each is based on a misunderstanding. Matrimonial alliances composed of eastern wives and western husbands will help to retire these expressions. Let us hope the enterprising bachelors from the Dakotas will all return happy bridegrooms.

Vote the Whole Ticket.

There is no good reason why any Republican should fail to vote his full party ticket next Tuesday. There has been a great hullabaloo about certain contracts in Philadelphia and an uproar over the Enterprise National bank, which happened to have state deposits. Out of it all there has not been produced a single reason why any voter should not vote the Republican ticket, including J. Lee Plummer for state treasurer. The Republican party did not loot the bank, nor did any of its candidates.

Since 1874, when the first state treasurer elected by popular vote took office, there has been one Democratic treasurer. He was elected on the promise he would reform the administration of that office. Every well informed citizen knows the result. The scandals attending that administration exceeded all previous history and have not been rivaled since. When Samuel Butler, Republican, came into office in 1881, he declined to accept the institution as Treasurer Noyes offered it and insisted on having the accounts made good.

There is no better guarantee back of the Democratic promises of this year than in 1877. The Democrats simply say they will do something. As their agent they offer to the Pennsylvania electorate William H. Berry—a man with a peculiar political record and no special qualifications or training for the position. Prohibitionist, free silver crank, Jeffersonian Democrat, by turns, Mr. Berry does not look very good as one who might combat an alleged corrupt treasury ring.

J. Lee Plummer is a man of good character and highest integrity. He has demonstrated fair ability in the legal profession and has certain knowledge of treasury operations. He is highly esteemed by his neighbors, who testify he is honest and capable. There are no political vagaries charged against him. Assuredly he is every whit as good a man as Berry and as much to be trusted. He has had no connection with the things which have been dragged into the campaign as issues. He will stand as rigidly as any other honest man against illegal practices, and he is a Republican. The Republican voter who withholds from him the support he ought to give will injure his party by just that much, and by just that much will weaken the influence in national, state and local affairs. Vote the whole Republican ticket!

Local contemporaries bewail the taxation of nearly 7,000,000 people—though the corporations pay nearly all of the tax—that puts $10,000,000 surplus in the state treasury, but they have never a word to say of the policy that taxes 375,000 people in Pittsburgh directly to maintain $6,000,000 in city depositories at 2 per cent. Controller Larkin once protested bitterly against this injustice.

The police of Vienna are to be instructed in jiu-jitsu, says the Leader. The police of Pittsburgh have been instructed to pull in 10 votes apiece, but the Leader is wisely not saying much about our local "guardians" just now.

Controller Larkin on the stump in this campaign is contradicted by his own words: "Neither he nor any other man can restore confidence in the Citizens party while it has stolen goods in its pockets."

W. H. Stevenson, Oliver McClintock, W. K. Jennings. These gentlemen are on one side. On the other, Hays, Wyman, Scandrett, "Buck" Wallace. Not hard to tell which is the side of good government.

City Controller Larkin in September declared the Hamilton avenue award an "outrage." It looks like that yet, but the Bigelow-Verner-Hays combination is pushing it through, just the same.

While the commissioner of the United States court is wrestling with the scandal of the Grant boulevard grab, the grabbers are depending on policemen to support them with 10 votes each.

What is the object of the Democratic-Citizens in rooting up bond issues in order to put idle money in depositories? At any rate, the state has issued no bonds.

Citizens-Democratic managers who are engaged in chicken-counting preliminary to the hatching process will experience the usual disappointment.

With "stolen goods in its pockets" the Democratic-Citizens grafters' organization is asking an indorsement at the polls.

Was ever the public service so neglected in these cities while the public servants hustle for votes, as at present?

The Bigelow-Verner-Hays outfit has given a sufficiently long performance of tainted politics.

The people will be given an opportunity next Tuesday to end a period of gross misrule.

"Citizens" are scanning the horizon in vain for a gleam of hope.

Advice That Will Be Heeded.

The advice of such an upright, able and fearless public official as Attorney General Carson has proven himself to be, ought to be and will be heeded by the electorate of Pennsylvania. He advises all Republicans to vote the straight party ticket on Tuesday of next week.—Erie Times.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Be Just as Simple as You Can, but Don't Be Foolish.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There is a great difference between simplicity and foolishness.

Paste that in your hat if you can't paste it any nearer your thinking apparatus, and it may do you a lot of good.

You know very well, so well that it is hardly worth while telling you, that simplicity is a most winsome and altogether laudable element in the makeup of men and women.

The reason for this is that the simple nature, or simple mind, is ever receptive, ever willing to learn, and never obtrusive.

On the other hand the foolish mind is ever projecting itself into fields of thought in a promiscuous sort of way, and in utter disregard of others and of greater minds.

"There is no king but me," said one of the Pharaoh's when told that a messenger was without who bore a message from another king.

There are a great many in this later and wiser day and age who are in the habit of saying, after the manner of the Egyptian king, "There is none but me." And then there are others who claim to be the biggest toad in the particular puddle in which they move, and others still who declare themselves as big as any other toad in the bunch.

How is it in the puddle in which you disport yourself? Are you the biggest toad, or as big as the biggest, or only a toad among toads?

Some there are who won't stay in any puddle in which there are bigger toads, preferring to go forth in search of puddles in which they will be the big toads, even if the puddles are small, shallow and liable to dry up and become extinct.

The simple mind is neither selfish nor jealous, nor sordid, but receptive, generous and contented.

This explains why simple-minded people are so popular, so helpful, and so happy, being ever ready to hear and to learn, and never over-anxious to project themselves into the limelight, but always willing to help others to learn concerning the good things in life.

Now and again a big one looms up, and is most certain to cause a great flurry among the foolish ones. The simple-minded see, and hear, and enjoy, but are not flurried, and for the simple reason that the big one has not disturbed the simple quietude of their nature. Besides they are not ambitious to outshine, or to even shine equally with the big one.

This gives them time and opportunity to look the big one over critically and dispassionately, if not really disinterestedly. And not being bound to follow in the comet-like tail, they receive that which is good, and reject that which they dislike.

He is a fool, or at least acts foolishly, who swells himself up in his own estimation until he feels that he is as big as the big one. And, most likely, it will be only a question of time until he meets the awful, yet well-deserved fate of the frog that attempted to swell itself to the dimensions of the ox.

"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." This you may have seen demonstrated on more than one occasion. And haven't you noticed that they usually manage to make their foolishness apparent to all save, perhaps, those troubled with the same disorder?

The simple-minded ever find contentment, comfort and more or less real happiness while living within their means, and on good terms with their neighbors. Their houses may not be as fine nor their homes as grand as those who ape the millionaire set, but they are paid for, and are in no danger of being invaded by tyrant fashion decrying changes that invite bankruptcy.

Mr. Quiet Observer—Excuse me for "butting in," but do you ever speculate? I mean in your mind, about things that are hard to understand.

The writer once overheard a physician say that he was well versed in all knowable things, but that he would go to China to obtain a knowledge of what that mysterious thing called life really is.

In a recent article you told your readers that life meant "activity, development, progress, etc." Now tell them, please, what life itself is.

I have a friend who, I think, has burned the midnight oil to some purpose, and here is what he has to say about it:

"Man shares with all living things the life that animates his own body. No matter in what shape or form life appears, the quality is the same; it is changed or modified only by the conditions under which it manifests itself.

"Animals have nerves, muscles, tendons, tissues and glands similar in construction to those possessed by man, and the energizing principle called life, that vitalizes both man and the animal, is the same.

"Life manifested through man's organism is capable of better and higher results only because it is under the control and direction of a superior intelligence.

"Man's mental faculties possess nothing in common with his vitality, although the one may be affected by an impaired condition of the other.

"Man can only exercise the powers of his mind while in a state of consciousness, but he can live for days and weeks in an unconscious condition. The belief in a future life or a life after death, predicates the possibility of a conscious existence without life here."

Now, Mr. Q. O., what say you: is my friend a wise man or a fool, or "doth much learning make him mad?"

PLATO'S FRIEND.

The problem of life is most complex, so much so that it will hardly be solved, and its elements defined by any creature in the mortal garb.

To know and to comprehend life is to know and comprehend God, and to know Him is to equal Him in wisdom.

It is the part of wisdom, the very highest wisdom, for us to make the best of the many fine opportunities afforded us by and through life, rather than to speculate concerning its origin, its elements and its ultimate end.

A BIRD'S ELEGY.

He was the first to welcome Spring.
Adventurous, he came
To wake the dreaming buds and sing
The crocus into flame.

He loved the morning and the dew;
He loved the sun and rain;
His fashioned lyrics as he flew
With love for their refrain.

Poet of vines and blossoms, her
Beloved of them all;
The timid leaves upon the tree
Grew bold at his glad call.

He sang the rapture of the hills,
And from the starry height
He brought the melody that fills
The meadows with delight.

And now, behold him dead, alas!
Where he made joy so long;
A bit of blue amid the grass—
A tiny, broken song.

GOTHAM IS TO HAVE SECOND OPERA HOUSE

Will Be Specially Adapted to Staging Works That Do Not Require Large Outlay.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—New York is to have a second opera house, equal in many respects to the Metropolitan, but not intended to rival that house, except in the artistic completeness of its productions. Interested in getting up this project is a musician well known in New York and in several of the European capitals. He intends it to be the home of opera comique, in the true sense of that term. A site has been secured at a cost of $750,000, and plans are being prepared for the building. It is to occupy the block fronting on Central Park West, between Sixty-second street and Sixty-third street, and to have a frontage of 200 feet, the depth varying from 225 to 200 feet. About a month ago announcement was made that 17 lots at this point has been sold by the Unity Realty Company, but the identity of the buyer was kept a close secret. It was learned today, however, that the buyers of the plot are capitalists largely interested in the Metropolitan opera house, and that their plan is to build a new opera house, somewhat smaller than the Metropolitan, but with complete facilities for the production of grand opera on a lavish scale.

Will Not Be Wagnerian.

The new opera house is to be specially adapted to the production of operas not requiring the enormous expense of Metropolitan productions in the way of stage machinery, orchestra and chorus. Many operas of the Italian and French schools are too light in texture to be given with the best results on the huge stage of the Metropolitan, and the voices suited to their performance would be lost in the great hall. Such an opera house is the very beautiful Opera Francaise in New Orleans, and there are similar buildings in many of the smaller capitals of Europe. A further plan under consideration for the new opera house is to make it a permanent home for the better class of comic opera, including the Gilbert and Sullivan productions, and the best French comic operas.

"Big Indian" at the Morgue.

George Reed, the employe at the morgue whose duty it is to care for bodies after the performance of autopsies, is known among his fellows by the suggestive title of "Prof. Stitch." The "professor," usually self-contained, was threatened today with nervous prostration. This unwonted condition was due to the authorities employing as a helper to Reed, without the latter's knowledge, a full-blooded Indian. The Indian reported for duty this morning, and the "professor" got a shock when he found the fierce looking red man awaiting him in the autopsy room. The Indian is a Carlisle graduate and will be first assistant to "Prof. Stitch."

May Have to Use Sample Ballots.

Fear has been expressed that the official ballots will not be ready for every district in the city by election day, on account of the delay in deciding whether Jerome's name can go in the Republican column on the ballot. Tammany has provided for the emergency by sending to all registered voters partial sample ballots printed on pink paper. These ballots contain only two columns, one blank under the Republican emblem and the other with all the Tammany candidates under the Democratic emblem. The Hearst managers expressed the opinion today that Tammany had received a "tip" the official ballots would not be ready in time. They intend to send around sample ballots, too.

Jerome Stronger in Betting.

Odds on McClellan strengthened a bit in the betting on the Broad street curb today. At the same time they also became stronger on Jerome. Early bets were made at 2½ to 1 on McClellan, but later $3,000 to $1,100 was offered that the head of the Tammany ticket will be elected, without takers. On Jerome the odds varied from 10 to 6 to 10 to 4, and early in the afternoon bets were being made at 2 to 1 that he would be elected.

Miss Mary Carrington of Springfield, Mass., has the distinction of being the most expert typewritist in the United States. She won the honor last evening by winning the first prize in a tournament at the business show at the Madison Square garden, during which the contestants were blindfolded. Forty young women entered the contest. Twenty were from this city and the others were from various parts of the country. For an hour Miss Carrington typewrote from dictation, with her eyes covered, 3,700 words, and when she finished no flaws could be found in her copy.

Bad Day on Rivers.

Heavy fog in the harbor delayed all interborough traffic today, especially the ferries. The East river was so congested with lighters and other freight vessels, all of which were groping about and making a terrific din with their whistles and bells, that the numerous ferries crowded with persons on their way to work in Manhattan, had a hard time dodging in and about them and trying to reach their slips.

PERTINENT POINTERS TO MEAT MERCHANTS

Scarcity of Beef in Germany and Other European Countries Is Suggestive.

In the news columns of the papers the scarcity of meat in Germany and other European countries has been frequently dilated on, and the suffering of the people fully described. Discontent seems to be everywhere prevalent in Europe where the lack of meat food exists, and there is a great popular demand for government relief. Evidences of these conditions are furnished by United States Consul Brittain of Kehl, in Baden, regarding the situation in that portion of the German empire.

"According to a recent issue of the Strassburger Post, writes Mr. Brittain, "the average increase in price a kilogram (2.20 pounds) is 5 pfennigs (1 1-5 cents) for best quality of beef and 11-3 cents for second quality of beef; for veal 11-2 cents, for mutton 1 cent, and for pork 2 1-3 cents. In connection with this increase in the price of meat it can be mentioned that butter has consequently been raised 2 cents per 2.20 pounds and eggs 5 1-5 cents per schock (60 eggs). In many cities milk has been advanced in price, and in others a raise of one-half to 1 cent per liter (1 1-20 quarts) went into effect October 1.

Highest Price of Pork.

"The highest price of pork was found to be in the city of Aachen, where 50 cents per kilogram prevailed; in Hanau 47 cents, Coblenz and Neuss 45 cents, and in Trier and Breslau 43 cents. Many petitions have already been presented to the government for a temporary suspension of the tariff on meat and meat products, and petitions have also been presented to the city authorities where the octroi, or local duties are in force, to have such temporarily suspended.

"There is a strong feeling and desire that the conditions should rapidly improve, and that before the winter period arrives, for the anticipations are that the scarcity of meat will have socialistic tendencies and produce disturbed conditions in the country. Should the conditions improve it is even feared that the present high retail prices of meat would be retained for an indefinite period. If the tariff and duties should be temporarily suspended it may be of advantage to our cattle dealers and packers to watch this movement and be ready to supply the great demand for meat products here in Germany."

Europe Must Have Meat.

In this connection the report of Consul Winter of Annaberg, pertaining to the need of meat in European markets, furnishes some interesting figures about the number of cattle, sheep and hogs of the world's best stocked countries. In his communication to the state department, Mr. Winter writes:

"The United States, Argentina, Australia and Canada practically furnish the surplus meats of exports. Distance and the available amount of live stock form the factors in this export trade. The relatively greater proportions of live stock to population is found in the countries which are farthest from the big markets. The United States is nearest Europe. This country has 60,000,000 head of cattle, 62,000,000 hogs, and as many sheep to, approximately, 85,000,000 people. Australia and New Zealand are the farthest from Europe, and have 11,000,000 head of cattle, a few hogs, and 112,000,000 sheep to less than 4,300,000 population. Argentina has 27,000,000 cattle and about 110,000,000 sheep to a population of about 5,590,000 people.

Europe Compelled Import.

"The fact that the overcrowded nations of Europe must import foreign flesh foods is based upon the scarcity of their home supply. Russia in Europe, for instance, has only 24,000,000 head of cattle and 35,000,000 sheep for a population of over 90,000,000, and no other nation on the continent has as large a supply of live stock as Russia, though Germany and France have as many, if not more, per head of population. Great Britain and Ireland have only about 11,000,000 head of cattle, 6,000,000 hogs and 34,000,000 sheep for a population of nearly 43,000,000.

"It is evident that Great Britain, more than any other European nation, must look elsewhere for her meat supply. Importation of meats is a necessity, not only for Great Britain, but also for all Europe, which will always need meat. It behooves American meat producers to lose no opportunity to promote their interests in these foreign markets."

Simple Triumph of the People.

This epoch-making change, the greatest Europe has known in a full generation and one of the greatest it has known for centuries, is distinctly a triumph of the people. No revolution in history was ever more so. There have been great changes when one monarch has overthrown another or when some great popular leader has swayed a government. Not so has it been in Russia. We were commenting only the other day upon the apparent lack of leadership in the revolution. There has been no Bismarck, no "Man on Horseback," no Danton, no Mirabeau. There has been only the multitudinous mass of the Russian people, moving blindly, but with unerring instinct; at first as slowly as a glacier, at last with the fury of an avalanche.—New York Tribune.

Had His Wires Crossed.

"In the end the government will have to take complete control of the railroads. Supervision will not do. Ownership must come in the next generation," said S. H. Cowan of Texas, acting chairman of the interstate commerce law convention in Chicago. It is all right for Mr. Cowan to feel and talk that way, but he must have his wires crossed when he declares that the President is "in full accord" with that policy. In his speech at Raleigh the President said: "I should most strenuously object to government ownership of railways." Judge Cowan must have been reading Bryan's speeches instead of President Roosevelt's.—Washington Post.

And, Why Should'nt They?

The attempt to donnect Senator Penrose with a note or notes in the Enterprise National bank, notwithstanding his frequent emphatic statements to the contrary, is unjust and malicious. If Senator Penrose had such paper in the broken bank he knows quite well that an investigation would bring the fact to light and it would, therefore, be foolish for him to make such statements as he has made. Until his detractors and critics prove their assertions we believe the majority of the people will believe the senator.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Governor Herrick's Character.

Gov. Herrick, in life and principle, is a temperance man and always has been. He is an independent, self-reliant, progressive man and always has been. He has used these high qualities in giving Ohio advanced temperance legislation, and at every step has acted conscientiously on his own ideas of right, and without submitting to anybody's dictation.—Columbus State Journal.

And Downing Republican Party.

After all, the Democrats and Prohibitionists who are willing to make bedfellows of each other, or do anything else that promises spoils to divide, might get along not so badly. The latter declare they are in favor of downing the liquor traffic, and the former certainly are in favor of downing the liquor.—Johnstown Tribune.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

There was pleasant snoring for a moment and then lively sprinting for a few minutes last night for a "bum" at the Union station. When the Cleveland train arrived at 2:30 o'clock and the car inspectors began making their examinations of the trucks and wheels, one of the inspectors was suddenly amazed to see a man's shoe. He was so frightened at the sight, which he took to be the effect of a gruesome mangling of some man's body, that he shrank back from the car and extinguished his torch light. Then he mustered courage and made an investigation. He touched the shoe and found that it was on a man's foot and the foot moved slightly. Then the inspector placed his torch under the car above the truck and found a man peacefully snoring. The light made the man blink his eyes a little and the inspector put the light near the man's ear, his efforts at shaking the fellow having failed to arouse him. With an oath for the inspector, the fellow called out:

"What you doin' there?"

"What you doin' in there?" rejoined the inspector.

"I've been riding from Cleveland and almost froze."

Then the inspector went to seek help and the moment he stepped away the bum was out and made hesis into the yard. A few minutes later he walked back and approached the inspector.

"What you tryin' to spoil a feller's game for, anyhow," said he. "I was goin' to ride down to Jersey, and I'll do it yet."

"Not on any of these trains," replied the inspector, as he endeavored to head the fellow off, but the bum was too good a sprinter.

Information Bureau at Union Station.

That long-desired and much-needed information bureau at the Union station, it is understood, is to become a new phase of terminal operations with the Pennsylvania. For a long time this has been one of the most needed improvements in the otherwise excellent service at the station, but for some reason it has been operating only at such times as to create a good impression on some visiting railroaders or other distinguished guests. For instance, when the delegates of the International Railway congress visited Pittsburgh last May the bureau was in operation for that day. It made a good impression. The bureau, when it has been in operation, has been at the city end of the station, but the equipment for the stand has been removed to the east lobby of the waiting room, where a man will probably be placed in charge.

Hundreds of people who have desired information regarding arrival or departure of trains, directions about the city or any of the thousand and one things that a bureau of information at a first-class railroad station is supposed to furnish, have been required to ask any of the station attendants what they wanted to know. This may be a good thing, but the attendants have their own duties to attend to, and when a ticket agent is being asked for information when he ought to be selling tickets to a dozen waiting patrons, it is of value to the railroad company to have a special place where such information can be obtained. When nearly 400 trains are operated each day there are hundreds of people who can have their wants attended to at the information bureau.

HEAVY BURDEN IS SHIFTED ON CITY

Hamilton Avenue Viewers Make Report to Court of Assessments for Improvements.

BIGELOW DOES NOT OBJECT

In spite of the promises of Director Bigelow and Controller Larkin to repeal the ordinance for the extension of Hamilton avenue because of the extraordinary heavy assessment against the city, the report of the city board of viewers was filed with the county court yesterday by the city solicitor. The assessment of $255,075 against the city, out of a total assessment of $316,682, stands without any remonstrance from the administration. This assessment against the city is nearly 90 per cent of the whole cost of the improvement, leaving only about 10 or 12 per cent to be paid by the abutting property owners.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company are both interested in the improvement and the only assessment made against either is $8,000 against the Citizens Traction Company, a part of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Controller Larkin declared this assessment against the city to be an "outrage" and "scandal" until the controller fell under the hypnotic spell of the chief of the department of public works. Since then the controller has had nothing to say about Hamilton avenue. The award of the board of viewers was made on September 15, or nearly two months ago.

Immediately following the announcement of the award Director Bigelow said he was satisfied with it. Controller Larkin, however, denounced it by voice and through the newspapers. Then he held several conferences with Director Bigelow and his denunciation took a milder tone. In a perfunctory manner he made a feeble protest to councils but when the Republican members attempted to repeal the ordinance, they were defeated by the administration members, who declared they were in harmony with Bigelow and Larkin. Twice did the minority members in common council attempt to save the city from the burden of such an objectionable award, but in both instances the administration voted them down.

After the award was made and the viewers granted an opportunity to file exceptions, the city was not of those to object to the award. Thirty days will be allowed by the court to file appeals. The property owners, with very few exceptions, are satisfied with the award because they escape with exceedingly light assessments while the bulk of the expense is thrown upon the city. It is not expected, therefore, that any appeals will be taken.

MINISTERS WARMLY DEFEND THE PSALMS

Large Attendance at Convention and Addresses Are Made by Promient Divines.

The psalmody convention of the United Presbyterian church, in session in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, was more largely attended last night than at the opening on Tuesday night, the church being filled to the doors. The session was called to order by the Rev. W. M. Anderson of Philadelphia. The Rev. David F. McGill, chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported in favor of a petition to the general assembly for the appointment of a permanent committee whose duty it shall be to provide for future psalmody conventions in the interest of a more general use of the psalms in worship. The resolutions were adopted.

The speakers at last night's session were the Rev. Dr. John A. Henderson of Allegheny, who spoke on "The Suitableness and Sufficiency of the Psalter for Christian Worship," and the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth church, who spoke on "Christ in the Psalms."

Yesterday afternoon the Rev. Andrew Henry of Jersey City presided, and papers were read as follows: "The Psalms in the Old Testament Church;" Prof. S. A. McClenahan, D. D., Allegheny; "The Psalms in the New Testament Church," the Rev. James Park, Ph. D., Jersey City, N. J.; "A Special Exegesis of Col., iii 16, and Eph., viii," Prof. John McNaugher, D. D., Allegheny; "The Psalms in the Post-Apostolic Church," Prof. John A. Wilson, D. D., LL. D., of Pittsburgh.

The Rev. Dr. S. R. Frazier of Youngstown, O., presided at yesterday morning's session, at which papers were read by the Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillan of Allegheny, the Rev. Dr. William H. Orr of Youngstown, the Rev. Dr. William B. Sunley of Canonsburg, and the Rev. Dr. W. L. Wishart of Allegheny.

WARM TRIBUTE IS PAID TO THE CANADIAN SOCIETY

Dr James I. Hughes, the canadian educator who was at the head of the large party of Canadian teachers which visited Pittsburgh two weeks ago, has written a letter to the president and members of the Canadian Society of Pittsburgh, in which he expresses his gratitude for the warm welcome given the party. He says in part: "We hope that the Canadians in the United States may ever use their influence to promote harmony between the two great nations of the Anglo-Saxon race and we are confident that the people of Pittsburgh will form higher ideals of Canada and the Canadian people through the energy, the ability, the integrity and the brotherly spirit of the Canadian society."

HALLOWEEN TONIGHT IN LOWER ALLEGHENY

Although the Halloween demonstration in Manchester tonight will be two days late, it will be a larger affair than first planned. Many floats which had been prepared to take part in the parades in the East and West Ends, but with which the rain interfered, will contribute to the festivities in lower Allegheny tonight. Seventy-five first prizes will be distributed.

Temperance Among Young Men.

Plans for temperance work among young men of Pittsburgh and Allegheny were laid yesterday at the monthly meeting of the Young People's Missionary society of the presbyteries of the two cities. The meeting was held in the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue. Mrs. A. M. Ward was appointed secretary of the temperance campaign, and W. S. Sutton treasurer. It was decided to send a box of Christmas presents this year to the School for Freedmen at Cordele, Ga.

MILLION-DOLLAR THEATER IN VIEW

Capital Said to Be Forming to Give Independents Pittsburgh Theater.

MAY GO ON SIXTH AVENUE

By CHARLES M. BREGG.

"Without giving names, dates or locations, you can say on absolutely good authority the Shubert Brothers and their allied interests will build a theater in Pittsburgh within two years to cost $1,000,000."

That is what one of the best-posted theatrical men inside the new combine said to me on Monday. It sounds like a pipe dream, but some subsequent investigations led me to believe that in this he is correct.

A new anti-syndicate theater has been planned for this city and will be built before the end of another season. Stray rumors have been going around for more than a month to the effect that another theater was contemplated, but they have been so elusive that no one has been able to fasten one of them down.

The name of the indefatigable Harry Davis has again been brought into this connection, and it has even been said that Davis has been negotiating for the purchase of the old Third United Presbyterian church property on Sixth avenue. This rumor is not founded on fact so far as any schemes Mr. Davis may have for the building of another theater. When statements were published several weeks ago that Representative Joseph L. Rhinock of Covington, Ky., and Max Anderson of Cincinnati, had formed a coalition with the Shuberts, the talk of a new and more commodious independent house in Pittsburgh was included in the gossip.

It is doubtful if the western alliance by which the independents will secure a dozen or more theaters in populous centers of the west has any reference at all to the present plans concerning Pittsburgh.

Moneyed Men Behind Project.

Behind the Shuberts are a half-dozen or more rich young Hebrews of Rochester and New York city. A working coalition has been formed between this group of capitalists and local moneyed men, who see in the new theatrical movement a profitable investment, and who believe that in this city the independents should meet syndicate liberality and construct a playhouse that will rival in architectural beauty and modernness the big Nixon.

Out of this combination the new theater will grow.

"Where will the theater be built," I asked.

"That is still unsettled," said my informant, "and the negotiations looking to a site are necessarily being conducted with great secrecy, but you may easily guess that if the church property in Sixth avenue can be secured and money enough is ready to be risked, that site will be the logical place for the new theater. The space will admit of beautiful architectural display, and furthermore, it will put the new theater into close and direct competition with the Nixon."

The Third United Presbyterian church property is owned by H. C. Frick, but none of his real estate representatives would consent to tell whether they had been approached on the subject.

Behind this evidently sincere purpose to put another splendid theater in Pittsburgh is some of the most interesting theatrical history ever made in the United States on the merely business side. That Klaw & Erlanger, the principal booking powers of the old syndicate, offended the Shubert brothers, young men of Rochester, who had prospered in the business, is well known. That a coalition was formed between these young men, David Belasco, Miss Fiske, Perley and John C. Fisher, is also known, but it is not known that for the first time in its long career the old syndicate has really become frightened. Their movement was at first thought to be like those that had gone before. But the seriousness of the situation has at last dawned upon the theatrical world.

Drift of Public Sympathy.

In Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Milwaukee and Kansas City, the booking of independent attractions has caused public sympathy to drift in the direction of the newcomers, especially since in a half-dozen notable instances these men control the best dramatic entertainment on the stage in America.

It is now given out that the old syndicate will build a new theater in Washington, and that two of the older Philadelphia houses will be combined in one magnificent palace in Chestnut street in that city.

In Pittsburgh the immediate success of the new movement has been the chief theme in the theatrical offices on Broadway. From the time that Blanche Bates began to pack the old Duquesne, now the Belasco, theater at every performance the necessity for a larger and more commodious house began to take tangible shape. Local capital is interested in the new venture to some extent. From whom this capital may come is kept a secret, but that a new theater rivaling the Nixon in beauty and spaciousness will be built is a foregone conclusion, and plans are already in preparation for the formation of the company and the securing of architectural drawings.

AT THE THEATERS.

Musical Comedies Are Again in Vogue at the Local Theaters Next Week.

Drama and Vaudeville.

The duel scene in "The Rollicking Girl," in which Sam Bernard stars at the Nixon theater next week, causes even more excitment back of the footlights than in front. The duel is the result of a quarrel between Ilona (Miss Hattie Williams) and the leading lady of the Vienna theater (Esther Tittell), whom she supplants. According to the author, Miss Williams is supposed to be wounded, but as a matter of fact there have been many "touches" made by her, unnoticed by the audience, but watched with great interest by the members of the company.

It seems too bad that Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan company in their superb performance of "Leah Kleschna" could not remain for at least one additional week at the Belasco theater. Beginning with the opening performance last Monday, there have been a succession of crowded houses. One of the strongest attractions of the musical and operatic type that will appear at the Belasco theater this season is the one booked for that house the coming week. "Loveland" is the name of this latest "musical pastime," as it is called, and it comes to Pittsburgh after an engagement of over nine weeks at the Garrick theater, Chicago. Alexander Clark, Tony Lyons, Harry Leonard, John Keefe, Louis Keiso and the Misses Lora Leib, Mae Taylor, Mayme Keiso and Edna Dorman are among this notable cast of musical comedy favorites.

Miners, cowboys, Chinamen and Indians form an artistic background for "The Belle of the West," the new musical comedy which B. E. Forrester brings to the Alvin, starting next Monday night.

Harry B. Smith is responsible for the book and he has laid the scenes among the hills and dales of Idaho and Wyoming, which gave John Young, the scenic artist, plenty of latitude for his artistic brush. The music is the work of Karl L. Hoschna.

One of the most picturesque characters in "Marching Through Georgia," the military romance of Mr. Daniel L. Hart, which comes to the Empire next week, is Louise Madison, a girl from Texas, who is visiting friends in Georgia during Sherman's memorable march to the sea. This part, which is said to be handled so acceptably by Miss Margaret Evans, is of a girl in her teens, who has become proficient in riding broncbos on the prairies of her native state, and who is a dead shot with a rifle.

The announcement that "The Dainty Duchess" company will be the attraction at the Gayety next week is a signal that the patrons of this popular playhouse will be treated to something pleasing in this special line of entertainment. It will be remembered that this company has left a decidedly favorable impression on former visits and since then great changes have been made for the better and old ideas have given way to new ones.

"The California Girls," numbering 50, in spectacular extravaganza and fine vaudeville will be the attraction at the Academy next week. This combination is the very best in line now before the public and includes the Four Thoroughbreds, Edna Wells, Helen Russell, Evelyn Fonner, the Amatos and Ross & Adams.

The extraordinary excellence of the vaudeville at the Grand opera house this week will be equalled by the entertainment scheduled for next week. Katie Barry, the popular little English comedienne known to Pittsburghers first by her cleverness in the company which played "A Chinese Honeymoon" here, will appear in a clever specialty. The Toozoonin Arabs, acrobatic whirlwinds; Ed Reynard, the best of ventriloquists; Lew Bloom in his famous tramp impersonations, assisted by Jane Cooper are among the good things.

WILL GO TO ALASKA.

Soldiers Stationed at Allegheny Arsenal Get New Orders.

Company I, First infantry of the United States army, at Allegheny arsenal, has been ordered to Alaska instead of the Philippine islands, as first announced. The company will leave next week and report at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., where it will remain until June, when it will depart for Alaska.

The company will be succeeded at the arsenal by Company B, Ninth infantry, which has been stationed in Pekin, China, for four years. This company numbers 120 men, all of whom are six feet tall or over. Only 65 men will report here, the others are to be distributed among other companies.

MERIT ENTERS DENIAL OF PRISONER'S STATEMENT

Former Workhouse Inmate's Allegation Is Refuted by Detective and Ex-Magistrate.

The statement of an old offender in police court was yesterday made the basis for an attack on Harry M. Merit, a county detective. Thomas Saylor, arrested on the charge of stealing $18 from Carrie Harris of 207 Grant street, was given a hearing before Magistrate Kirby. He claimed to have a pool room in Grant street, which he said was frequented by Robert Murray, said to be a fugitive from justice.

Saylor told the magistrate that Detective Merit was talking to Murray and James Roberts, a "pal" of Murray, at the pool room the other night.

Merit enters a positive denial to this accusation and his decial is supported by former police magistrate, Thomas D. Stewart, who says he knows Saylor well and sentenced him twice to the workhouse for 90 days as a suspicious person.

"I do not know either Murray or Roberts and would not know them if I saw them," said Detective Merit. "It is absolutely false that I was talking to them the other night. Saylor does not keep a pool room, as he alleges. He is only a vagrant waiter. He was twice arrested and sent by Magistrate Stewart to the workhouse."

FOUR ACCIDENTS MAIM AS MANY UNFORTUNATES

The Allegheny General hospital received four accident cases yesterday. William Michel, 829 Main street, Allegheny, a Montrose pumping station engineer, had his right foot crushed by a casting falling on it. Matthew Faulker of Aspinwall, employed at the new filtration plant, suffered a broken leg when struck by a falling timber. William F. Craig, a telegraph operator at Sheraden, had three ribs broken while attempting to board a train. Louis Meyer of New Kensington had his foot crushed at the works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon put in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them, they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

COURT HEARS OBJECTIONS.

No Decisions in Protests Against the Candidacies of Hayes and Judge Ermentrout.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—There were two hearings today in the Dauphin county court in contested nomination papers. The objections of the Elk county Democrats to the papers of Luther A. Hayes, nominee of the Taxpayers Protective party for associate judge of Elk county, were heard first. The papers were objected to on the ground that they did not contain the requisite number of signers and the signers were not qualified.

The objections to the amended papers nominating Judge James N. Ermentrout, Democrat, as the Lincoln party candidate for judge of Berks county, were also heard. These papers are objected to on the ground the vouchers do not attest the handwriting of the signers, but merely certify to the names on the papers. Decisions in both cases are expected tomorrow.

A Black Derby Hat for that price wouldn't interest many men until they learn that these are virtually $3.00 and $4 Hats.

The maker who is very jealous of his established reputation for highest class goods has in his employ an inspector whose vigilance is something fearful—no blemish, no matter how unimportant, escapes his attention.

These Hats came to him from the workrooms seemingly perfect.

But Lo! and behold, he said they were off in weight—that is, slightly thicker in some places than in others.

Without further parley they were "seconds"—and on the market at a greatly reduced figure.

Same style, quality and appearance as our $3.00 and $4.00 Hats—and honestly, in our estimation, they will give as much service.

CRITICS VIEW ART COLLECTION

Pictures by Famous Artists Are on Exhibition at the Carnegie Galleries.

PORTRAITS PREDOMINATE

Walls full of figures and portraits, a fair sparkling of landscapes depicting the influence of various schools, a sufficient number of examples of the impressionistic, a few striking marines and scarcely any works from still life constitute the tenth annual exhibit at the Carnegie art galleries. The directors of the Carnegie Institute and their close friends and representatives of the newspapers last night enjoyed the first glimpse of the new collection and talked glibly of art—and Pittsburghers are able to show reasonable acquaintance with the genius of the world's best painters. Of course, there is a little excuse for exaggeration in the enthusiasm of press night.

Comparisons are truly odious and especially of the various years' exhibitions at the Carnegie galleries. Efforts have been made to vary the class of works, and in the selection of a new jury every year it is to be expected that there shall be diverse standards of criticism. Pittsburgh art lovers profit in the end, because it gives them the benefit of the judgment of all the cliques and the whims of all coteries in both Europe and America.

Preponderence of Potraits.

Opinions vary as to the relative merits of the exhibitions which have been held in Pittsburgh, but the preponderence of figures and portraits is so great that it leaves something to be desired by the casual visitor and to him unschooled in the technique of art. Another marked feature in the present collection is the palpable partiality shown toward landscapes, which recalls last year's first prize winner. When Elmer Schofield painted his remarkable winter scene, "Across the River," which captured the coveted medal and $1,000, he no doubt set the pace of other artists of less renown. There are half a score of pictures on the walls which recall Schofield's treatment and schemes of color. There is creditable merit in all, but none approach the deft skill of Schofield, who for years has been painting old winter's gloom and sorrow, or occasionally, as he did in "Across the River," puts a ray of hope on the old fellow's grim countenance. To say the least, it must be confessed that there is a certain monotony apparent in so many winter landscapes in proportion to the size of the collection.

The most striking picture in the collection and the one which probably got more than its full share of the attention of last night's critical audience, is Lucien Simon's large canvas entitled "Evening in the Studio." It is in the middle gallery and has a choice position, and is more conspicuous because it is the largest picture in the collection. Simon is a Frenchman and his work is not new to Pittsburghers, because he received honorable mention for a picture in the competition at the Carnegie galleries in 1899. This also probably caused the visitors to cluster about his work.

"An Evening in the Studio" takes you over the sea and turns back time about a quarter of a century. It is a scene which instantly tells that it is the story of an artist's family and his close associates gathered for an evening to view his latest work. There is evidence of much attention to detail in the figures, but what has been left to the imagination as to the picture which the studio contains, but which the audience in the gallery does not see, is indeed cleverly done.

Picture That Bears Study.

In the studio one sees a flaring red carpet, dull walls and an odd lot of furniture. On a mantelpiece the artist has been bold enough to paint a clock of the sort that is "made in Germany," and fixes the hands pointing to 20 minutes to 7—probably it is just after dinner. The studio is in disorder, but that is to be expected in the den of a lover of art. It is lacking in the bohemian atmosphere, because two sweet-faced children are there. Simon has painted something that bears study and the more it is studied the more impressive is its story.

In its company on the wall are the sublime and—it would be proper to say the grotesque, but a portrait by Miss Clara F. MacChesney of Francis Wilson, the comic opera comedian, in a billboard pose, hardly dignifies the environment of the Frenchman's elaborate work. Miss MacChesney has painted a striking portrait and probably she had not studied the billboards, so she is to be forgiven for a seeming imitation of the lithographer.

On the other side of the Simon is a characteristic portrait of a young matron by Miss Cecilia Beaux, the Philadelphia artist, who has won two prizes at the local galleries.

Two Views of Spring.

Higher up on the wall is a novel little painting by George W. Sotter of Pittsburgh, with the common title of "Spring." Edward J. Steichen has another "Spring" with "opalescent twilight." Mr. Sotter is modest and has affected no subtitles, but he might be pardoned if he had called his subject "the amethyst haze" because he depicts a landscape showing the trees before the buds shoot forth and before the turf dons the luxury of the verdant sod—before the spring poet tunes his lyre. Another good contribution by Mr. Sotter is a picturesque scene by the Ohio river.

Henry Dukem, of Paris, shows the "Walk in Winter." It is a snow picture with foot tracks everywhere, reminding one of a country schoolyard after the youngsters had played fox and geese for a whole week. John W. Alexander, whose work is familiar to all Pittsburghers, is represented on the same wall by "The Lady in Green," for which he was awarded a medal at the St. Louis world's fair. It is typical of Alexander. Turning to the left a work of astonishing boldness in treatment is seen by Rupert C. W. Bunny, an Australian painter, who resides in Paris. It is a wild dream of realism emphasized by swans, embroidered sofa pillows and a pug dog.

Impressive Evening Landscape.

Over in the corner is William Blecksmann's "Returning Home," a delicious evening landscape, which some people last night said looked "like a Corot with sheep substituted for nymphs." It is as impressive as the first stanza in Gray's "Elegy."

On the middle wall is Edward W. Redfield's winter landscape, "From the Crest." It recalls Schofield's "Across the River" so closely that the canvasses might be mistaken if viewed at a distance, unless the critic's eyes were exceedingly sharp. It is a powerful picture and has all the strength of Redfield's treatment. However, it lacks the subtle touched with distinguished last year's prize winner. Other pictures of the same type are contributed by C. M. Young, Charles D. Rosen and Charles H. Woodbury.

Close to the entrance of the gallery is Childe Hassam's effort—a wierd conception of "June," gorgeous in misty, nude figures, fanciful flowers, a sky like Paradise and a wind-tossed perspective. Hassam is to be criticised on his own standard, like his friend, Aman-Jean, who was associated with him on last year's jury. M. Aman-Jean has two portraits that are less impressionistic than those formerly submitted here. Mr. Hassam's impressionistic style has grown even more erratic.

Old Chelsea Church.

A little picture of old Chelsea church, showing its transcept and gloomy aisles, has an interesting anecdote in connection with its coming to Pittsburgh. It was painted by Miss Milly Childers of London, England. C. H. E. Childers of this city, a brother of the artist, some time ago advised Miss Childers to enter the Carnegie competition. Miss Childers, offering was accepted and Mr. Childers did not know that she had complied with his request until he found the picture on the walls. Miss Childers has faithfully depicted the atmosphere of an old world sanctuary.

Joseph Woodwell of Pittsburgh, is represented by two canvases. A picture of Havana harbor with old Cabanas castle and its historic lighthouse have been treated with a thorough knowledge of the golden glow that sets on the southern seas and it is admirable in the painter's conception of the sublimity of the scene.

A picture that received much attention from the press view critics was one which was commented upon both pro and con is E. A. Hornel's "Swans and Water Lilies." Hornel is a Scotchman and with a sort of mosaic treatment has shown remarkable skill in his task of depicting a subject, with white and blue monopolizing his whole canvas.

Studies in Still Life.

Studies in still life are but five in number, but are notable for their elaborate treatment. William J. Glackens has essayed the unusual attempt of painting a group at a music hall and succeeds with adroitness of detail.

Conspicuous among the many portraits is Irving B. Wiles' portrait of his wife and daughter. It is an exquisite picture of two beautiful women. There are children's pictures that make people feel better, and figures that tell mute stories of the whole gamut of human affections and passions. The most notable portrait is that of Admiral Melville. A picture by J. H. Wismuller, of Amsterdam, entitled "A Summer Day," was picked by many of last night's visitors as the prize winner.

It was a delighted crowd and the audience was not stinting in its praises of the collection. Director John W. Beatty who is in charge of the art galleries, says of the result of the [illegible] work:

A Representative Exhibition.

"The exhibition this year is broadly representative of the art of the world. Paintings were received from England, Scotland, France, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy, in addition to the offerings from this country. The paintings submitted for the consideration of the advisory committee in Paris alone, numbered 500. The total number of works entered this year exceeded the number of any previous year, and the number of accepted works is greater than that of any former year.

"I presume it may be said that the Institute's annual exhibition is the only international exhibition held in America. Here it is our purpose to assemble each year a representative collection of contemporaneous works; and the visitor may really study the tendencies of modern art as represented by the masters of Europe and America. A greater number of works may, of course, be seen by visiting the annual exhibitions in England, France and Germany, but I doubt if as comprehensive a view of modern art may be secured elsewhere, because here the works of all nations are comprehended in a comparatively small and carefully selected collection."

GERMANS ATTACK NATIVES.

Fight Long Engagement, but Are Too Much Exhausted to Follow Retreating Enemy.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—An official dispatch from German Southwest Africa says that Lieut.-Gen. von Trotha, the commander-in-chief of the forces, recently attacked an entrenched force of rebellious natives on the Orange river, east of Hartebeestmund, under the command of Morengo, Morris and Christian.

The fighting lasted several hours, until nightfall. Three German officers and 13 men were killed and three officers and 31 men were wounded and five are missing. The rebels, who lost heavily, drew off during the night. The troops were too exhausted to follow them.

Tender Pastor a Reception.

The Rev. C. L. E. Cartwright, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Braddock, was tendered a reception last evening. He was welcomed on behalf of the official board by George H. Lamb; on behalf of the Sunday school, by Supt. John W. Hanna, for the Epworth league by Malcomn Grierson, and for the choir by Fred W. Edwards.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed conterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

EQUITABLE HAS CELEBRATION

President Morton Is Delighted With Work Done in the Pittsburgh District.

PROPHESIES A GREAT FUTURE

Officers and agents of the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society last evening celebrated the 14th annual convention and the 25th anniversary of the founding of the local agency, at the Hotel Schenley with a dinner. The event was made of national importance in the Equitable society, as the local agency had for its principal guests Paul Morton, president of the society; Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president, Medical Director Franklin C. Wells and Willis F. McCook, Esq., of Pittsburgh, a director. The local agents and their wives and a number of out-of-town agents, with their wives, also attended the dinner. There were about 375 persons present.

At the celebration yesterday President Morton made his first official appearance as head of the Equitable society, and his presence at the 25th anniversary of the local agency, which he declared to be the biggest in the world, was taken as a special honor by Edward A. Woods, manager of the local agency, and the agents of the society throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Thousands Attended Reception.

During the day Mr. Morton and the other officers of the society held a reception in the Pittsburgh agency's rooms in the Frick building, from 3 to 4 o'clock. Several thousand persons, many of whom were policy holders in the Equitable society, took the opportunity to meet Mr. Morton and Mr. Tarbell.

At noon the wives of the out-of-town agents were tendered a luncheon at the Country club in Beechwood boulevard by Mrs. Edward A. Woods. Mrs. Woods and her guest went to the Country club in special cars from the Frick building. After the lunch the party returned and all the agents and their wives were presented to President Morton, Vice President Tarbell, Medical Director Wells, Mr. Woods and the other officers.

Previous to the dinner last evening Mr. and Mrs. Woods received alone in the library at the Schenley, where policyholders and guests of the Pittsburgh agency were presented to the officers.

The dinner began at 6:30 o'clock and was held in the large banquet room at the Schenley. The speakers' table was decorated with white chrysanthemums, while the stage and the room were decorated with palms and the side chandeliers with ferns and vines. At the conclusion of the dinner the big banquet hall was cleared and rearranged into an assembly room. Mr. Woods presided as toastmaster and introduced the speakers.

First Appearance as President.

President Morton took, at his first public appearance as president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, the opportunity to outline his ideas of how a big life insurance company should be conducted. He paid particular at en ion to the policyholders of the society and spoke in highly complimentary terms of Mr. Woods and the work being done in this section by the officers and agents of the Pittsburgh agency.

Vice President Tarbell, who is at the head of the agents' department of the society, delivered an eloquent address, in which he reviewed the achievements of the Pittsburgh agency in its history of 25 years, and declared that out of all the life insurance societies in America and all those in the rest of the whole world there are not 20 which have made such a record in 25 years as has been made by the Pittsburgh agency.

The leading agency throughout the whole world for October was the Pittsburgh agency, and it has also captured the distinction of being the leader of all other agencies for new business done during the first 10 months of the year. As the leading personal writer for the month of October, Mr. Tarbell stated Lawrence C. Woods' name is at the head of the list. Since 1859, when the Equitable society was organized, Mr. Tarbell stated that life insurance in the United States has increased 12,000 per cent, while the increase in railroad assets during 50 years have been less than 1,100 per cent.

A Great City of Business.

President Morton in his address told of his former visits to Pittsburgh when he was in search of freight business, and not life insurance. He told of the mills and industrial plants of 25 years ago and said their great growth shows that there is no better place for business than Pittsburgh. He predicted an increase of 50,000,000 population in the United States within the next 50 years, when this country will be the greatest food producing and industrial nation in the whole world. By that time, Mr. Morton said, the big financial centers of the world will have been transferred to this side of the Atlantic. Insurance companies will also have been straightened out and the Equitable Life Assurance society will be the greatest of them all.

Mr. Morton said 1905 will be remembered as the year of life insurance investigations, and all the other life insurance companies will have to take their turn in coming under the calcium light. Life insurance, he said, is one of the grandest things in the world, and referred to the Frick report on the Equitable affairs as a courageous document. Mr. Morton declared the Equitable is as sound as the Bank of England, and the greatest thing to be feared is hasty and unwise legislation.

At the conclusion of the speeches Henry Powell, manager of the Equitable Louisville agency, which is the second largest in the United States, presented Manager Woods with a silver fruit dish on behalf of all the managers of Equitable agencies in the country. In accepting the gift Mr. Woods stated the Equitable is fast becoming a society controlled by western men, most of whom are over six feet tall.

PROBING OF INSURANCE BRINGS HIGH STANDARD

President Paul Morton Says That Investigations of the Past Year Demonstrate Stability.

Great applause greeted President Morton when he was called upon for the feature of the evening, his address. He received close attention. Mr. Morton said:

I congratulate the Pittsburgh agency on its quarter-century celebration, and I hope its next twenty-five years will prove even more satisfactory in results than the one just passed.

Twenty-five years is a long time to remain in one community and maintain the good will of your neighbors and when a man has accomplished this he has indeed shown progress and demonstrated that he has the right material in him.

I congratulate you, Mr. Woods, on your record. It is something to be proud of.

There have been tremendous changes in this country in twenty-five years. There have been a few changes in the city of Pittsburgh. I remember very well, as the assistant general freight agent of the C., B. & Q. R. R., coming to Pittsburgh frequently about that many years ago, and some of the big concerns of that day are now out of business altogether, while some of the smaller concerns are bigger than ever. Pittsburgh was then nothing but a way station on the Pennsylvania system; now it is the banner freight-producing station in all the world.

I often wonder at the progress we have made in the United States in the last quarter century, and I ask myself is there anybody who can predict what and where we will be twenty-five years hence? By that time we will have a population more than fifty millions in excess of what we now have, and by that time we, as a nation will be, as we are now, not only the greatest producers of foodstuffs and the busiest workshop in the world, but we probably will have seen the financial center of the globe transferred from London to New York. There is much in store for the people of this country if they will follow conservative lines.

Assets $4,000,000,000.

By that time insurance affairs will have been completely straightened out, and I have not the slightest doubt that the Equitable will then, as now, be the most gigantic, the most conservative, and the best insurance company in the world. It certainly will if you agents of Pittsburgh keep up your pace, and if we can find equally as energetic representatives in other sections of the country. I am not trying to flatter you. I am only telling you what is so.

I have asked the actuary of our society—Mr. Van Cise—a very wise and very conservative man—to tell me what the assets of the Equitable will be in 1930, provided we continue to grow in the next 25 years as we have the last quarter of a century. I said to him that in the year 1880 our assets were $11,000,000 and our surplus $6,000,000. Now they are 10 times as great. Can we expect in that time that they will be 10 times greater than they are now? Mr. Van Cise replied: "If the geometrical progression of the Equitable shall be the same during the next 25 years as during the past 25 years the assets of the society in 1930 will be about $4,000,000,000 and the surplus about $2,000,000,000.

If our arithmetical progression shall be the same during the next quarter of a century as during the last quarter, our assets in 1930 will be about $800,000,000 and our surplus about $150,000,000.

I have no prophetic gift, but I am quite certain that after the present excitement shall be over, the progress of the Equitable will be steady and sure. And it seems probable unless the business of the society shall be limited by law, or the voluntary action of its managers, that in the year 1930 its assets will reach $2,000,000,000 and its surplus $200,000,000.

Pace Is Too Fast.

None of the large companies can expect so large a growth in the future as in the past, but as already stated, I see no reason to question the healthy and steady growth of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. I believe it is present management, which will stand for things solid rather than brilliant.

I do not believe we will have any such growth. I expect to see the very strenuous race for business cease. I do not look on it with any favor. Humanity, I am not in favor of race suicide, but I think the particular place to see the biggest will be found by the quiet mind, or the calm, deliberate judgment of those in charge.

What we want to aim for is not quantity, but quality. We do not want size, but safety and satisfaction, when we ask a man to insure with us, we want to know positively, to start with, that we are certain we believe the proposition we are backing up with our signature as far as it is possible, all estimates—all illustrations—all promises of every kind which we are not sure ourselves can be carried out. It will be our aim to perform more than we promise—it will be agreeable to have people commend rather than condemn us. No good life insurance agent will overdraw the picture that we must unveil at the maturity of our contract with policyholders.

I have been much disappointed in not being able before this to present the report of the expert accountants. It is no fault of theirs, and no fault of mine. The delay is being caused by the length of time it takes to get our foreign buildings appraised, and by the very great work of valuing the real estate we own, and have mortgages on, in this country. It is a much greater task than any of us have thought for, and having waited so long I have thought best (and the board of directors have agreed with me) not to put out a statement until I could put out a complete one which could be properly certified to in all its particulars. It will be as of September 30th, instead of June 30th, as at first contemplated.

No Assets Are Missing.

One thing I am happy to tell you: Our assets are all on hand. None of them are missing. Some of our real estate has been carried at too high a valuation, everything considered, and some of our bank and trust company stocks have been valued too high on the basis of what they might be sold for quickly, but whatever the change in the valuation of assets may be, it will in no way reduce the income of the society, and I promise you that the reduction in expenses of administration, if capitalized, would more than make good any apparent reduction in our assets. The reduction in expenditures will be greater than I have ever promised. I have urged the greatest conservatism in revaluations and our expert accountants will inflate nothing, but give us rock bottom figures.

While on my feet I want to say a few words to you about rebates. We are violently opposed to them. Nothing so depreciates the value of what you have for sale as to voluntarily reduce it yourself. Either insurance is too high, commissions are too great or rebating should cease altogether. I know this is not a rebate agency. I am glad of it. I want to use it as a standard for other agencies.

Before closing I want to reiterate what I said to you at the Manhattan beach convention on politics. I believe that the insurance business should be properly safeguarded with reasonable laws, and that it should be the duty of every officer and every agent to oppose nothing in the way of legislation that is wise or proper, but I am vigorously against all kinds of "strike" legislation, and believe that it has been greatly stimulated by the success it has heretofore met with. It will be the policy not in any way to yield to demands or threats from such a source, and I have a positive conviction that while in some instances we may get unfair, even vicious laws, in the long run we will be decidedly better off if we stand steadfast for principles and not bow to expediency. If laws are passed which greatly cripple the insurance business, we will make the best of it, but we much prefer to be struck down to being "held up."

A Year of Investigation.

Most of you have seen very interesting years in the life insurance business, but I take it that even the closest life insurance man present has never seen a year of so much excitement in insurance circles as 1905. It has been a year of suspicion and investigation. Everybody has been suspected and if any company has not been under the calcium light of investigation it should not be uneasy on the ground that it may be overlooked. Not only the great state of New York, but the American people generally are searching for information in regard to the life insurance business as everywhere conducted in the United States. All of this examination proves beyond any question that life insurance is one of the greatest benefits of civilization.

The Equitable has had more than its full share of investigation. There was the report of the Frick committee (which, permit me to say, was a most courageous document); there was the inquiry of the superintendent of insurance of the state of New York, the preliminary report of which came out during the summer, the final report has just been finished, but not yet made public; there is the most exhaustive and thorough examination of the society by expert accountants, employed by me, which is not yet finished but which will be completed in time for the next monthly meeting of the board of directors. This examination is in regard to all values of every kind, including the real estate owned all over the world, or loaned upon, as well as all the other affairs of the society. As I have already stated, revaluations will be most conservative. In addition to these investigations there is the New York legislative committee work, which is now in progress.

New Standard of Corporate Morality.

In my opinion, these examinations are all going to do the cause of life insurance much good, in time. They have all shown that there is no question about the solvency of the big companies. Certainly that has been made very manifest so far as the Equitable society is concerned. It is as sound as the Bank of England. These investigations have had the effect of making directors more responsible, officers more careful and policyholders to take notice. They have all started a new standard of corporate morality which is sure to find its way into the management of all the great institutions of the country. The only thing to be afraid of is hasty and unwise legislation. Every policyholder, every agent and every officer of every insurance company should take an interest in seeing that the right kind of legislation only is enacted into law. It is my honest opinion that nothing in the way of reform that has ever taken place in this country will bring about ultimately more benefits than these very same investigations of the insurance companies, and I predict that you, the policyholders and the agents of the society, the men who produced the business, will sooner or later reap the harvest that should logically follow.

The new directors of the society are all policyholders—all of them have been nominated by the trustees, Messrs. Cleveland, Westinghouse, O'Brien—they have been chosen solely with the view that they are to look after the interests of policyholders and I take much satisfaction in closing my remarks with the statement that in every regard the new management will so conduct the affairs of the society that policyholders will get all the benefits they are entitled to.

TARBELL PAYS TRIBUTE TO PITTSBURGH AGENCY

Tells of Work Accomplished by Manager Woods and Associates—Refers to Controversy.

Vice President Tarbell in his address paid a high tribute to Manager Woods, his agents and the officers of the Equitable society. He said in part:

The leading agency throughout the world for October was Pittsburgh. The leading agency throughout the world for the first 10 months of this year was Pittsburgh. And that has been the record nearly every year for a good part of the time that makes up this period that we are celebrating here tonight. And I see that for the month of October, out of the 50 leaders there are nine from this one agency. I will only say to you, Mr. Woods that I only know of one thing in connection with the Equitable that has eclipsed all of your glorious records, and that is in the marvelous growth of the restoration of confidence that has followed Mr. Morton's five months' record with the Equitable.

Let me for a moment compare life insurance with the growth of our material wealth in our whole country. The years from 1850 to 1900, the years in which I can get the figures, the growth in the United States in material assets was less than 500 per cent. Does not life insurance, which has increased 1,300 per cent, make a mighty picture?

Now, under those circumstances, is it really wonderful that there should come into this business somewhere a little dirt; that there should possibly be something that was a little unclean; something that we ought to get rid of? Why, our government itself has had it; railroads have had it, and that great system which we could not get along without, of Federal banking has had it. We should all congratulate ourselves here tonight upon the fact that there were in the Equitable itself, when this said, when they found anything there that was not right, that it must be eradicated at all hazards. It did not come from without, it came from within. And there were men who would not have stayed within that company unless that housecleaning could have been made and made thoroughly (applause).

I have never had any concern about the Equitable, because I knew that enough had not been done there to materially affect it, but I have had a great deal of concern for our policyholders, lest some of them should be deceived by the misleading articles that have appeared in some of the papers in this country, and induced by reason thereof to drop their policies thereby bringing to themselves only loss. If they were in danger of sustaining. And every man who drops his policy does sustain a loss, as he will lose a part or all of his reserve, and a part or all of his surplus.

Attorney Willis F. McCook, the Pittsburgh representative on the board of directors, said:

It was recently said by a gentleman who was a director in many large corporations in New York city that the director of a large bank, railroad, trust company or insurance company, was a wholly negative quantity. I have accepted the position of director in order to be a live one, and I go there feeling that I peculiarly and exclusively represent the policy holders of this society in Pittsburgh, but with all my modesty I cannot bring myself to believe that I go there as a negative quantity. Mr. Tarbell has said that if there are men in that society who are useless they will be kicked out, and he has spoken right. We have a board of directors in that society, now constituting a majority of the policy holders, who hold the policies of that society, and they are very thorough, in earnest and fully persuaded that they can make the executive officers of that society and that they can unmake them. That is my conception of the position of the directors. Mr. Morton and Mr. Tarbell will tell you they are impressed with the same feeling I am, that the board of directors now sitting in that society, selected by the trustees from among the policy holders, are there to do their duty and their whole duty.

Manager Woods' remarks were full of interest to his guests. He said:

Mr. Morton, I take pleasure in presenting to you a list of the business written by the members of the Pittsburgh agency during the month of October. It was written in anticipation of your visit, which we are now enjoying. Eighty-four different agents produce 356 applications for $1,500,400. This is 75 times the business produced during the first year of this agency; it is five times the amount the Equitable had in force in this district when the agency commenced, and, with the exception of last October, when we exceeded any previous October by 60 per cent, it is the largest business secured in any October in the history of this agency, and was done in honor of your visit.

It may interest you to know that the amount of insurance carried in the Equitable by people in this room tonight aggregates $8,276,000, something over one-tenth of the total amount of insurance carried in our territory. If it were not for the unfortunate death of the senior member of a firm which has for years been carrying a million and a quarter insurance with us, the most heavily insured firm in the town we should have nearly nine millions and a half of life insurance carried or paid for by the guests at this dinner tonight.

My first and only request of our new executive head has been that he should make his first official visit to any agency of the society to the Pittsburgh agency upon this occasion. In the course of 25 years of the history of this agency we have been signally honored a great many times by men from the chief executive of the nation on down; but I do not think, considering all the circumstances, considering the arduous work that our executive has done, under very trying circumstances, and the great drain upon his time and strength that we have ever been as conspicuously honored as we have been tonight by the favorable answer that he gave to my request, followed by the presence here tonight of our new president, Mr. Paul Morton.

Medical Director Wells spoke on the things that have been accomplished in the past 25 years, and said that the 25 years to come will mark the epoch of great achievement. Institutions will grow greater and monuments will be built in remembrance of great deeds. While the great industries of the country are growing bigger, the Pittsburgh agency will continue to be not only the great est in America, but in the whole world.

NEW YORK CROWD TEARS DOWN A HEARST BANNER

Cuts Great Red Flag to Pieces, but Guards Stars and Stripes Used by Supporters of McClellan.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A crowd numbering a thousand or more persons attacked and tore down an anti-Hearst banner in Union square today. The banner was similar to the one put up in Park Row yesterday and which was taken down last night by orders of Mayor McClellan, after a demonstration had been made by a large crowd at the city hall.

Today's crowd gathered shortly after 12 o'clock and soon began an attack, seeking to tear down a red flag supported by a hand labeled "Hearst." They succeeded in doing this and along with it another flag, the Stars and Stripes, supported by a hand marked "McClellan." The red flag was cut to pieces and the remnants covered the pavement.

The American flag was carefully preserved and guarded until the police arrived and took possession of it. The police made no arrests. Underneath the two flags was the motto, "Under which flag?"

PRINCE LOUIS MADE WELCOME

Admiral Evans and His Fleet Salute Royal Naval Officer and Official Visits Are Paid.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 1.—Greeted by the commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet, the superintendent of the naval academy and the governor of Maryland, Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg and the armored cruiser squadron under his command, have been made to know and feel that they are heartily welcomed to American waters and American soil.

Twenty-one guns from the Drake announced the approach up Chesapeake bay this morning, shortly after 9 o'clock of Prince Louis' squadron. After the customary salutes and the official visits between the officers of the fleets and the prince had taken place, and after a visit to Admiral Sands at the naval academy, Prince Louis was taken to the governor's mansion to meet Gov. Warfield. The feature of tomorrow's program will be a review of the midshipmen and a reception by Admiral Sands.

SAYS FRAUD WAS COMMITTED.

Architect Powell of Philadelphia Makes a Report to Mayor Weaver.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—According to a report made to Mayor Weaver today by W. Bleddyn Powell, the city architect, the city of Philadelphia has been defrauded out of thousands of dollars in the construction of six pavilions for consumptives on the grounds of the Philadelphia hospital.

"The pavilions," he says, "are not constructed according to the plans and specifications upon which the work was bid and the contract awarded. Numerous and substantial changes were made after the award, which favored the contractors financially at the expense of the city and the fitness of the buildings."

DREAMS OF VICTORY AND TALKS TO PRESS

Col. J. M. Guffey Gives Product of His Political Beliefs on the Campaign.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Col. James M. Guffey, leader of the Democratic state organization, spent the day in conference here with City Chairman Donnelly and others prominent in Democratic and Fusion circles. Mr. Guffey gave some attention to the meeting to be held in the Academy of Music tomorrow night. William H. Berry and Homer L. Castle are to be the principal speakers. For publication Col. Guffey made the following statement:

"In the campaign of 1901 Harris' majority for state treasurer in Allegheny county was 27,896. Pennypacker's majority in 1902 was 49,591. In 1903 Mathues, the present state treasurer, had a majority of 69,847. Under existing conditions in Allegheny county, I am fully warranted in saying that Berry will carry the county.

"The statement made at Harrisburg last week, after the reports of the eastern county chairman that Berry would go to Philadelphia county with 60,000 majority, has been more than confirmed by the meeting of the county chairmen on counties west of the mountains, held in Pittsburgh last Saturday. The revolution in Philadelphia ought to give Berry the county, for surely the state needs redemption as badly as does the city of Philadelphia. That Berry's campaign is daily improving all over the state cannot be questioned, and that his election is now assured, I do not doubt."

MT. UNION EASY FOR W. U. P. TEAM

Ohioans Defeated in Practice Game by Large Score of 57 to 0.

DUFFY MAKES A LONG RUN

The Mt. Union college team of Alliance, O., afforded the W. U. P. football squad a fair practice game yesterday. The Ohioans were outweighed considerably, and their defense was too porus to withstand the hammering of the heavy W. U. P. back field men. The final score of the day was 57 to 0, against the visitors, of course.

The substitutes were used in the first half, and they ran up 27 points. The subs had little difficulty in scoring. Springer made two touchdowns, Mackrell, Frye and Q. Banbury, one each. Turner kicked two goals and Leidenroth one. It was John Mackrell's first appearance in the W. U. P. lineup and he did very well. In this half Sewnson ran back a kickoff 65 yards, and with a clear field fell after hurdling the only man in the back field.

Mount Union held the varsity for downs early in the second half on its 20-yard line. Art Gregg was responsible for this, as he failed to follow his interference and was hurled back for a loss of five yards. Toward the close of the first half McDermitt tried a goal from the field from the W. U. P. 25-yard line. His attempt did not go far from the posts. This kick and the holding of W. U. P. were Mount Union's best plays except its tackling. The lineup:

Preparing for Saturday.

The Lyceum squad was out in full force last night in anticipation of its game next Saturday with Steubenville. The plays were run off with such celerity and smoothness that it reminded one of the Lyceum team of 1904.

SPORTING NOTES.

At Sharon on Tuesday night H. P. Stofft, of Cleveland, defeated Alfred Debro at pool by a score of 150 to 149.

The Western league will hold its annual meeting at Chicago next Saturday at the Grand Pacific hotel. It is likely the St. Joe team will be transferred to Lincoln.

Ted Sloan is considering two offers of going on the stage. One is in vaudeville and carries a salary of $1,500 a week. The other is to take the part of George M. Cohan in "Little Johnny Jones." Sloan likes that better, and if he can get a little raise in the matter of salary he says he will accept it.

The Cincinnati Reds are now claiming Hans Lobert for next season to take the place of Henry Steinfeldt at third base.

Charles Browning, a brother of Louis Rogers Browning, the "baseball gladiator" and king batsman in his day, who died recently, is dead at Louisville. He was sick when "Old Pete" died, and the shock, it is said, hastened the end.

Frank V. Dunn is in Boston to complete the deal for the National league team there.

The trade between the Cincinnati and New York clubs whereby Roger Bresnahan will be exchanged for Cy Seymour is all in the air. It is also said that Sam Wertes will be traded for Pitcher Jacob Harper.

California people want the champion Giants to train in their state next spring. The Chicago Cubs will not visit the coast next year.

EAST LIBERTY IS BEATEN 18 TO 0

Pittsburgh High School Runs Ends for Large Gains—Makes Three Touchdowns.

M'KEESPORT WINS ITS GAME

The Pittsburgh High school eleven defeated the East Liberty Academy team at Friendship park yesterday afternoon, 18 to 0. The field was slippery, but strange enough, the big gains were made on end runs. Capt. Worrell made the first, it being for 50 yards. East Liberty opened the game by kicking to Orr. High school was compeled to kick, but the ball was fumbled, a high school player falling on it. On the next play Worrell circled right end for 30 yards. Page next took the ball and would probably have made a touchdown had he not slipped. As it was he made 25 yards. High school could not do much at hitting the line and McAllister was sent around right end for the first touchdown. Watterson kicked goal.

East Liberty kicked to Watterson, who fumbled the ball, Carter falling on it. East Liberty then advanced the ball to High school's 10-yard line where it was held. Worrell then started the good work for High school by making a pretty run of 45 yards around left end. Page followed this up with a splendid run of 35 yards around the other end. The High school team had been held for one down when time was called, the ball being on East Liberty academy's 5-yard line. The second half opened by High school kicking to Carter, who was downed in his tracks. East Liberty academy lost on downs and on the first play McAllister ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Haggerty kicked goal. The lineup:

JIM HART RETIRES.

Transfers All His Stock in the Chicago Club to Charles Murphy, Late of New York.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—By the formal transfer today of the ownership of the Chicago National league baseball club, James A. Hart, after a quarter of a century as one of the foremost characters of the national game, retires from active participation in professional baseball and is succeeded by Charles W. Murphy, who has been a resident of Chicago for some time. Immediately following the announcement of the legal transfer of the stock, it was announced that deals are almost closed for further strengthening the National league club, which recently won the championship of Chicago.

"Today marks my retirement from baseball," said Mr. Hart, and a chief source of gratification to me is the fact that the Chicago baseball club easily wins the local championship and is regarded as a model organization of young, capable and loyal baseball players."

"Frank L. Chance will handle the managerial reins," said President Murphy, "as he is not only a great all-round player, but is undoubtedly a manager of ability and rare skill. I shall try to carry out Mr. Hart's well-defined policy anent clean baseball and do all in my power to uplift the game. I shall always be for the general good of the sport.

"I think I am also particularly fortunate in having such a man as Charles P. Taft associated with me as a stockholder. He has been a lover of baseball since he played it at Yale, and takes great pride in the long and honorable record of the National league. We have in mind several improvements, but at this time cannot explain just what we contemplate. My first efforts will be directed in trying to strengthen our already strong team, so that it will be an honor and a credit to the city. Charles G. Williams will continue as secretary and treasurer."

TRIAL OF RIVAL HOUNDS.

UPPERVILLE, VA., Nov. 1.—American foxhounds from the Grafton hunt and English foxhounds from the Middlesex hunt began their contest today. Among those who rode yesterday were: Mrs. Thomas Pierce, Boston; Mrs. Ladenburg, New York; Mrs. Grafton Abbott, Boston; Mrs. La Boutiss, New York; Mrs. Henderson, Virginia; Miss Dulaney, Grafton Hall, and Miss Lenon, Welbourne.

HORSE SHOW ENTRIES EXCEED LAST YEAR'S

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There is an entry list of about 1,700 for the annual horse show at the Madison Square Garden during the week beginning November 12. The entries already number 250 more than in last year's show. J. H. Moore, of Chicago, has entered 100 horses, headed by his hackney, Forest King.

Westminster in a Slump.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Westminster had its first practice scrimmage since the Grove City game today and the team seems to be deteriorating rather than improving. The scrubs tore holes through the varsity line, and the varsity men had great difficulty in advancing the ball. Captain Locke was not present as he officiated at the Allegheny-Geneva game at Meadville. The varsity show carelessness in its work. Grier, the left halfback on the scrub team, caught a punt behind his goal line and run the entire length of the field to a touchdown. The coaches may start preliminary work again if the team does not brace up.

Teddy, Jr., Likes Boxing.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who attended the Goodman-Corbett fight last night, had this to say of the contest after it was over: "It was a great bout, the finest I ever saw. Both men proved ring generals, and there was just enough cleverness thrown in with science to make it a most interesting battle to watch. Boxing is my favorite sport. I like football, but that does not compare with his game. I take in every bout and expect to be on hand here in Chelsea for the coming ones. In fact, I'd walk a hundred miles to see a good set-to such as this one." The decision was a draw.

Grit, Setter, Wins First Prize.

HAMPTON, CONN., Nov. 1.—In the derby class at the Connecticut field trials today the setter Grit, owned and handled by H. B. Emory of Worcester, Mass., won first honors. The pointer, Sir Royal Spot, owned by Dr. E. L. Dennison of Chicago, Ill., took second honors and E. R. Sanford's setter, Risk Gladstone (Byfield, Mass.), third. Sir Royal Spot was handled by J. Dennison. This event was for setters and pointers whelped on or after January 1, 1904.

Captain Brown Misrepresented.

LEXINGTON, Nov. 1.—The report from New York that Captain S. S. Brown has withdrawn his support from the American Turf association was denied here today by Max Samuelson. Capt. Brown's Kentucky representative, who returned this morning from a visit to Capt. Brown. Samuelson said several of Capt. Brown's horses would be sent to New Orleans this winter to race on the track controlled by the American Turf association.

Latrobe Is Strengthening.

LATROBE, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Much excitement prevails in Latrobe over the game with Steelton next Saturday and the betting is in Latrobe's favor. Leo Gibson and Roy Hayes, two W. and J. men, and Jack Lang, coach of Westminster, will be on the Latrobe line. Special trains will leave here for Steelton on Saturday.

Alumnae to Organize.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Sisters of Charity have issued a call to all former students of St. Joseph academy for a meeting on Wednesday, November 22, to organize an alumnae association.

SMITH COACHING AT WASH.-JEFF.

Penn's Former Fullback Is Working With Red and Blues Backfield Candidates.

EASTERN COLLEGE PRACTICE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 1.—Another coach has been added to the camp of W. and J. team by the arrival of A. L. Smith, the famous Penn fullback and member of the All-American team of last year. Smith has been assisting coaching at U. of P. He is coaching the W. and J. back field. The team is now in charge of John Aiken, Blondy Wallace and Smith. The game next Saturday with G. M. U. is expected to prove a hard one. Capt. Sutter was on the field in uniform today for the first time since an accident to his ankle, and will likely be in the game next Saturday.

Bridges, formerly of Allegheny college, reported for practice this evening and denied that he came here of his own free will, being disgusted with Allegheny college athletics, and partly through his friendship with James, the W. and J. tackle.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The men worked behind closed gates this afternoon. The men are being put through a vigorous drill in special plays that will probably be saved for the most part till the Yale game. With the approach of November 18, the problem of meeting Yale has become so overshadowing to Cornell and Dartsmouth are looked upon as rather hard propositions. Cooney, who has been resting the last several days, is back on duty once more. He came out of the Columbia game pretty well bunged up, a fact that caused a good deal of surprise. Simons plays like usual fast and brilliant offensive game, but even considering his comparative lack of weight besides that of Bard or Daub, he is not putting up the defense that he should and of which with all his dash and pluck, he is perfectly capable. If he will only take a jump toward defensive excellence such as he has taken on the defense, there will be little doubt of where he can stand next year, even the State men went against heavier men. The loss of the field house is occasioning great inconvenience, and it will be necessary to rig up some sort of a sunshiute before the end of the week. The present plan is to put the cage, which was saved from the flames, into condition to meet training requirements before the visitors arrive from Dartsmouth next Saturday.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—For 40 minutes of actual play this afternoon Glenn S. Warner, the coach, kept the lash over the Cornell varsity in two hard scrimmages against the freshman and sophomore teams. Except when a touchdown was made by the second year men at the end of the practice the varsity kept the leather in its opponent's territory, and four times crossed their goal line. Three touchdowns were made against the freshmen. The varsity played a kicking game mostly and although the youngsters fought hard and gained much ground they were gradually forced back with aggressive play by the varsity that was full of snap. Bill Newman played at right halfback against the freshmen and acquitted himself formidably, by making two of the touchdowns. Walder, with a 40-yard run, made the third. Wolhelm is filling the place of Halliday, Cornell's star fullback, who is still out of the game. It is possible, however, that he will be in shape to play against Swarthmore Saturday.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Pennsylvania football team again had practice today behind closed gates. The varsity and scrub teams had the liveliest kind of a scrimmage for more than an hour. The varsity had no trouble in skirting the scrub ends and Stevenson could have scored twice had not the coaches called him back. Particular attention was given today to Pennsylvania's defense, and before play was ended the coaches were satisfied there was great improvement upon yesterday's miserable showing. Rourke and Bankart, at left tackle and center respectively, showed up very strong in defensive work. Rumbling was again frequent. One noticeable feature of today's practice was that Capt. Torrey played right tackle throughout the scrimmage. Byer, the scrub halfback, and Hobson, both of whom have been playing a star game on the scrub team the past week, have been added to the varsity team.

KAHLE OUTLINES MARSHALL CASE

Experts Show That Defendant Seemed to Have Entire Charge of Companies.

STATE EXAMINER ON STAND

Arthur G. Marshall, the alleged insurance swindler, was finally placed on trial before Judge Macfarlane in criminal court yesterday. Over 100 witnesses have been subpoenaed on both sides of the case. Attorneys W. A. Blakely and Elmer W. Moore appear for Marshall and Attorney F. L. Kahle and Assistant District Attorney W. D. Grimes have charge of the state's case.

When the case was called Marshall's attorneys made a hard fight to have the trial postponed on the ground that the notoriety had made it impossible for Marshall to secure an impartial jury.

When the court refused to grant the postponement Attorney Blakely made a motion to quash the indictment against Marshall charging embezzlement. He said the law under which it was brought concerned an offense committed within six months, and a longer period than this was covered by Marshall's alleged operations which were made the basis for this count. After considerable argument this count in the indictment was quashed.

Mr. Kahle said he would show that only two men were in these companies and the money went to them. The directors, he said, were dummies, who voted large salaries and commissions to the promoters. He then offered in evidence the charters of the three companies, and the first witness, W. M. Whiteford, a director in the companies, was called. He admitted he was a director in the companies, but not a policy holder, and could not remember whether Mr. Marshall had sent him a written notice of his election as a director of the companies or had notified him in person. He said he got $5 each time he attended a meeting of the boards and that he was a member of the boards for about a year but attended only three or four meetings.

The principal witnesses examined during the afternoon were Harry E. Holman, receiver for the companies; Robert E. Foster, a state insurance examiner, and S. E. Smith, an expert accountant.

Mr. Holman said he had taken charge of the books of the companies as soon as he had been appointed receiver. The books of the Duquesne company were placed before the witness and he identified them as those he had taken from the safe in Mr. Marshall's office in the Washington National Bank building. He could not say whether they had been altered or tampered with since he took them from the safe, but knew positively that some of them were mutilated by scratches, obliterations and leaves being torn out at that time. He had no knowledge as to who mutilated the books.

State Insurance Examiner Foster said he had examined the books of all three companies and that Mr. Marshall was secretary and treasurer of the companies and seemed to be the whole thing.

Attorney Blakely objected to the statement that "Marshall seemed to be the whole thing," and the court ordered that it be stricken from the testimony.

Judge Macfarlane asked the attorneys, for the sake of not mixing up the evidence, to confine the hearing first to the affairs of the Duquesne Mutual Fire Insurance Company, which was agreed to.

Where the Money Went.

Mr. Foster then read a statement to the jury which he said was the result of his examination of the Duquesne company. It was as follows:

Premiums written	$35,225 39
Agents' balances (gross)	7,308 23
Received in cash	$28,017 06
PAID OUT.
Commissions	$8,419 70
Rent	240 00
Salaries	3,602 25
Expenses	1,870 92
Furniture	1,130 05
Losses	6,237 57
Interest	158 32
Returned premiums	224 94
	$21,883 16
COMMISSIONS.
Due Marshall	$5,821 85
Paid Out—
Cash	1,095 69
Furniture	1,602 05
Bills	3,691 17
Disbursements unpaid—
Salaries	$ 471 78
Losses	1,200 00
Borrowed	1,200 44
Commissions	3,691 17
	$5,723 39
Total	$11,876 39
Cash found in safe	5 06

Mr. Smith, the expert accountant, said he had been employed by Mr. Woods, the expert accountant, to examine the books of the Duquesne Mutual Fire Insurance Company and had gone over them with Mr. Foster, the state insurance examiner. He corroborated the statement submitted by Mr. Foster and stated that he had some notes of his own which he collected from the books.

"Well, lets have them," said Mr. Kahle.

Mr. Smith then said he had found Marshall had received as A. G. Marshall and A. G. Marshall & Co., a total of $16,412 01, of which $1,294 18 is charged to the personal accounts of Marshall and the firm of A. G. Marshall & Co., and a balance of cash on hands of $4,000. The cash book, he said, showed $12,412 01 as having been paid in, which, with the $4,000 on hand would make the total receipts $16,412 01. The books showed the disbursements to have been $16,401 17. This statement, Mr. Smith admitted, he had culled from the books of the company at the instance of Mr. Woods.

"You were hunting for data against Mr. Marshall, were you not?" asked Mr. Blakely. "In fact you were hired for that purpose by Mr. Woods?"

"Well, yes, I guess so," admitted Mr. Smith.

Doubtful as to Destination.

"You could have found the rest of that $16,412 01 charged to Mr. Marshall if you had tried, could you not?"

"I could have found where it was supposed to go," said Mr. Smith.

Mr. Kahle admitted Smith was employed to get evidence against Marshall and then asked: "What was the total amount you found that has been paid for fire losses by the Duquesne Company?"

Objections in this question were sustained and the witness was excused.

A. C. Childs, secretary of the board of directors of the company, was called, but did not answer. Mr. Kahle asked that an attachment be issued by the court for Mr. Childs and the request was granted.

William Ennis, who said he is an electrician, and was a director for about a year on the boards of the companies, testified practically the same as Mr. Whiteford.

Geo. S. Trist, a state insurance examiner, corroborated the testimony of Mr. Foster, and the court adjourned until 9:30 a. m. today.

Constable C. L. Turrell arrested Harrison Snyder, of Rockwood, Somerset county, at the Monongahela House, charged with larceny and false pretense by A. G. Marshall, the man on trial in this case. Snyder furnished bail in $1,000 on one charge and $3,000 on the other. The bonds were signed by Milton J. Britts, of Rockwood, and the Mercantile Trust Company of this city.

Marshall alleges he gave the defendant 210 shares of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company stock, valued at upwards of $19,500, which, he claims, Snyder failed to return. He also alleges that under the representations of Snyder that he would reorganize the Rockwood Brick & Coal Company and that the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company would receive the money due them from Colwell & Blake, contractors, he became liable for debts amounting to $6,700. Marshall alleges he made an investigation in which he found Snyder was doing his utmost to hinder the reorganization of the Rockwood Brick & Coal Company.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD NEWSBOY IS FOUND DEAD DRUNK

Harry Ridge, better known as "Bart," an 8-year-old newsboy, who lives at 6 Marie place, Allegheny, was found lying in Federal street, near Lacock street, in Allegheny yesterday by Special Officer George Burgoon, dead drunk. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital, where, after receiving medical attention, he was sent home. The lad, in company with some other boys, stole a quart of whisky from an automobile in front of the Bijou theater and drank it.

Will Soon Occupy Addition.

In a couple of weeks the managers of the Home for Aged Protestant Women in Wilkinsburgh expect to be able to occupy the new wing. The heating apparatus will be installed this week and next, this being the completing work on the addition to the home, which will increase its capacity, permitting of a dozen more residents in the institution. At present there are 50 residents who, with the matron and employes, make a household of 75 people. Through the addition 12 more bedrooms will be available, permitting of that addition to the large family in the home. In the basement of the addition is a new kitchen and pantry. The main floor consists of the new diningroom, while the third and fourth floors have been divided into bedrooms. It was at first intended to make the fourth floor in the new wing a hospital ward, with small rooms for the soldier of the residents, but during the last few weeks a change has been made and they will be given the former diningroom on the main floor. The new diningroom is a large, light and handsome apartment. A large and beautiful sideboard is the gift of Mrs. Thomas Mellon and is now being built into the wall. Other articles in the diningroom have been donated by other members of the board.

Settlement Meeting for Girls.

The first meeting for girls in the Soho Settlement house will be held this afternoon. A special effort will be made to interest the girls of the neighborhood in the settlement house in Fifth avenue, and meetings will be conducted for them every other Thursday afternoon. These meetings will be largely social in character and with novel and interesting features of entertainment. This afternoon the decorations will be characteristic of Halloween and before going home little souvenirs will be drawn by the guests from a huge pumpkin pie. A talk will be given on art, calling attention to the opening of the art galleries and leading up to the visit which will be made by the girls and members of the settlement committee to the Carnegie art galleries at the next meeting on Thursday afternoon, November 16. After this astronomy will be taken up in the same informal way, and the committee will try to arrange for a visit to the Allegheny observatory.

Awaiting Complete Returns.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Homeopathic hospital held a meeting yesterday morning, when the committees in charge of the recent hospital fair at the Country club reported. The returns from the ticket sale and from the booths are not all in yet, and for another week no definite report of the receipts of the fair can be ascertained. The success of the entertainment, the women think, was largely due to the great assistance given them at all times by Alexander M. Jenkinson, the president of the Country club. As a token of its appreciation the society provided the flowers, magnificent large pink chrysanthemums which decorated the table at the dinner given in honor of Mr. Jenkinson last Saturday evening by the medical board of the hospital. On that occasion a silver cup, suitably engraved, was presented the guest of honor.

Hold Anniversary Luncheon.

The Woman's club of Pittsburgh will celebrate the 30th anniversary of its organization with a luncheon in the Hotel Lincoln on Wednesday afternoon, November 22. Covers will be laid for about 150 women and among the guests will be members of the club today and a number of women who were members in the past. Decorations will be in the club color, yellow. Two of the charter members of the club and Mrs. Charles I. Wade and Mrs. Minnie O. Roberts will be present, and it is expected that a third original member, Mrs. Louisa McCullough, who lives the greater part of the year in Chautauqua, will also be in attendance. Mrs. James S. McKelvey, the president, will welcome the club women and Mrs. Jane A. Hall will be toastmistress. Mrs. Hall filled the same position at the 21st anniversary celebration of the Woman's club nine years ago, on the occasion of a large dinner given by the club. Responses to toasts proposed will be given by Mrs. C. L. Wade, Mrs. Sarah Archer, Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, Mrs. William J. Glenn, Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg and Miss Cara Reese, and an original poem will be read by Mrs. Minnie O. Roberts. Mrs. Helen L. Jenkins of Chicago, the founder of the club, has been invited to be present, but as she cannot come to Pittsburgh at this time, will send a letter of greeting to the club members. There will be music and other attractive features. Mrs. Robert D. Coard is chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Pictures in Foreign Galleries.

A good program attracted a large audience to the Women's club meeting in the Edgeworth club house, Sewickley, yesterday afternoon. Fraulein Stolle, of Berlin, Germany, and a graduate of the Royal academy, gave a delightful lecture on "Old Friends and New in the Realms of Art." The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides, reproducing in color the great pictures in the galleries in Berlin, Dresden, Vienna, Rome, Florence and other cities. Next week there will be a current events day in charge of Miss Harding. There will be music and tea will be served.

Prepare for Annual Entertainment.

The annual entertainment of the West Penn Hospital Cot club will be held in the Hotel Schenley on Friday, December 8. All the features have not yet been decided upon, but arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the children in the afternoon, while in the evening there will be a dance. Next Wednesday an all-day sewing will be conducted in the East Liberty Presbyterian church for the benefit of the club, when articles for the bazar will be made and other supplies asked for in the work which the club is doing.

Tea of the Germanische Gesellschaft.

The first German tea of the Germanic society was held yesterday afternoon in the rooms of the Twentieth Century club. Richard Skalweit gave a critical sketch of the life of Rudolf Baumbach, the German poet who died recently, and Mrs. A. L. McKaig, Miss Helen Wood and Miss Lena Witt read some selections of his works. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Willis Dalzell and Miss Forsyth. These afternoon entertainments will be held once a month during the winter season.

Almost Ready for the Benefit.

Pivot bridge and domino will be played at the benefit whist for the fruit and flower mission in the Bellefield Dwellings to be given next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The tables will be arranged in the club room and it is expected that 50 will be required, as at least 200 women have planned to be in attendance. The tables will be arranged in sections, a number of requests having been received for groups of tables for small circles of friends, and for this reason pivot bridge instead of progressive will be played. There will be seven or eight sections and Miss Sophie McCormick will be in charge of those players who will not previously choose their partners and the people with whom they will play. The invitation committee will assign the seats and tables for those who have made such selection. No tickets will be issued for the benefit, but cards will be given those who have responded to the invitation of the committee. The members of the invitation committee, composed of Mrs. W. G. Doolittle, Mrs. Edward Hanna Small, Mrs. Verner S. Goggin, Mrs. George W. J. Bissell, Mrs. Bertie McMechen, Miss Alice Wood Tindle, Miss Susan Shields Williams, Miss Ella Cassidy, Miss Alberta Harper, Miss Narcisse Kennedy and Miss Mary Wright will have charge of the players, assisted by the other members of the fruit and flower mission, including Mrs. Robert T. Redpenan, Miss Grace Hare, Miss Emma Price and others. One more meeting will be held, when arrangements will be completed for the entertainment.

Gives Delegate's Report.

Mrs. Dallas Albert, president of Pittsburgh Scroll, came from her temporary home in Latrobe to preside over the meeting of the club yesterday afternoon in the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Alfred E. Clark, who was the delegate to the State Federation meeting in Cambridge Springs, made her report, and Mrs. Albert directed the literary program for the afternoon, which consisted of papers presented by Mrs. A. W. McCloy, who gave the geography of Holland; Mrs. Ella B. Coffin, who gave a character sketch of Phillip of Burgundy; Mrs. W. J. Black, who described Charles the Bold, and Mrs. Alfred E. Clark, whose subject was "Great Privilege."

Arranging the Miniatures.

A meeting of several of the members of the committee of arrangements for the loan exhibition to be conducted tomorrow afternoon and evening in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, was held yesterday morning in the home of Mrs. H. T. Clapp, Ashberson avenue, Shadyside. The fine collection of miniatures owned by Mr. Clapp, which will be placed on exhibition tomorrow, was marked and many curios were arranged for the display. The loan exhibition will be one of exceptional interest, consisting of the miniatures, oriental rugs, embroideries and altar cloths and curios of foreign lands, with relics of scenes and events of historical interest in this country. The exhibition will be conducted for the benefit of the Lawrenceville public wash house and baths. The hours will be from 2 o'clock until 10 and tea will be served.

Celebrate All Saints' Day.

All Saints' day was celebrated yesterday. It is a feast day and holy day of obligation, that is, a day when all Catholics must hear mass. High mass was sung in most of the Catholic churches in the diocese. The day was commemorated by special services in the Episcopal churches. Today is All Souls' day, a day of fasting and prayer, in the Catholic church.

PENNSYLVANIA TO EQUIP LINE WITH ELECTRICITY

Whisky Distillery Is Sold.

NEW CASTLE, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—S. S. Cooper has sold the new distillery at Lowellville, O., to Cincinnati capitalists. It will have a daily capacity of about 75 gallons at the start, which will be increased.

Typewriter Improvements.

The manufacturers of the Remington typewriter, not content with the state of practical perfection to which that machine has already been brought, have added several valuable improvements to the 1905 model. Among these are an improved letter-spacing mechanism; a new variable line spacer, making corrections easy and adjustment of the paper by hand no longer necessary; an adjustable side guide for immediate adjustment to any marginal indentation; a new polychrome lever, making possible an instant change in the color of the letters. All of these improvements have been thoroughly tested and found to add greatly to the speed, ease and evenness of action and the perfection of the work.

The Elusive Mr. Loose

STILL EVADES CAPTURE

Each day brings forth greater efforts to capture me and win $100—$10 extra if my captor holds sales slips amounting to 50c for each day of the chase, or $15 extra if caught by person possessing Leader stockholder check, ordinarily entitling the holder thereof to 10 per cent discount.

The great fault with my followers is that the correct words have not been used when accosting me. Remember: "Are you the Elusive Mr. Loose of The Leader Department Store, the largest co-operative store in America?"

According to arrangements outlined in these columns yesterday, at 10:30 I entered The Leader at corner entrance. Young and pretty lady stepped up with these words: "Are you—"? She was too bashful to complete the sentence that would have meant money to her. Bought candy and sauntered about examining the many bargains shown at the store. Saw several persons caught, but I was not accosted further, so left store at 11:30. Returned at 2:30 and remained until 4:00. Purchased suit of black clothes, listened to piano player, visited grocery department, and was stopped once by lady at music counter. She did not complete her question, so I continued on my way. I had several narrow escapes yesterday and must admit that it requires pretty strenuous efforts on my part to avoid capture.

I enjoy listening to piano playing and intend spending a half hour on second floor Thursday at various periods, and will doubtless have my picture taken at The Leader some time during the day. As I am having so much difficulty in avoiding capture, I cannot state definitely just what section of the store I will be in.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DARLINGTON are again at their Allegheny home in Irwin avenue, after a summer's absence in the east. Mr. and Mrs. Darlington and their son, Harry Darlington, Jr., spent the hot months at Watch Hill, and at their summer residence, "Seven Oaks," in Mamaroneck. After closing the latter place they went up to New York, where they have been for some time past. Mr. Darlington, Jr., has resumed his studies at St. Paul's School for Boys in Concord, where he will finish in another year. The son-in-law and daughter of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ezekiel Stoddard, the latter of whom will be remembered as Miss Rebecca McCullough Darlington, who spent the greater part of the summer with Mrs. Stoddard's parents, are building a handsome colonial home in New Haven. Mrs. Darlington expects to spend Thanksgiving with her son in Concord, and will later visit with Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard.

McCandless-Petty.

The Sixth Presbyterian church was the scene last evening of the wedding of Miss Mary Gertrude McCandless and Robert Blakeney Petty, Jr. The Rev. J. Shane Nicholls, pastor of the church, solemnized the marriage at 8 o'clock, the bride being given away by her father, Dr. Alexander A. E. McCandless. Miss Anna Myra Petty, a sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor, and Miss Sarah Pfeil, Miss Eleanor Dorrington Mustin and Miss Anna Parsons as bridesmaids, while Mrs. Charles S. Lamble, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Guy McCandless Gray, took their places in the procession as bridesmatrons. Mr. Petty had as his best man a brother, William F. Petty, while the party was completed by the ushers, Charles S. Lamble, Guy McC. Gray, John M. Irwin, William J. McCandless, Palmer Chambers and John E. Fraser. The bride was gowned in white brocaded silk and lace with a tulle veil. She also wore Mr. Petty's gift, a pearl brooch and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. White louisine formed Miss Petty's gown and her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums. The maids, each in a gown of yellow messaline silk, carried clusters of white chrysanthemums. Only the yellow blooms sheltering amid palms and ferns at the point and filling brass standards up the aisle, were used at the church, but at the home of the bride's parents in Denison avenue, where a reception followed the ceremony, both colors were carried out with chrysanthemums. Covers for 70 were laid at the bridal table, the guests including the bridal party and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Petty, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and Dr. and Mrs. McCandless. The favors were tiny white satin booklets in which each guest wrote the name of her partner. Fridays in January in the Oswego apartments, Wilkinsburg, have been announced by the bridal couple as at-home days.

Brown-McCurdy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry McCurdy left last evening for California to spend a month in an automobile tour of the Pacific coast and will be at home in Baum street after January 1st. Their marriage was an event of yesterday morning at the Hotel Schenley, the Rev. Dr. Robert Waddington Grange, rector of the Church of the Ascension, officiating at 10 o'clock. The wedding was very small, only the relatives and most intimate friends being present, and the only attendants were two ribbon bearers, Miss Hattie Hoovler and Miss Minnie L. Brown, and the best man, Edward Collins McCurdy, a brother of the bridegroom from Philadelphia. The bride, who was Miss Martha Grace Brown, is a sister of N. F. Brown, engineer of construction work with the Pennsylvania railroad in Pittsburgh, and a daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, by whom she was given away. Miss Brown was married in a tailored suit of blue broadcloth and white satin waist, with lace trimmings, and hat to match. She carried a cluster of white orchids and purple violets tied with white satin ribbon and tulle, while her mother was gowned in black lace over white chiffon and silk, with a chic little toque of duchesse lace and ostrich tips. She carried lavender orchids and maidenhair ferns. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. A dumb-bell shaped table was used in the center of the table being a high staff of white chrysanthemums, while at each end was a mound of the same flowers. Smilax draped all the doors and windows, palms formed a background for the ceremony and pink chrysanthemum shades capped the lights. A number of handsome gifts were received by the bride, many coming from Philadelphia, where both she and Mr. McCurdy formerly resided. The latter is connected with the firm of Banker Brothers, the employes of which presented the bride with a handsome mahogany clock.

Mrs. Brown's Reception.

A handsomely appointed reception was given by Mrs. Charles W. Brown at her home in Sewickley yesterday afternoon to introduce her daughter, Miss Mary Agate Brown. The hostess and the honor guest received in the drawing room, Mrs. Brown being gowned in white lace, with trimmings of embroidered chiffon, and Miss Brown in a stylish creation of embroidered French mulle with lace trimmings of the same. The house was given over to decorations of green and white, green being the predominant color. In the dining room the center piece was exceptionally handsome, it being of grapes, white orchids, while violets were at each corner of the table. Punch was served by Miss Brown's house guests, Miss Julia and Miss Althea Brooks of Chicago and Miss Wilma Sinclair of Steubenville, O., who were classmates of Miss Brown at Oontz. At the coffee table Mrs. George E. McVague, Mrs. George E. Tener, Mrs. Robert Wardrop and the Misses Brook presided. Other assistants were Mrs. Jame Huston, Mrs. Samuel G. Cooper, Mrs. Mansfield B. Brown, Mrs. DeWitt B. Nettleton, Mrs. William L. Clause, Mrs. William Parry, Mrs. Louis B. Whitney, Mrs. Frank McCleary, Miss Helen Harrison, Miss Helen Ayres, Miss Helen Witherow, Miss Hester Stager, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Ruth Walker, Miss Marion Clapp, Miss Mary W. Shields, Miss Elizabeth Irwin, Miss Jean Slack, Miss Mary Gormley, Miss Fredericka Hays, Miss Betty Wardrop, Miss Helen Davis, Miss Helen W. Davis, Miss Jane Blair and Miss Janet Stewart.

Layton-Waitneight.

Miss Bessie Stuart Layton and William Walter Waitneight were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Layton, in Bellevue, the Rev. D. H. L. Smith, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Miss Mary Brownfield Layton and Miss Mabel Waitneight, sisters of the bridal couple, attended as bridesmaids, while Robert S. Lemon of Parkersburg acted as best man and the ushers included John McDowell and John H. Mullett. The bridal gown was of white point d'esprit, with a rose point lace yoke and trimmings of valenciennes lace. In place of the usual veil, a wreath of lilies of the valley was worn. The bride's only ornament was a pearl crescent and she carried a prayer book. Green silk mull gowns were worn by the two maids, each carrying a cluster of white chrysanthemums. The same flowers were used with palms and ferns in the decorations. Upon returning from an eastern wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Waitneight will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Layton until spring. Mr. Layton is an immigrant inspector.

Dr. Robert Milligan will serve as best man and the ushers are to be Dr. Harry E. Price, Frank Demmler, Robert Stifel, William E. Pearsall, Dr. William O. S. Sherman and Samuel Dunseith. The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Charles P. Cheeseman, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian church. The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Scott of Stanton avenue, at whose home the wedding will take place.

Miss Donnelly has Miss Agnes Kirwin of Chicago as guest over the wedding.

Armstrong-Schoyer.

Miss Clara Brown Armstrong, daughter of Mrs. Andrew J. Armstrong, and Barkley Preston Schoyer, son of Mrs. Samuel C. Schoyer of Pittsburgh, were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother in Edgeworth last evening. As the bride's family is in mourning, only immediate relatives attended. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Park, pastor of the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, officiated, and the bride was given away by her uncle, Thomas M. Armstrong. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dudley Liggett, as matron of honor, and the best man was the groom's brother, William F. Schoyer. Chrysanthemums, palms, ferns and smilax formed effective decorations. The bride is a member of the Edgeworth club, and Mr. Schoyer is a member of the Duquesne, Pittsburgh Country and other clubs. Mr. and Mrs. Schoyer departed last night for an eastern trip, after which they will be at home in North avenue, Allegheny.

Dinner to Follow Reception.

A dinner for the ads and an equal number of men will follow the reception which Mrs. A. X. Phelan is to give on Thursday afternoon of next week at her home in Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill. The honors of the occasion will be shared by Mrs. William D. Phelan, a recent bride; Mrs. John J. Hart of New York, and by Miss Mabel Dwyer of Cork, Ireland, who is spending the winter with Mrs. R. W. Stewart of Fifth avenue. Mrs. Phelan will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Dalhmeyer, Jr., Miss Katherine Vilsack, Mrs. Eugene S. Reilly, Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. R. W. Stewart and Miss Colet e Phelan. The hours for the reception are from 3 until 6 o'clock.

Entertaining for Miss Neale.

A smartly appointed bridge party was given yesterday afternoon by Miss George Neale Heard and her mother, Mrs. George Heard, at their home in Bayard street, Shadyside. It was in honor of Miss Martha Elizabeth Neale, whose marriage to Frederick Boyt Thatcher will take place on Saturday in Sewickley. Six tables were called into play and the prizes, dainty pictures, were won by Miss Neale, Mrs. Marcellin Cote Adams, Miss Margaret McConway, Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon, Mrs. James Brown and Miss Grace Aiken. The tea table had a centerpiece of white chrysanthemums. Preceding the bridge party a luncheon was given for Miss Neale by Mrs. Karl Emmerling at her home in Rebecca street, East End. The guests, in addition to the girls in the bridal party, were Mrs. Charles Alexander Rook, Mrs. Harry Evans and Miss Jeanette Lupton. The favors were corsage bouquets of white roses and lilies of the valley and the same flowers were used in the centerpiece.

Diehl-Ahern.

In St. James' Roman Catholic church, Sewickley, yesterday morning Miss Fanny May Diehl, daughter of Capt. Diehl, a retired oil producer of Parkers Landing, and P. C. Ahern of the same place, were married. The Rev. Father F. F. O'Shea, an old college friend of the bridegroom, officiated. Miss Francis E. Randall, daughter of C. N. Barnsdall, served as bridesmaid, and Michael McCarthy of Philadelphia acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Ahern are now in the east and will be at home in Oil City in the spring.

No Tickets Will Be Issued.

The members of the invitation committee having charge of the coming benefit whist for the Fruit and Flower mission have received a great many requests from their guests that tickets be sent them. The members of the committee wish the statement made that no tickets will be issued, but that they will assign seats and sections to the guests as they arrive in the club rooms of the Bellefield dwellings next Monday afternoon, the day of the benefit. Mrs. William Gregg Doolittle is chairman of the committee.

Estep is in charge of the band, of which the officers are: President, Miss Elizabeth Bickel; treasurer, Miss Eleanor Sterrett; secretary, Miss Mabel Stannard.

Allen-Blackly.

At the home of the bridegroom's grandfather, the Rev. John H. Sherrard, in Wilkinsburg, Stephen L. Blachly and Miss Mary M. Allen were married yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Sherrard officiating. Owing to a recent death in the family the wedding was a quiet one and there were no attendants. After December 1 Mr. and Mrs. Blachly will be at home in Pasadena, Cal.

Interesting Out-of-Town Wedding.

Many Pittsburghers will be interested in the approaching wedding of Miss Lucy Timms of Columbus and Charles F. M. Krum, which will take place in the bride's home town on Monday, November 20. Miss Timms has many friends in this city, where she has frequently visited with Mrs. Daniel C. Noble. Mrs. Noble has just returned from Dayton, where she was a member of a large house party.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

GOOD PURCHASE IN FIFTH AVENUE

Attorney Elmer W. Moore Buys No. 1500 for $30,000 for a Five-Story Business Block.

BELLEVUE'S LIVELY DEALING

Attorney Elmer W. Moore of the law firm of McCready & Moore, has purchased the property of K. Klebansky at 1506 Fifth avenue for $30,000. The property was formerly known as the Mihm holdings and has been owned by Mr. Klebansky but a comparatively short time. It has a frontage of 25 feet on the south side of the avenue the second lot east of Bride street, and a depth of 115 feet to an alley. An old brick house of nominal value is the only improvement. The purchaser is now considering razing this building and erecting in its stead a five-story business block, for which plans will be prepared shortly, it is said. The purchase figures at the rate of $1,200 a front foot or $10.43 a square foot.

Goldberg & Fearlman have bought from Louis Ziff two reception hall brick houses of eight rooms each on a plot 40x100 feet, on the south side of Center avenue, Eleventh ward, for $5,050.

S. Philip Leiber has secured from the estate of Bernard McKenna two residences on 82x115 feet, on the south side of Homer street, near Knights avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $15,000.

Bella S. Feldman has sold to Amelia Lazarus an improved lot 35x120 feet, inGanam street, near Coral street, Twentieth ward, for $11,000.

Bellevue Sales Total $110,000.

The continued activity in Bellevue real estate has been the cause of much comment the last two months, for no suburb around Pittsburgh can show such a boom as has been in evidence there since last spring, both in property sales and in house building. The demand is not confined to residence lots, but several good sales have been made recently of business sites. The best deal of this sort reported recently is the sale for W. A. Lewis to D. C. Wills of a plot 125x150 feet, facing in Lincoln avenue near Meade avenue, for which $21,000 was paid. The sale was handled by Ira C. Harper. The property adjoins the Masonic hall and has already been sub-divided into five lots which will be sold for business sites.

Late in the summer Mr. Harper sold to C. S. Harper six acres of land in Ross township which belonged to Hugh McCutcheon and Eliza McClelland for $20,050. This plot, which adjoins Bellevue, was at once named Bellevue Heights and within six weeks every one of the half-acre lots was sold through Mr. Harper's agency. Following is a list of the buyers and the prices paid: A. K. Watson, $2,000; J. H. Campbell, $2,500; H. L. Brown, $3,100; Mrs. Ellen Miller, $2,000; M. G. Spangler, $4,000; M. P. George, $2,000; J. S. Davidson, $2,000; U. G. Marks, $2,100; D. C. Wills, $2,000; R. H. MacMichael, $2,000.

Through the office of Ira C. Harper these sales have also been made during the past few weeks: C. M. Parker to M. C. Parker, a house in Avalon for $8,500; T. F. Ford to E. B. Langton, lot in Summit street for $1,500; J. A. Irwin to Jennie Heard, lot in Summit street for $1,500; N. C. Cooper to J. H. Watt, three lots in Sprague avenue, Bellevue, for $3,500; S. B. Gordon to D. B. Croft, residence in Orchard avenue for $7,500; W. H. Vanleer to F. E. Elder, seven lots in Oregon avenue for $2,100; J. B. Arthur to P. Bardsley, brick house for $8,500; to L. Brown a similar property for $8,300; to C. Muth a similar property for $8,300; to E. Rogerson a similar property for $8,300; to W. H. Joliv a house for $8,300; for J. M. Daffron to J. B. Arthur 50x150 feet, for $1,725.

More Street Car Lines Rumored.

Property owners in the Crafton valley are much interested in fresh rumors afloat regarding the extensions of street car lines in that territory. One of these is the proposed line from McKees Rocks to Crafton, which, it is said, would reach the latter point at Ingram and Steuben avenues. The distance along two miles and the line would pass by the new Scully yards of the Panhandle railroad, which will employ several hundred men, and the well-known Von Bonnhorst property. This would give Crafton another line to the city and would aid very materially in building up the property immediately adjacent to it, which is conveniently located for the employes of the Panhandle. It is also reported that the street car line from Crafton to Thornburg is likely to be extended next spring to Carnegie, by way of Rosslyn farm. The present Carnegie line follows the course of the valley, but the proposed route would open up a stretch of choice country that is now a little off from any line. It is well adapted for large country home sites and can now be bought at from $300 to $500 an acre. This section already has good macadamized roads and the Rosslyn farm allotment, in which J. J. Turner, third vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is interested, is being developed very fast. Several of the streets have been paved. Others are being graded and a number of brick houses costing from $6,000 to $8,000 have been built.

Amusement Company Goes Ahead.

The Melwood Grove Company, formed recently to provide a big amusement place in the thirteenth ward, has completed its organization by electing these officers: President, John Slater; secretary, W. T. Beane; treasurer, E. M. Behen. The company has commissioned Architect John T. Comes to prepare plans for the proposed building, which will cover a site 101x132 feet at Neville street and Atlantic avenue, and will cost $30,000. The building will be two stories high and of the "staff" construction used in the world's fair buildings. The dancing platform will be 80x110 feet. There will also be provided a large auditorium, a dining-room, kitchen, card rooms, smoking rooms and dressing rooms. The company has $40,000 capital and will let the contract for the building in a few days.

Through the Common Realty Company, S. F. Lieber secured title to the property at 2303-2305 Wylie avenue, formerly owned by C. B. Linderman of the Reineke-Wilson Company. The property was later sold to D. Rubenstein, who is reported to have turned it over to F. B. Ebby.

STREET CASES KEEP COURT BUSY

Allegheny Improvements Find Their Way Into the Supreme Court.

ARGUMENT IN HARTON ESTATE

Street improvement cases kept the supreme court busy yesterday, three from Allegheny and one from Duquesne being argued. The Brighton road improvement was brought up in one shape in the case of William Carson and others against the city of Allegheny, appellant. Carson owned property on what was West End avenue, which the city widened and made part of Brighton road. The viewers assessed the property in question $2,500 and awarded damages of $631 75. The case was carried into court, and the jury brought in a verdict for $3,500, against which the city appealed.

W. G. Park is fighting an assessment for improving Marshall avenue, his exception having been dismissed in the lower court. Mr. Park recites the purchase of Riverview park by subscriptions of a number of citizens and its presentation to the city under an agreement that the city should open one or more streets from the downtown section to the park and keep them free from street cars. As proof of the validity of this agreement it is set forth that the city gave the Pittsburgh Railways Company the right-of-way along Marshall avenue, that a track was partly constructed, and was then torn up because "the franchise on that street was worthless."

It is claimed that Marshall avenue was one of the streets the city was to open in return for the gift of the park, and consequently the abutting property cannot be assessed for the improvement. The total damages, costs and expenses of the improvement were $56,762 04. The park cost $100,000.

In the case against the borough of Duquesne, Leonora Keeler is the appellant, the questions at issue are to what extent the improvement of Duquesne avenue improved Mrs. Keeler's property, and if the ordinance of the borough was legally passed.

An argument was heard over a portion of the estate of the late G. Bruce Harton, who left the residue of his estate, "together with moneys due from life insurance," to his sister, Mrs. William M. Orr, and his niece, Margaret Fertig. Among his papers was a beneficial certificate of the Knights Templar and Masonic Aid association of Cincinnati, O., in which the association agreed to pay to "G. Bruce Harton's legal representatives $5,000." The money was paid to the executors and both the residuary legatees and the next of kin claimed it. The orphans' court decided that the contract must be construed according to the laws of Ohio at the time it was made, and that under these laws "legal representatives" meant the next of kin. It is from this decision that Mrs. Orr and Mrs. Fertig appeal.

Other cases argued were Eliza Mitchell vs. Mary A. Low and 26 others next of kin of James Tolhurst, deceased; the Grossbaum Ceramic Art Syndicate, appellant, vs. the German Fire Insurance Company of Freeport, Ill., and the Potomac Insurance Company of the District of Columbia, action on insurance policies; Charles S. Schofield, receiver, vs. Alfred Turner, appellant, an action on an assessment; John H. O'Donnell, appellant, vs. S. W. Vandersaal and Homer L. Castle, an action over the title of an apartment house.

The list for today is as follows: Trau et al, appellants, vs. Sloan et al; Hays, Sr., appellant, vs. Forest Oil Company; Goodwin et al, appellants, vs. Colwell, executrix, et al; Ross et al, appellants, vs. Clark et al; city of McKeesport vs. Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville railway, appellant; Lindberg, appellant, vs. National Tube Company; Fiacus, appellant, vs. West Penn Gas Company; Michalofski et al, appellants, vs. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Company; Bealsfield et al vs. Slaugenhaupt, appellant, Owens, appellant, vs. Goldie; S. Jarvis Adams Company, appellant, vs. Knapp; Black vs. Woods et al; Todd, appellant, vs. Armstrong.

CHIEF JUSTICE'S WILL HAS HOLE IN IT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—The omission of the names of subscribing witnesses from the will of Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, who devised a large portion of his landed property for the establishment of an agricultural school for poor boys, makes null and void that provision for such institutions. The omission, however, will not affect the other provisions of the will.

BESSEMER HAS ALREADY BROKEN BEST RECORD

Shipments of Ore to November 1 Exceed All of Last Year.

All the records of the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad for ore tonnage in one year have already been broken by this year's shipments. The biggest record of the Bessemer was that piled up last year, when by a wonderful spurt in the last half of the year, the handicap of the first half, due to the strike of the lake vessel employes, was overcome. The figures for 1904 were 4,067,000 tons brought down from the lakes.

The figures for the year up to November 1, are 4,460,000 tons, an increase of over 393,000 tons above the total for all of 1904. From present indications when 1905's record is completed the total will be fully 1,000,000 tons ahead of last year's record and therefore a new high record for the company's ore tonnage.

The shipments for October totaled 550,000 tons, which is somewhat less than had been desired by the management of the busy railroad. This road, like all others in the Pittsburgh district, had its share of difficulties on account of the detention of cars. The rush of lake coal shipments in the last half is the primary cause of this difficulty.

Demoralization of Voters

Judge Alton B. Parker said recently, while speaking of the use of money to influence votes:

"How great that demoralization has already become is fairly presented by Mr. Steffens in his articles in McClure's, contributed during the last few months. Those articles ought to be read and pondered by every good citizen."

Every good citizen ought also to read about unlawful railroad freight rates, beginning in November McClure's.

SPECIAL STOCKS ACTIVE, GENERAL MARKET FIRM

Some New High Records Made in Wall Street—Call Money Continues Firm—Philadelphia Co Common Sells at Highest Price for Years.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The foreign markets were closed yesterday for a holiday, and Wall street had no opportunity for learning how foreigners viewed the continued rioting in Russia. In the absence of outside interest, however, the New York market was fairly active and firm, and several specialties recorded new high marks.

A feature of the early dealings was the activity and strength of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas issues. One house was credited with purchases of more than 25,000 shares of the common and the price of the latter advanced to 37¾, the highest ever quoted and more than a point above the previous high price reached last year. The preferred advanced to and closed at 72, a net rise of 2¾ per cent. The street had a story that a party of experts, said to represent Burlington interests, recently made an inspection of the road, and inasmuch as the brokers buying yesterday often represent Mr. J. J. Hill in the market, the inference was that he was buying Missouri, Kansas & Texas for control, with the object of giving the Burlington an outlet to the gulf. For some time past it has been reported that foreigners were purchasers of this stock, and there have also been rumors of an extensive short interest in it, which if true would account for part of the advance yesterday.

Another strong feature among the high-priced stocks was Canadian Pacific, which on comparatively light dealings advanced from 171¼ to 174¾. There was no news to account for this movement. St. Paul sold off shortly after the opening, made a strong rally, and near the close lost all the gain. The reaction was probably induced by the publication of earnings for September, showing an increase of $573,750 in gross, but an increase of only $79,674 in net. Union Pacific was moderately active, declining to 132¾, recovering to 134½ and closing at 133¾. Southern Pacific was irregular and finally closed at a loss of ⅜ for the day.

Reading again touched the record price of 123¾, but the other high-priced coalers were quiet. The Pennsylvania directors declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent and the stock advanced to 146, closing near the top.

In the industrial end of the market there was conspicuous activity in a few stocks, and new high prices were established. The strongest of these was Smelting common, which rose to 141⅝, the highest ever quoted, and closed at a net gain for the day of 2¾ per cent. The only real news directly bearing on the movement was the announcement that the company had advanced the price of lead 50 cents a hundred pounds to $5 15 at New York. There were many rumors, however, relating to increased dividends and a merger with the National Lead, which stock also advanced to a new high record at 54¼. Amalgamated Copper touched 85, but reacted to 84⅜ at the close.

American Locomotive common made a new record by advancing to 72¾. Traders tried to trace a connection between this movement and the calling of a special meeting of General Electric stockholders to vote upon a proposed increase of $11,674,500 stock, bringing the total capital up to $30,000,000. It was inferred that this increase was for the purpose of acquiring an interest in Locomotive stock, the president of General Electric having already been elected a director of Locomotive.

The United States Steel stocks were rather heavy in the early dealings, but subsequently rallied and closed firm. The sinking fund bonds advanced to 97¾ ex-coupon, equivalent to 97⅞, the highest ever quoted.

Call loan rates were firm, touching 5¼ per cent, the majority of the business being at 5 per cent. There was a further decline in sterling exchange, and gold exports for the present at least are now out of the question.

The most prominent feature of the local stock market was the revival of activity in Philadelphia Company common stock, which on sales of 1,700 shares reached 50¾, the highest price quoted for six years. While the statement of the company for September and for the nine months of the calendar year showed a gratifying increase in earnings, the movement in the stock was probably not entirely due to this showing. For several weeks past there have been rumors of a new deal in Philadelphia. Particulars were not forthcoming, but it was thought to involve a change of control or the acquisition by new interests of large holdings of the stock. The remainder of the market was extremely dull and prices were irregular. Lustre was weak, declining to and closing at 32¾. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was also weak, declining to 55, a loss of 1 per cent. Westinghouse Electric was strong and on light transactions advanced to 85. Air Brake was steady and unchanged at 150. Crucible Steel issues were fractionally lower, but steady at the decline. In the bank list the first sale of Second National new stock was recorded, 9 shares changing hands at 250, which was equivalent to 750 for the old stock.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The revival of activity in Philadelphia Company common stock in the local market yesterday at the same time revived the old story that new interests were negotiating for control. Last August when a similar rumor gained currency nearly 12,500 shares of the stock changed hands on the local board and the price advanced from 45 to 47, the transactions for the month being larger than for the 12 months of 1904. Yesterday the price touched 50¾, the highest for more than six years, and the first time the stock has sold at par since 1902. The dealings yesterday were thought to represent sales by Pittsburgh holders and purchasers for account of eastern investors, inasmuch as the buyers on the local exchange were brokers having private wire connections with New York and Philadelphia. When rumors were current three months ago of a new deal in the company, officials explained the reported presence of experts in the city inspecting the property as a preliminary to the issue of additional securities to pay for new property. This explanation was not fully accepted by the street, but transactions in the stock immediately subsided. Prominent officials of the company were not in the city yesterday and subordinates had no information to explain the sudden revival of activity. Aside from any new deal, brokers who have handled the stock express the opinion that it should sell at par at least, since the shares of similar corporations in other cities sell at a premium.

The Second National bank of Pittsburgh has declared a quarterly dividend of 7½ per cent, payable forthwith. This is the eighty-seventh dividend paid by this bank. The stockholders recently voted to convert part of the surplus into capital stock, increasing the latter from $600,000 to $1,800,000, and the change became effective yesterday. The first transaction in the new stock was recorded on the exchange yesterday, when nine shares changed hands at 250, Scully, Painter & Beech selling to N. W. Stevenson. This price is equivalent to 750 for the old stock.

Commonwealth Trust sold at 185, a decline of 10 points from the last previous sale. Carothers & Co. sold and Robinson Bros. bought.

Scully, Painter & Beech yesterday formally announced that Edward S. Fairley has been admitted as a member of the firm. Mr. Fairley is the manager for the new firm and has been in the brokerage business since 1887, having been manager for Henry Sproul & Co. for a number of years.

The Treasury Trust Company will hereafter clear through the Columbia National bank.

The news was received in the city yesterday that the Greater Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company had struck a good well on its property located in Upshur county, West Virginia, near Craddock. The estimated production of the well is 2,000,000 cubic feet a day. The company is composed of several well-known Pittsburghers who have manufacturing interests in West Virginia, and who primarily drilled for the purpose of supplying its own fuel. The well struck yesterday is the second drilled in, but the significance of the strike is that it is in virgin territory located at least 40 miles from other producing wells. The company owns outright or controls through lease 1,000 acres in the immediate vicinity of yesterday's strike.

Colonial Trust again sold at $50, Hall buying 50 shares at that price from Darr, Luke & Moore. The annual meeting of the company will be held today.

The Peoples Natural Gas Company of Chicago has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable November 25 to stock of record November 15.

The Cosmopolitan National bank has declared an initial dividend of 1½ per cent, payable to stock of record October 21.

The American National bank has declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable forthwith.

The Bank of Pittsburgh, National association, has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 3 per cent.

The Anchor Savings bank has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 4 per cent.

The Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the original guaranteed stock, and 1 per cent on the special guaranteed betterment stock, payable December 1 to holders of record November 10.

There were no closing quotations on Philadelphia Company on the local board. In Philadelphia the stock closed at 50½ bid, 50¾ asked. The local market seemed to be cleaned up of all offerings.

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the capital stock of the company, payable November 29 to stockholders of record November 4.

The second number of the Business Monthly, published by the First National bank of Pittsburgh, contains an illustrated and descriptive article on the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, in addition to other interesting matter.

Transactions on the Philadelphia stock exchange for the month of October foot up 1,086,225 shares stock, a decrease of 353,815 shares, and $1,997,695 bonds, a decrease of $2,618,905.

The Equitable Life Assurance society has just invested $5,000,000 in New York city 4 per cent revenue bonds, which were purchased at par. The investment is stated to be the largest that a fiduciary institution ever has made in New York city securities.

Gross earnings of Erie for September increased $107,590 and net increased $188,181.

The General Electric stockholders will meet December 5 to vote on a proposition to increase the capital stock by the amount of $11,674,500, making the total amount $30,000,000.

Gross earnings of Chicago & Alton for September decreased $222,819 and net decreased $190,126.

Gross earnings of St. Paul for September were $5,261,887, an increase of $73,750; net earnings $1,904,133, an increase of $9,674.

A large Wall street house which has been bullish on the market throughout the upward movement, sent out this message after the close yesterday: "We feel that on all bulges such as we had today it might be well to take profits, as there is nothing in the situation to warrant the belief that we are going to have any big bull market until after the first of the year. For the immediate future a trading position will prove profitable and consequently we advise purchases on recessions and profit-taking on the bulges."

The most conspicuous new point of strength in yesterday's market was in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas stocks, which have been much neglected since the annual report of the president deprecated hopes of a dividend payment on the preferred stock. There was talk that buying for representation on the board was the cause of the advance, but nothing authoritative on the subject was made known.

Sterling exchange continued its decline and no further talk was heard of gold exports for the present. The turn of the month always brings normal relaxation in the money market and easier conditions are expected until the end of the month. In the New York market the firmer tone for time money was maintained. New Orleans got an additional $450,000 through the sub-treasury and the loss by the banks to that institution since the last bank statement was swelled to $2,405,000. Further calls for currency are looked for both from New Orleans and Chicago.

The monthly circular of the National City bank of New York for November states that holders of the 3 and 4 per cent government bonds which may be converted into 2 per cent consols of 1930 under the order of the secretary of the treasury, have shown a very fair disposition to avail themselves of the privilege of refunding. To date $36,398,000 of the old bonds have been converted into 2s since refunding was opened October 2. Of the bonds converted $7,805,000 were 3s of 1908, while $27,681,000 were 4s of 1907. The outstanding 4s and 5s to be reduced to a point materially below $200,000,000 and it is not hazarding much by way of prediction to say that the government should the refunding be kept open much longer, will be in a position to handle the remainder of the maturing bonds when they fall due. Should the treasury be as well situated financially in May or June of 1907 as it is now, the secretary of the treasury might easily call in a portion of the 4s of 1907 at the same time offering holders the privilege of extension at a lower rate of interest. The extended bonds in such a case would necessarily be payable at the option of the government. This the government might do without any further legislation, following the well-recognized precedents established in the case of other maturing issues in the past. In any event, it is not to be presumed that congress would fail to pass such legislation as would be necessary to provide for the payment of the 4s and 5s, or at least some provision for their extension on terms advantageous to the government.

BESSEMER IRON REACHES $17.00

Market Continues Its Rise and the End Is Not Yet Reached, Dealers Say.

GENERAL IRON AND STEEL NEWS

The market prices for pig iron continue to advance rapidly. The quotation of $16 50 as the lowest price at the furnace for northern Bessemer and No. 2 foundry iron for immediate delivery made last week has again been raised. The price of spot Bessemer iron now it $17 00 at the furnace. There are no quotations for delivery extending over any long period. More than $17 00 would be required now to secure December iron. Many producers and dealers are confidently predicting $18 00 iron before the year is over.

The position of the United States Steel Corporation at present is causing much interest. The corporation is known to have secured 40,000 tons of Bessemer from the merchant furnaces for November delivery, but it is not believed that that amount will be sufficient to meet its needs above its own production, and that it is certain the company will again be in the market. The rumors that it had provided for its needs for all the rest of the year are not generally believed among the dealers.

Billets are also now practically out of the market. For Bessemer the price named is $26 50, but neither in this line nor in open-hearth is it possible to secure any considerable lots.

In the finished lines the same activity prevails which has marked the market for over three months, the tendency being toward increasing the activity of the mills. Merchant pipe, rails, structural shapes, wire, sheet and tin plate, and the other lines are in most excellent demand.

The coke market continues to show every evidence that it will go up in the air before the year is over. The car shortage is becoming very great and furnaces are beginning to cry out that unless the coke supply is better they may be forced to bank.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business continues to move along without special feature, orders for general lines arriving in good numbers and salesmen reporting business very active. Judging from mail orders direct from customers the trade is enjoying a very prosperous season. The cooler weather is bringing a large demand for cold weather goods, clearing stocks up in many lines and making many kinds of goods scarce. A very good demand continues to bring heavy orders for nails, both cut and wire, and for considerable quantities of wire, galvanized, smooth and barbed. The glass business has not changed very much, the trade sending in their requisitions for goods needed and buying for their wants. Loaded shells, shotguns and rifles continue to move out in good quantities, the season being almost at its height. Prices in general lines are firm, there being no recent changes. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 25 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley curtail shovels, $6 50 per dozen; Great Western files, discount 70, 10 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base No. 26, $2 35 per 100 pounds; galvanized weights, per ton, $27 00; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 50 per cent.

IN POINT OF ACTIVITY PIG IRON LEADS TRADE

Available Supply Has Been Practically Cleaned Up—Ore Starts Out at Advance of 25 Cents.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say: Pig iron has led the general iron and steel trade in point of activity, there being heavy sales of Alabama, Virginia, Ohio and Illinois iron. Sales of Bessemer include 20,000 to 25,000 tons to various consumers in the last three days of last week and 45,000 to the Steel Corporation this week, all at $16 50, valley, for delivery the balance of this year. This practically cleans up the available supply.

Selling of Lake Superior ore for next season has been started by one large interest at an advance of 25 cents per ton over last year, while other important interests are holding out for a 50-cent advance.

Demand for tin plate has improved very much. Several of the independents have withdrawn from the market at previous prices. The leading interest has started in the past fortnight 23 mills at Monessen, the remaining 10 at the Shenango works, New Castle, and 10 at the American works, Elwood, the latter constituting the first operations in the gas belt since mid-summer.

Car shortage is still more heard from and has impeded shipments of both crude steel and finished product. The whole situation in the iron trade is ideal except for the menace of unduly high prices for coke and pig iron.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The firmness in the drygoods market did not augment business materially today, but buyers operated for necessities to some distance ahead.

SUGAR SUFFERS DROP OF TEN POINTS MORE

Looked-For Reduction in Price Occurs—Demand for Apples Is Fairly Active.

The looked-for drop in sugar occurred yesterday, all grades suffering a reduction of ten points. There has been a drop of 89 points within two weeks. The raise in the price of flour has not occurred but it is still looked for.

The demand for apples is fairly active and the market is well sustained at the late prices. The proportion of really fancy fruit is small and commands full outside figures readily. Pears are in light supply and sell well when choice. Quinces are finding a very good sale but the small stock is dragging. Grapes are selling well and cranberries are in active demand.

Chestnuts are selling well when of good quality. Hickory nuts are steady and black walnuts are in light supply.

The market for Irish potatoes is quiet and prices are about the same. Sweet potatoes hold steady. Onions are in fair demand and steady for choice stock. Cabbage is in fair supply and a good demand.

The market is rather tame on creamery butter of most grades. A raise in price in fancy creamery is looked for by the first of the week.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania: 31 hay, 10 oats, 8 corn, 6 feed, 1 rye. Baltimore & Ohio: 12 hay, 2 oats, 1 corn. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie: 16 hay, 1 rye.

The arrival of oats in the local market is equal to the demand, and the market continues firm and active. All good grades of hay are easily disposed of and the receipts of straw continue light. Corn is scarce and there is no change in feed.

Market Must Advance to Inspire Drilling in the Deep Territory

There is very little in the developments of the lower southwest to attract attention. The new wells are nearly all small and none indicate the presence of new pools or extensions to the old developments. It is not at all likely that there will be much new work started in the deep sand districts. The average size of the late completions is small and the cost of drilling is very heavy. The two have a discouraging effect on operators and unless the market makes more advances there will be no revival in the deep territory this winter. The gas companies are active now and will continue development work. All of the larger companies that have been most active have had good success and promise an abundant supply to meet the demands this winter.

Near Dewan, on East run, Lincoln district, Marion county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has completed a test on the Thomas Morgan farm and has a good gasser in the Gordon.

In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, Carnahan & Smith have drilled their test on the B. W. Price farm through the stray and found no oil or gas and are now drilling to the Gordon. In the Fallen Timber run district the Parker & Edwards Oil Company's No. 5 on the D. B. Fisher farm is still holding up at 90 barrels a day. In the Folsom district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the Patrick tea farm through the stray and has developed a light gas pressure. It is now drilling to the Gordon.

North of Mannington, Marion county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 7 on the Sabina Sutton farm into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 800 feet with fluid. It may improve with a shot. On Indian creek, McElroy district, Tyler county, the Tri-State Gas Company has drilled its test on the R. & T. Wildman farm into the Gordon and has a good gasser. On Wooduurn run, same district, the same company is due in the sand at a depth of 2,000 feet on the James Hooley farm. In the Big Flint district, Doddridge county, the South Penn company has drilled No. 20 on the David Underwood farm into the Big Injun and has a show for a light pumper. In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 3 on the M. J. Snyder farm through the Berea grit and unless a shot helps will have a very light pumper.

On the Ohio side, in the Jackson Ridge district, Monroe county, the Unity Oil Company has completed No. 4 on the Sarah E. Wheeler farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Lime. The Traders Oil Company and others have drilled their No. 5 on the Henry Wittenbrook farm into the Maxville formation and have a 25-barrel producer. The pure Oil Company has completed a second test on the L. B. Christman farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Berea grit. In the Lewisville district A. A. Leidecker & Co. have drilled a test on the Frank Burkhart farm through all sands and have a duster.

In the Marietta district, Washington county, a number of dry holes have been encountered. The Clark Oil Company has drilled its test on the N. Hunter farm through the sand and has a duster. In the same locality Samuel Nelt has completed No. 5 on the Charles R. Rowland heirs' farm and has a duster. The Crescent Producing Company had the same kind of luck at its No. 5 on the A. M. Hill farm.

In the Macksburg field, Peter Stegner has completed No. 6 on the Elias Hendershot farm and has a very light pumper in the Germantown sand. In the Wolf Creek district the Pure Oil Producing Company has completed No. 11 on the I. A. Ormiston farm and has a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Plum Run district, Harrison county, the Chicago Perndale Oil Company has completed a test on the Elias Gatchell farm and will have a light pumper, 5 or 10 barrels a day. Near Joy, Morgan county, the Midland company has completed No. 31 on the J. H. Jones farm and has a show for a 4-barrel pumper in the shallow sand. In the Burgettstown district, Washington county, Pa., R. G. Gillespie has completed his No. 6 on the R. S. Lyle farm and has a show for an 8 or 10-barrel pumper.

PROFIT-TAKING CAUSES HEAVY BREAK IN WHEAT

Drops Two Cents, but Loss Is Partly Regained—Bears Have a Happy Time.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—General profit-taking today caused a break of nearly 2 cents a bushel in the price of wheat. Subsequently part of the loss was regained on covering by shorts. At the close the May delivery showed a net loss of 1¾@1⅞c. December is off ⅞@1c. Corn is down ⅝c. Oats show a loss of ½c. Provisions are unchanged to 10c higher.

The slump in the wheat market culminated near the middle of the session. Largely as a result of an advance in the price of wheat at Liverpool the market here showed firmness early. Initial quotations on May were up ¼@⅜c to 8⅝@⅞c. December was ⅛c to ⅜c higher at 88⅜c to 90c.

An English statistician cabled that the Russian situation was still extremely serious and other private cablegrams told practically the same story. Nevertheless many pit traders were bearishly inclined, and before the end of the first half hour they had started a selling movement which eventually developed into an avalanche that carried prices off nearly 2 cents from the highest point of the day. MURRAY GIVES THE GOOD WORD

B. & O. President Authorizes Statement on Local Station Work---Delano Goes West.

THE RESULT OF ENGINE TESTS

President Oscar G. Murray of the Baltimore and Ohio, has at last authorized the statement that the new passenger and freight terminals are under consideration for the immediate future. The statement is made officially that "extensive work is to be done at Pittsburgh, where a large station and an improvement in facilities in the handling of passengers and freight is to be constructed, involving a large expenditure of money." This bears out the statement of Chief Engineer D. D. Carothers made to a representative of The Gazette exclusively a few weeks ago that the terminal improvements would be made next year.

Mr. Murray has just returned to Baltimore after a most thorough inspection of the system west of Baltimore. He expressed himself as very well pleased with the conditions of the property. He started on the inspection trip more than three weeks ago and was accompanied all the time by Assistant Vice President George L. Potter, Chief Engineer Carothers and J. R. Dickson, chief engineer maintenance of way. Part of the time he was also accompanied by First Vice President George E. Randolph and General Manager Thomas Fitzgerald. While the various system and division officers accompanied the party over their respective portions of the road.

As was mentioned in this column at the time President Murray was here, the main object of the trip was to inspect the new terminals under construction or in contemplation at important freight points. The officers spent part of two days in Pittsburgh, and the official statement has now been authorized that the Pittsburgh work is to be taken up soon. This work is considered very important, as Pittsburgh is probably the greatest tonnage producing centers on the line.

At Wheeling the company has a $2,000,000 proposition under way, and the progress being made is satisfactory. This includes freight yards and station, a magnificent new passenger station and a general re-arrangement of tracks, with elevation, doing away with grade crossings, and thus making the movement of both passenger and freight trains more expeditious. The new double-track work on the Chicago division was inspected and progress found to be very satisfactory. It is the purpose to double track this entire division, which will then make a double-track line from Chicago to Philadelphia. Several days were spent in looking over the terminal situation at Chicago and then the party went to St. Louis. The return eastward was made over the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, including stops for inspection of terminals at Cincinnati and Parkersburg where considerable work is in contemplation.

Mr. Murray was especially pleased with the beautifying of the stations along the line with grass plots and flower beds; and the condition in which the ground is kept on either side of the tracks in carrying out his instructions to have the property, generally, present a prosperous and attractive appearance.

President Murray said he found business along the line prosperous and as much freight being offered as can be conveniently cared for at this time. The activity in the iron and steel industry is giving very large tonnage and there is every assurance of a very heavy movement of traffic during the winter season.

Cole Engine Is Working Well.

Considerable interest is being taken by the Pennsylvania motive power officers and the road engineemen in the operations of the eight new experimental locomotives that were recently placed into service. There are four types and one engine of each type is being tested on the lines east and west of Pittsburgh. No official report of the tests have been made, but data is being secured now to see the actual working of the engines in comparison with the celebrated E 2 type. It was learned yesterday that the Cole compound locomotive, which was built for the company at the Baldwin works, is giving excellent satisfaction on the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania. Engineemen who have been running the engine claim as great things for it—and probably greater when it has become "better acquainted"—as for the big Atlantics.

Two other compound engines, however, are not proving so successful in the operation of the trains in which they have been tested for single-heading. In double-header work they are doing well. One of these engines was tried out for its best work on train No. 24, but with all that could be gotten out of the locomotive the schedule could not be maintained. All of the engines resemble pretty closely the Atlantics that have been in use for a couple of years.

Delano Spends Busy Day Here.

President F. A. Delano of the Wabash system, spent a busy day here yesterday and left for Chicago last night. After an inspection of the progress being made on the terminal freight station and of the West Side Belt line, he was in conference with Vice President B. A. Worthington, Consulting Engineer Robert Blickensderfer, Chief Engineer H. T. Douglas, Jr., and General Freight Agent H. J. Booth. General Traffic Manager D. O. Ives also spent the day here, while Superintendent of Mails N. P. Ramsey and General Eastern Agent H. B. McClelland were also in the city. Aside from announcements of two appointments, no new changes of the Wabash locally were made public. The appointments were:

Archibald Mackwell, who has been real estate agent of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway, was appointed real estate, tax and claim agent of all of the Wabash lines east of the Ohio river at Mingo Junction. C. C. Needham, who has been claim agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, was appointed real estate, tax and claim agent of the lines west of the Ohio river to Toledo and Cleveland. Mr. Mackwell thus succeeds to the jurisdiction of the West Side Belt line, from which the officer in charge of these departments was released yesterday.

The resignation of three well-known local Wabash men also became effective yesterday. W. D. Holliday, retiring from the office of assistant general freight agent, E. B. McRoberts retiring as consulting engineer of the West Side Belt and E. N. Gay retiring from the office of assistant engineer and chief draughtsman. Mr. Gay has accepted service in the engineering department of another large system. Mr. Holliday will take the first vacation he has enjoyed in almost 20 years of continuous service in the traffic department of railroading.

Progress in Allegheny Shop Work.

Good progress is being made in the improvements of the Allegheny shop plant of the Pennsylvania Company. The brass foundry, a brick building equipped entirely with the most modern appliances, and a portion of the new roundhouse have been placed in service. The boiler plant is also about ready for service, while other work on the various new buildings is progressing as rapidly as possible, with the exception of a slight hindrance in structural material being slow in arriving. Work will soon be started on the new shop yard and the approach tracks, which are to be built on an incline from the depressed main line of the Ft. Wayne near Washington avenue. The new shop buildings are located on the site of the old ones.

Making Inspection of the Valley.

General Superintendent R. L. O'Donnell, Superintendent C. T. Dabney, Division Freight Agent George D. Ogden and other officers of the Buffalo & Allegheny division of the Pennsylvania, started from here on a close inspection of the road yesterday afternoon. Mr. O'Donnell had spent the forenoon here in conference with the other officers of the Pennsylvania. The inspection of the river and low grade divisions will occupy the attention of the officers until tomorrow, when the award of prizes for the best trackage will probably be made to the supervisors.

It was expected that an announcement would be made yesterday in regard to a successor to W. J. Peebles as freight agent at the Sixteenth street produce yards, but this was not done.

Railroad Notes.

Dr. Thomas Sage has been appointed surgeon for the Panhandle at Colliers.

S. V. Sproul has been appointed assistant road foreman of engines for the Pennsylvania company at Youngstown.

The jurisdiction of the several vice presidents of the Erie railroad has been extended over the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and Pere Marquette roads.

F. M. Graham, engineer maintenance of way of the Western division of the Ft. Wayne route, was here attending a meeting and conferring with local officers.

The Pennsylvania opened a city ticket office in Wilmington, Del., and placed J. H. McWilliams, former ticket seller in Philadelphia, in charge as city ticket agent.

In order not to have the Pennsylvania special delayed by a breakdown of an engine the railroad has located emergency engines at Conemaugh, Derry and Southwest Junction on the Pittsburgh division.

Henry Tatnall, fifth vice president of the Pennsylvania, was elected treasurer of the Northern Central to succeed the late A. W. Hendrix; Cashier F. P. Whitcraft was appointed assistant treasurer, H. D. Thompson was made cashier, A. J. County and Kane S. Green were elected secretaries and John C. Hine assistant to the secretary.

SUES ALDERMAN AND ATTORNEY

Sensational Conspiracy Charge Is Made Involving Several Prominent Men.

CLOTHIERS ARE IN TROUBLE

Samuel Kosanovitch, by Attorney W. M. Price, brought suit for conspiracy against Alderman P. B. Reilly, N. T. McElroy, John Buneta, James Lally, George B. Flaccus and Vujo Vajnovitch, in which he asks $5,000 damages. The plaintiff says that on August 5 he drew $493 from the Carson Building and Loan association and went to Illinois. He says that on October 7 Vajnovitch made an information against him before Reilly, charging him with the larceny of $500. Lally arrested him and brought him to Pittsburgh. After a hearing he was sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail. The plaintiff alleges that McElroy called at the jail to see him without having been engaged as attorney and told the jail officials to permit no one to see the plaintiff. On October 16 he was again taken before Reilly and in the presence of Peter M. Lippert, McElroy, Flaccus, Mrs. Kosanovitch, Lally, Reilly and Buneta, was asked to sign a paper which he was told was a settlement of the case and that he would be released and his money returned to him. He was taken to Central station, where he signed another paper, and then, he alleges, Lally handed McElroy $9 $29 bills. He says McElroy handed him $30 and kept the balance. At the time he was arrested he had $242. He alleges the suit was brought to defraud him of his money.

The defendants in the case say their affidavit of defense will show their side of the matter.

Before Judge Brown in criminal court H. Rabonovitz and H. Cutler, retail clothiers at Homestead, were tried on charges of receiving stolen goods. They were charged with purchasing clothing in wholesale quantities from Morris Berer and Benjamin Fran, young employes of H. Auerbach & Co., 620 Fifth avenue, who entered pleas of guilty on Monday to stealing a large amount of goods from their employes, and were sentenced to Huntingdon reformatory. The clothing stolen by Berer and Frank, it is alleged, was disposed of to Rabonovitz and Cutler.

A petition of involuntary bankruptcy was filed against Peter Nolan & Co., trading stamp distributers of Sixth street.

John C. Sullivan, a hotelkeeper of East Pittsburgh, filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy. His liabilities are $5,367 50, and assets $6,025.

A verdict of $550 was rendered the plaintiff in the suit of William Sutter against James Stewart, formerly an assistant chief engineer in the bureau of fire. This is the third trial of the case, which resulted from the buggy in which Stewart was riding colliding with Sutter, a street car conductor, who got off his car to throw a switch at the Castle Shannon incline as the chief was going to a fire.

Libels in divorce were: Hattie Clause vs. John Clause, alleging infidelity and naming Nellie McVay and others unknown to the libellant, as co-respondents; Lewelon E. Linderman vs. Nancy C. Linderman alleging desertion; Dora Draper vs. Orason Draper, alleging desertion, and Lillian M. Kim vs. Vincent J. Kim. Alleging cruel and barbarous treatment.

Suit to recover $1,500 for salary and $15,000 for damages was begun by G. B. Castigilone against J. A. Dubbs. The case grows out of an alleged contract to refine sulphur ore on properties in Lower California, Mexico and Texas.

RELIEF BY WATER ROUTE.

Congestion of Freight on Railroads Is Turning Attention to the Use of the Ohio River.

With a car shortage of large extent growing daily more serious, the attention of Pittsburgh shippers trying to reach southern points is being given to the advantages of shipment by water.

It is stated that the boats which leave the Pittsburgh harbor for points down the Ohio and Mississippi have a capacity of 5,000 tons a week. In ordinary times the shippers do not give a great deal of consideration to this fact in the movement of their freight, but at times when congestion is felt, as it is now, the boat lines prosper. It is claimed to be demonstrated by actual experience that the river freight on the average reaches its destination sooner than does railroad freight. The river shipments are partly all-water and partly water-and-rail, the boat lines delivering the goods to railroads at connecting points in the south where the lines are not as busy as here.
